NEW DEAL CROP CONTROL POLICY HIT BY FARMERS

G.O.P. Congressmen Hear Producers.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 15.—Agricultural authorities and plain Illinois farmers spoke today against the New Deal's campaign of scarcity thru crop control and its steady lowering of the tariff thru reciprocal trade agreements.

Leo E. Allen. [Tribune A. P. Wirephoto.]

These men, who for a decade have faced one of the worst farm situations in American history, testified before a subcommittee of the Republican special agricultural study committee.

The committee was named by Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. [Mass.], Republican leader in the house, to study the needs of agriculture preparatory to forming a Republican policy on the farm problem.

Eight Illinois congressmen, headed by Representative Leo E. Allen of Galena, listened to the witnesses. Also present was Representative Clifford R. Hope of Kansas, chairman of the general committee.

Prepare Campaign Program.

The subcommittee has held hearings at Denver and Salt Lake and next week will be at Des Moines, Ia., and Minneapolis. Their findings will be submitted to Republican leaders at the next session of congress. It is probable also that their findings will figure in the 1940 campaign.

Tho the leadership is Republican, the hearings themselves are nonpartisan. Members of both parties testified during the day and observed the warning that politics was not to enter into the discussions.

There were warnings by witnesses who know the market for soy beans, live stock, and dairy products. Among the scores at the hearing in the ballroom of the Abraham Lincoln hotel there were many dirt farmers.

Two of these, M. C. Brooks of Virginia, near Beardstown, and C. F. Kelly of Macomb, made two of the most moving appearances of the day. They spoke as to a small gathering of neighbors.

Yorking on Relief.

"There is something badly the matter with my country," said Brooks, who tills 286 acres. "Even tho we are farmers and work every day, we must admit that we are on relief.

"Something must be done about it if our democracy is to last. The urban people got together and protested. The result is the social security tax and the pay roll tax. Neither of these helps the farmer, but they both hit him in the form of higher costs of manufactured goods.

"These costs are passed on to him, but he can't pass them on to anybody. By 1950 our situation—if things go on like they are—will be much worse than it is now. We will be peasants, like those farmers of Mexico and Russia."

At First He Refused to Talk.

Kelly at first refused to be a witness. "I'm too hot under the collar," he declared. After repeated urgings he took the floor.

"I was tired of being on relief, so I got off," he said. "And I serve notice on you men right now that I am going to try to get back my AAA processing taxes.

"I killed 143 head of hogs under the AAA. I plowed up my corn. Then I took a trip south and found out that down there the government was telling the people to raise hogs—while I killed mine—and to plant corn—while I plowed mine up.

Willing to Coöperate.

"The farmer is willing to coöperate if he's given a chance. The thing you congressmen can do is to give us a free country and let every man run his own business without government interference!"

Kelly sat down amid thunderous handclapping, foot stamping, and whistling.

S. Fred Cummings of Mazon, near Morris, warned that imports of agricultural products and livestock swiftly are outstripping exports. The farmer of today is in the position of watching his markets disappear while the

Purse Stealing Slayer Slugs a Woman, 73

Mrs. Anna Graves, a motherly woman, 73 years old, lay in County hospital last night, critically injured. Police said she had been beaten and knocked brutally over a fence Tuesday night by the purse thief who later that evening ran down and killed another woman, Mrs. Ricka Thompson, 54.

Shakespeare avenue police are searching for the killer. Sergt. James Lynch, thru whose detective work Mrs. Graves was found in the hospital, said evidence indicates that the thief robbed four women Tuesday.

The surviving three victims supplied identical descriptions of the criminal. He is young [22 or 23], slight in build, and was wearing a tan jacket and a dark fedora.

Traces Killer's Movements.

Sergt. Lynch was able to trace the slayer's movements. He stole a car, a green 1936 sedan, from in front of 1217 South Pulaski road shortly before 6:30 p. m. Tuesday. At 6:30, at Jackson boulevard and Kilbourne avenue, he stole the purse of Miss Alice Raleigh, 30, of 4758 Harrison street.

At 7:05, on Lavergne avenue between Monroe and Adams streets, he drove up beside Mrs. Anna Delaney, 42, of 244 South Lavergne avenue. Leaping from the car, he seized her purse, got back in the car, and sped down an alley.

At 9 o'clock he came upon Mrs. Graves walking in Hamlin avenue just south of North avenue. She resisted. He struck her a blow which knocked her over a low iron fence. She suffered a broken hip and a concussion of the brain.

Kills Woman with Car.

At 9:30, at the elevated terminal in Lawndale avenue north of North avenue, the thief took Mrs. Thompson's purse. Again he tried to flee down an alley. It came to a dead end. He doubled back and drove his car over Mrs. Thompson and killed her. She had been standing in the entrance of the alley trying to stop him.

The stolen automobile was recovered later on the northwest side. In it was Mrs. Delaney's billfold. Some strands of Mrs. Thompson's hair and a few threads from her dress were on the bumper.

The other three purses—Miss Raleigh's, Mrs. Graves', and Mrs. Thompson's—were found where they had been thrown in an alley near Milwaukee and Foster avenues.

Receipt Clew to Identity.

Sergt. Lynch traced Mrs. Graves to the hospital thru a cobbler's receipt found in her purse. It bore the number K79926 and the name of a Cleveland, O., manufacturing company. Following a trail from the distributor to the jobber, Lynch came to the shop of Joseph Kozo, 3840 Grand avenue.

Kozo provided Lynch with Mrs. Graves' name and her address, 1221 North Monticello avenue. At the Monticello avenue address, a rooming house, Sergt. Lynch was told Mrs. Graves was in the hospital. He questioned her there.

AIRPLANE LANDS TWICE TO PERMIT TRIPLETS' BIRTH

MOSCOW, Dec. 15 (AP).—Dispatches from Irkutsk today described two forced landings of an airplane in the wilds of Siberia to permit a mother to give birth to triplets.

The woman lived in a lonely settlement where medical aid was not available, they said, and a civilian plane was summoned to take her to Irkutsk. After flying about 100 miles she urgently requested a landing. The pilot brought the plane down in a glade in the midst of a dense forest.

There the mother gave birth to two babies. The pilot and his navigator stripped off their shirts and underwear to clothe the infants, and then the flight was resumed. In a short while the mother demanded another landing, which was made near a small village. There the third baby was born.

The mother and triplets were reported thriving today, but the flyers were not doing so nicely. They had the jitters.

TAKE TROLLEYS DOWN; FORGET TO TELL MOTORMEN

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 15 [Special].—One by one the department of street railways has been supplanting Detroit's street cars with buses. Today the department discontinued one loop of the Grand Belt line and tore down the trolley wires—but forgot to tell the schedule makers and the car crews.

In the early morning hours three heavily loaded trolley cars ran out Michigan avenue, turned on Scotten, and vanished, so to speak. The lights went out, the cars rumbled to a halt, and the motormen groped in vain for the trolley wires. Dozens of disgruntled passengers had to accept transfers and walk to the nearest transfer line.

This Little Pig Uses His Head to Make News

Highwood will long remember the huffing and puffing and the squealing it heard yesterday. The huffs and puffs came from Chief of Police John De Smidt [242 pounds] and the squeals from a little pink pig [8 pounds] that De Smidt was chasing.

This little pig went to a raffle Wednesday night and was won by Lloyd Sheahen, 681 Central avenue, Highland Park. Yesterday morning Mr. Sheahen left his new pet in a pen. When he returned home the pen was bare. So he notified the police.

The Net Is Laid.

Highland Park broadcast the news by radio. Among the alert policemen who heard it was Chief De Smidt, who suspected that the fugitive might have entered his town. He went out in a car to search.

He came upon the piglet in Highwood avenue. Parking carefully, he approached the little brute.

"Nice piggie," he said.

"Wee-ee-ee," squealed the pig, and was off.

His tiny hoofs went click-click-click on the concrete. Chief De Smidt's shoes went ka-flap, ka-flap, ka-flap. Over lawn, down alley, up highway went the chase. Highwood avenue, Grove street, Central avenue, Oakridge avenue—all heard the squealing and the puffing.

The Trap Is Sprung.

Once the chief caught up. His hot breath was on the piggie's back. He leaned down and grabbed the tiny porker. It slipped right out of his hand.

"Cheater," gasped the chief. "You're greased!"

The chase went on. It was the pig's own fault that he was captured. Back of a house on Central avenue he ran into a fence post and knocked himself out. For awhile the chief rested; then he took the piggie to the station and called Mr. Sheahen, who hurried to him.

"Whoever let that pig out greased him," he said. "It was a joke on me."

Shaving Cream Soup Makes Him Foam at the Mouth

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 15 [Special].—Judge Harry B. Keidan agreed today with Ludvik Ribak that tomato soup made with shaving cream was grounds for divorce, particularly in view of the fact that the soup was served by Mrs. Julia Ribak to Ludvik on his birthday. Ludvik also complained that his wife posted on their garage a sign which read: "Garage for rent and man for sale."

URUGUAY TELLS SHIP TO GET OUT OR BE INTERNED

BULLETIN.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 16 (Saturday).—The government of Uruguay yesterday presented a strong protest to Great Britain and Germany against Wednesday's sea battle, part of which was fought within the mouth of the River Plate. The note to the German and British ministers also protested that the battle occurred within the 300 mile neutral zone established at the recent Panama conference. A copy of the protest was handed to all diplomatic representatives of the American republics.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 16 [Saturday] (AP).—Uruguay early today gave the German raider Admiral Graf Spee the choice of sailing tomorrow night to sea, where British warships are waiting to sink her, or accepting internment in this neutral port for the duration of the war.

The government handed its ultimatum—sail by 5 p. m. Sunday [2:30 p. m. Chicago time] or be interned—to the commander of the crippled pocket battleship of 10,000 tons shortly after midnight.

Notified of the Uruguayan decision, Otto Langmann, German minister to Uruguay, commented: "I shall communicate the action to my government. I have nothing more to say."

German Commander's Story.

In the first authoritative description of Wednesday's sea battle, the commander of the Admiral Graf Spee told port authorities his fuel shortage and the "herding" tactics of three British cruisers placed him almost literally "between the devil and the deep blue sea."

The officials said the German captain, Hans Langsdorff, a matter-of-fact sea warrior, told of sighting the British cruiser Exeter Wednesday about 6 a. m. off the coast of Brazil. With his fuel almost exhausted because he had been unable to make contact with the supply ship Tacoma, Langsdorff headed south.

Off the coast of Uruguay, he found himself in the presence of the British cruisers Achilles and Ajax, which maneuvered to keep the Admiral Graf Spee between them and the shore.

Opens Fire on British Ship.

Afraid of risking shallow water to starboard and without fuel to run to sea for a freer combat position, Langsdorff said he took his dilemma by the horns and opened fire on the Exeter.

In the lively exchange that followed he said the Exeter was damaged severely before the Ajax and Achilles could get their guns into action. It was the six inch cannon of these two smaller vessels, however, that really rocked the Admiral Graf Spee, Langsdorff related. He praised the British marksmanship, saying "enormous damage" was inflicted on his ship by powerful shells which exploded after piercing the Admiral Graf Spee's armor plate.

With his ship holed and many of the crew killed or wounded, Langsdorff said his attempts to maneuver were frustrated and he finally was forced to run for port.

Naval Board Inspects Ship.

Uruguay acted after an Uruguayan naval board had inspected the Admiral Graf Spee at her mooring in Montevideo harbor and recommended fixing of the deadline for the ship's departure.

Previously Great Britain had made two urgent demands upon the South American country to force the German warship to sail or to intern her.

The Admiral Graf Spee limped into Montevideo harbor at midnight last Wednesday after a 14-hour battle with three British cruisers, the Exeter, Achilles, and Ajax. The Exeter also was battered by shells, but the other two took up positions just outside territorial waters, waiting to resume the fight if the Admiral Graf Spee comes out.

Ships Wait Off Port.

It was indicated that another British cruiser, the Cumberland, 10,000 tons, had joined them, and the French battleship Dunkerque, 26,500 tons—one of five British and French warships said to be capable of dealing alone with the Admiral Graf Spee—

RED PRISONERS TELL OF HUNGER IN SOVIET ARMY

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 15.—Russian soldiers are eating only one meal per day, according to prisoners taken by the Finns whom I interviewed at staff headquarters behind the lines. They said their rations did not vary and consisted of porridge once a day and about 4 pounds of bread to be divided among five men. They complained that since they had been called into service in August they had not eaten meat.

The prisoners were captured when the Russians made an unsuccessful attempt to build a pontoon bridge across the Taipale river. They told how 60 men of their company had been forced to board a pontoon and ordered to cross the river. When the pontoon reached the opposite shore only seven of their number survived and some of these were wounded by hand grenade splinters.

Suffer Frozen Feet.

Their eyes were glazed and most of them had frozen feet. They told me that they were Leningrad workers. Three were stevedores earning 145 rubles [$29] per month. One was an assistant truck driver earning 240 rubles [$48] per month. Another worked in the Leningrad communal restaurant earning 600 rubles [$120] per month. The other two were factory workers earning between 200 and 300 rubles [$40 and $60] per month.

When these men mobilized, the soviet authorities promised that their dependents would receive half of their salaries during their term of service. They had received letters from home, however, stating that the government was paying their families only 10 rubles [$2] a month. The men themselves received no pay. This they blamed on the bad organization of the Red army, which, they declared, lacked trained officers.

All seven of the men were married and belonged to the 1925 group of reservists, being between 40 and 47 years of age.

Four Without Underwear.

The prisoners were a great contrast to the spick and span and well uniformed troops which the soviet newspapers picture parading in Leningrad, Moscow, and other Russian cities on revolutionary holidays. I asked them to open their clothing. Three had undershirts and four had no underclothing at all. They wore tight fitting tunics of cotton, over this another jacket of almost the same cotton material which was lightly padded with cotton bunting, and their only woolen garment was a thin khaki colored and unlined woolen overcoat.

Two of the party wore knee high felt boots, which are excellent protection during dry cold weather, but which get wet and freeze if the weather is damp. Both of these men were suffering from badly frozen feet. The others wore old leather boots whose soles were worn thin and whose seams were breaking. They also complained of frostbite.

I asked the prisoners if their uniforms were sufficient protection against the severe frost of the last few days. They replied that that depended on the weather. When I asked them to explain, one replied: "When it freezes, we freeze."

Tell of Secret Police Army.

When asked about the special GPU [secret police] army reported functioning with the Red army, the prisoners said, "Yes, they are stationed behind our lines."

"Are they participating in any actions?" I asked.

They looked at each other first and then a stevedore, Pavel, who said he had a wife and five children in Leningrad, muttered, "Yes, but they only go into action against us."

When I suggested that they might be exchanged for Finns captured by the Russians, these soldiers seemed terrorized. They said that if the Finns returned them to Russia they would be shot.

When asked why they were fighting Finland, they said they had been told that the Finnish frontier was only two miles from Leningrad and that they must protect their families against the Finns.

I saw other small groups of Russian prisoners who were similarly poorly clad and hungry. Almost all were suffering from frostbite. Many had thrown their guns away when walking against Finnish positions, holding up their arms in token of surrender.

SOVIET WARSHIP SUNK BY FINNISH COASTAL GUNS

BULLETIN.

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 16 (Saturday) (AP).—Dispatches from the northern Finnish fighting front early today said houses in Norway, near the border, were rocked by cannon fire as Russian troops drove southward from the Finnish town of Salmijarvi, in the nickel mining region near the Norwegian frontier. The Finns fell back in the face of a great soviet onslaught, the dispatches said. The Finns were blowing up bridges, destroying the ice on lakes, and preparing a stand farther south. Village after village was set aflame as the Finns withdrew.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 15 (AP).—The Finnish high command tonight announced that a Russian destroyer had been sunk by coastal batteries; that 20 soviet tanks had been captured and others destroyed, and that Russian troops had been defeated in 24 hours of fighting.

While Finnish forces were reporting these setbacks to the Russian invaders, Foreign Minister Vaino Tanner was putting the issue of continued war or peace negotiations squarely up to the soviet union government in a radio speech addressed to Premier and Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov of Russia.

Tanner said that the Finns are still willing to negotiate a peace but, if Moscow's aim is conquest of the whole country, then the Finns will fight to the end.

Finn Planes Bomb Russians.

A high command communique said coast defense batteries, during a battle in the outer Turku [Abo] archipelago, damaged a Russian destroyer of the Gordi type so badly that it sank later in full view of a Finnish military lookout.

The Finnish air force, the communique continued, made several reconnoitering flights and attacked enemy columns and detachments, setting fire to part of a Russian automobile column transporting fuel to the front.

Russian planes were said to have attacked the southwestern Finnish islands and the Petsamo region, the far northeast corner of Finland.

Report Reds Surrounded.

Suomussalmi, about 12 miles from the frontier and 225 miles north of Lake Ladoga, has been a scene of fierce fighting for several days. Now, the Finnish communique said, the Finns have cut the roads leading to the frontier and driven the Russians back near Kiantajarvi. Part of the defeated Russians were reported isolated and surrounded in this lake region a few miles north of Suomussalmi.

Russian attacks took place at many places on the Karelian isthmus, supported by tanks and prolonged artillery barrages, the communique continued.

"At Punnuojoki they launched repeated assaults, but were repulsed everywhere and many of their tanks were destroyed," the report said.

North of Lake Ladoga the Russians attacked under cover of artillery fire between Loimola and the lake, but were driven back, the communique said, adding that "we captured five tanks, as well as other material."

Capture 15 Other Tanks.

In addition, the Finns said they captured 15 more tanks in the Tolvajarvi district, some 45 miles north of Lake Ladoga.

Foreign Minister Tanner, in his declaration that the way still is open to peaceful negotiation, said any such dealings would have to be on the principle that small nations have the right of self-determination.

"Already the first 16 days have shown that the war will be fierce and demand many victims," he said. "Why shed blood so long as there are other possibilities unexamined?"

He commented on the fact that Russia rejected conciliatory moves by Sweden, the United States, and the league of nations, but added:

"However, the air is still open."

Tanner made a point of having seen, on a recent visit to Moscow, a quotation by Dictator Stalin on the wall of a public building. This quotation said:

"The soviet union does not covet a single inch of the territory of other states, but it will defend every inch of its own soil."

The Finnish foreign minister said "there is reason at this moment to save that slogan from sinking into oblivion."

The Finnish army today called to the colors all reservists capable of serving, ordering them to report tomorrow fully equipped.

Reds Report Advances.

MOSCOW, Dec. 16, Saturday (AP).—A communique from the headquarters of the Russian military area at Leningrad today announced that soviet troops had occupied the town of Salmijarvi, in the center of the nickel mining area of arctic Finland.

In central Finland the Red army reported an advance which it said carried its troops 86 miles from the frontier. This would place the invaders more than half way across Finland's narrow waistline.

To the south the Russians said they occupied Leppasilta, north of Lake Ladoga.

The communique said of the Karelian isthmus operations merely that "the soviet advance was developing successfully."

Russians Assail League.

The soviet press reported Russia's expulsion from the league of nations in dispatches from Geneva. The dispatches described the league as the tool of the British-French bloc.

The dispatches, which broke the soviet union's silence on the expulsion Thursday, were not given special prominence. Until they were published, only an almost inaudible broadcast from London had been heard here of the league's action.

The Geneva reports assailed the speeches of the Portuguese, French and British delegates and also that of "the notorious representative of the unknown 'Polish' government."

Both the British and French speeches, they said, "exceeded all known standards of cynicism and hypocrisy. They copiously shed crocodile tears about the alleged violation of the rights of Finland with the obvious purpose of prolonging the war in Finland. It shows the shameful evolution of the league."

FINNS CAN HOLD UNTIL SPRING, RED CROSS TOLD

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—A prediction that Finland's tiny army could hold out until spring against the overwhelming soviet forces came today to the American Red Cross, which immediately appropriated $250,000 for Finnish war relief.

Quoting Finnish military authorities, a cable report to the Red Cross added, "If adequate military help is forthcoming, defense can be continued for a long, long time."

The report was written by Wayne Chatfield-Taylor, a Chicagoan and former assistant secretary of the treasury who is now a member of the three-man Red Cross delegation in Europe. He flew to Helsingfors from Stockholm three days ago.

In response, Chairman Norman Davis appropriated $100,000 at once and announced that $150,000 more would be made available as needed. He said contributions of $20,390 had been received during the day, including $5,000 each from Bernard M. Baruch of New York and Warren Wright of Chicago.

Count Again Refused Sum from His Millionaire Son

New York, Dec. 15 (AP).—Count Ludwig Constantin Salm of Paris received another setback today in his efforts to collect $30,000 a year from the income of his millionaire son, Peter, 15 years old. The appellate division of the Supreme court, by a 4 to 1 vote, denied his appeal from Justice William T. Collins' decision rejecting the count's application for the money. The count was the first husband of Millicent Rogers, daughter of the late Col. H. H. Rogers, wealthy oil man, and mother of Peter.

Finns' and Reds' Claims Conflict

Principal developments of yesterday in the Russian-Finnish war, as announced by both sides, are shown on the map. Diagonal shading covers Finnish territory which the soviet army asserts it has occupied. Some of the towns and villages mentioned in the news do not appear because they are not shown on available maps.

FRENCH PREPARE TO SUPPLY FINNS WITH WAR NEEDS

PARIS, Dec. 15 (AP). — France already has started negotiations with Finland to help her with arms and munitions under the league of nations resolution condemning Russia as an aggressor, it was disclosed today.

A note from Finland asked the French government to facilitate the purchase of war material in France.

Sources close to the foreign ministry expressed belief that France would do everything possible to make arms and munitions available to Finland except in specific cases where it would interfere with France's war with Germany.

Archbishop of Finland Thanks American Churches

The Chicago Church federation yesterday received a message of gratitude for the sympathy extended to the Finns by churches of America. It was sent by the Rt. Rev. Erkki Kaila, archbishop of Finland. The message was received by the Finnish consulate and will be read tomorrow in Protestant churches of the city as a part of the nation-wide observance of Finland day.

CHICAGO COMMITTEE OPENS $100,000 DRIVE FOR FINNISH RELIEF

Philip R. Clarke, chairman of the Chicago committee of the Finnish relief fund, announced yesterday that the organization had opened headquarters at 200 South LaSalle street and started to campaign for its quota of $100,000.

Clarke, who is president of the City National bank and Trust company, was asked by Herbert Hoover, national chairman of the Finnish relief fund, to assist with the work here. The money raised will be used for relief work in Finland. Lester Armour is vice chairman of the Chicago committee.

Contributions already received are $1,000 from Lester J. Norris, $500 each from Sewell L. Avery and Gen. Charles G. Dawes, and $250 from Clarke.

BRITISH FLYERS CARRY FIGHT IN WIDER AIR WAR

Attack Ships and Bases in Mass Formations.

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—Great Britain's fast expanding air force was disclosed tonight to have flown to the attack in mass offensives against Germany's boasted air superiority, launching a big scale war in the air.

With the cold and cloud blown North sea as the battleground, the British pressed repeated waves of fast long range planes, capable of both bombing and fighting, against the air and sea escort of a crippled German cruiser, and against German seaplane bases at Borkum, Sylt, and Norderney.

These continuing offensive patrols were Britain's answers to persistent German air raids and mine laying forays on British naval anchorages and sea lanes.

Raise Estimate of Losses.

Tonight an authoritative account of the great air-sea battle yesterday afternoon raised the estimate of German planes shot down from four to five and included these notes from the diary of the British formation leader:

"It was a running fight along the German islands. The German planes burned for some time after hitting the water. They looked like enormous beacons. They not only lit up the water, but also illuminated the sky and added to the impressiveness of the fight."

The British admitted the loss of three planes.

[The Germans contend that 10 of 20 new British bombers were destroyed and that one German plane was forced down.]

Twenty German Planes in Fight.

The battle, which occurred near the scene of the great world war battle of Jutland, was started by a British attempt to finish off a German cruiser already damaged by a British torpedo. British flyers said 20 German Messerschmidt planes participated.

Six waves of British planes were reported to have joined in the attack on the crippled cruiser and her convoy of destroyers, planes, and a submarine.

Last night and early today other British squadrons were reported by the air ministry to have bombed German seaplanes at Sylt, German island base off southwest Denmark, and to have attacked the islands of Borkum and Norderney, German bases off the northeast Netherlands coast.

Say All Planes Safe.

The air ministry said all British planes returned safely from the raids on the island seaplane bases, despite sharp antiaircraft fire.

[A German announcement said one British plane was chased away from Borkum and two others dropped bombs in the sea near Sylt.]

Authoritative sources disclosed the attacks of the last few days have been carried out by British planes working in echelons. Their size was a secret, but presumably they involved the largest total air strength yet used.

Another British trawler, the James Ludford, meanwhile was sunk by a mine, with 17 believed dead. The British tanker Athelempiar, 8,939 tons, was badly damaged by enemy action off the east coast, but her crew was rescued.

The mining and burning of the 8,900 ton British tanker Inverlane was disclosed when seven survivors of her crew landed on the northeast coast of England. It was believed others aboard were lost.

Fourteen of the 15 members of the crew of the 1,103-ton Belgian steamer Rosa landed in Britain and said their ship sank after an explosion off the northern British coast.

Swedish Ship Blown Up.

ROTTERDAM, Dec. 16, Saturday (AP).—Sinking of the 1,499 ton Swedish vessel Ursus was disclosed today when 11 survivors of her crew of 20 reached this port aboard the Netherlands steamer Brinda. The Ursus went down yesterday after an explosion off the English coast, but it was not known whether she had been torpedoed or had struck a mine. Reports were received here also that the Netherlands liner Pennland had picked up the crew of the 5,217 ton Greek steamer Germaine, said to have been sunk in the Atlantic.

Capture German Freighter.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 15 (AP).—Chilean authorities announced late today that the German freighter Düsseldorf had been captured by the British cruiser Despatch.

Commander Arturo Young, chief of the naval coastal service at Valparaiso, said he had received reports from Chilean naval stations that H. M. S. Despatch was escorting the Düsseldorf northward as a war prize.

Germans Scuttle Ship.

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, Dec. 15 (AP).—The 2,989 ton German freighter Adolf Leonhardt was scuttled when intercepted by a British warship, it was announced today.

Norwegian Steamer Lost.

OSLO, Norway, Dec. 15 (AP).—The Norwegian steamer Foejna, a 2,000 ton vessel en route to Scotland, today was reported lost with 18 men. One of her lifeboats was found adrift with two frozen bodies in it.

Sinks After Collision.

LISBON, Portugal, Dec. 15 (AP).—Sinking of the British freighter Harfry, 909 tons, off Dunkerque, France, after a collision with the Portuguese freighter Luso, 6,207 tons, was reported today on the arrival of the Luso here. The Harfry's crew was saved. The Luso was damaged.

Attack German Bases

British planes, taking the offensive in the war against Germany, have attacked seaplane bases at Norderney, Sylt, and Borkum within the last two days. Six waves of planes attacked a torpedoed cruiser and its convoy in area indicated by oval dot near the location of the world war battle of Jutland.

INVADED FINLAND MAKES PAYMENT ON ITS WAR DEBT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—While the major world powers among the United States' war debtors tendered only polite regrets, little war torn Finland punctually delivered to the treasury today her $234,693 semi-annual payment with this message:

"No emergency can be so deep as to make Finland disregard an obligation incurred in good faith." Hjalmar Procope, the Finnish minister, spoke these words as he handed Secretary Morgenthau a green check that kept unbroken the Baltic republic's record of having met every instalment on her debt.

"This money we got 21 years ago to help us thru a difficult time," he said. "Now, we make this payment in time of distress, trial, and aggression. We trust in the support of the believers in freedom and democracy in this country and all over the world."

Secretary Morgenthau took the check with one hand, gripped the envoy's with the other, and, emphasizing every word, replied:

"I should like to congratulate your country, which, during dark days as well as fair, has never failed to honor its obligations."

BRITISH PREMIER FLIES TO FRANCE TO VISIT TROOPS

Better to Be Bored than Bombed, He Says.

BY JOHN O'DONNELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES IN FRANCE, Dec. 15.—Thru scowling skies, and protected by British planes, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain flew from London to the British battle line in France today.

The purpose of his journey was to receive first hand inpressions of what "war in our time" really means.

Today's venture was the fourth air flight that the 72 year old chief of Britain's Conservative party has made since his maiden flight to Munich, Germany, last September.

Leaves Umbrella Home.

Today Chamberlain arrived here with a quip on his tongue and without an umbrella.

"I'd rather be bored than bombed," he said. "I'm just over here to find out what is happening."

Chamberlain's twin motored and camouflaged monoplane made the trip from England in little more than an hour.

Paris to Resume Gayety.

PARIS, Dec. 15 (AP).—The lid will be lifted for traditional Parisian gayety during Christmas and New Year's.

The prefecture of police announced today the 7 p. m. curfew would be rescinded on Christmas eve and night, and New Year's eve, permitting Paris to celebrate until 2 a. m.

Communiques from the western front today said only, "Nothing important to report," and "A few encounters between advance units in the region immediately to the west of the Vosges mountains."

Germany Closes Borders.

BERLIN, Dec. 15 (AP).—Germany tonight announced the closing of the Netherlands, Danish, Belgian, Swiss, and Luxemburg borders between 8 p. m. and 7 a. m. daily, beginning Dec. 18.

The closings were described as an effort to prevent "such elements as smugglers and foreign espionage agents from trying to cross illegally." Trains will not be affected.

Nazis Seize Estonian Ship Carrying Polish Officers

BERLIN, Dec. 15 (AP).—Der Angriff, newspaper of Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, today reported that the Estonian steamer Estonia, en route from Tallinn to Stockholm, had been brought into Memel by a German warship. The Estonia carried 110 Poles, among them many high officers, who had been interned in Estonia, Der Angriff said.

TWO BANDITS ROB FOOD STORE.
Two bandits last night held up Arthur McHood, manager, in the food store at 5537 South Racine avenue, and robbed him of $30.

She'll Ask Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
Mrs. Orson Welles, formerly Miss Virginia Nicolson of Chicago.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 15 (AP).—Mrs. Orson Welles will ask a Reno divorce from the young dramatist and movie actor, his agent said today.

The agent asserted Mrs. Welles, the former socially prominent Virginia Nicolson of Chicago, would leave by train for Reno tonight and file suit Monday against the 24 year old playwright.

They married Christmas eve, 1934, and have a year and a half old daughter, Christopher, whose custody Mrs. Welles will ask.

A property settlement has been reached out of court.

"Mrs. Orson Welles and I do not feel that there is anything particularly new in this. We have been separated a year," said Welles thru his agent.

GERMANS CLAIM AIR SUPREMACY OVER NORTH SEA

Boast as the Public Asks About Fish.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 15.—German officials said today that the daily air battles above the North sea and the islands strewn along the German coast "merely represent British efforts to wrest mastery of the air from Germany, which took it from England in battles during the last three months."

A whole series of conflicting reports about yesterday's air battle above German islands in the North sea appeared in newspapers today. Germans loudly asserted that all accounts indicated a German victory. Officials said the discrepancies in the reports and the steady rise of alleged British losses from 8 of 12 bombers to 10 of 20 were "due to the fact that different airplane squadrons which took to the air to repel the British attack did not report simultaneously."

[The British admitted the loss of three planes and said five German craft were shot down.]

New Battle Reported.

Allied Danish and Dutch circles assert that a new air battle was under way today in the same North sea area, officials in Berlin declared nothing was known about it at 7 p. m.

Germany proclaims "England no longer rules the waves or the air of the North sea." Despite this claim, there is a prosaic fact which somehow dims the average man's optimism over such alleged mastery.

The population asks: "Why, if Germany rules the waves, is it almost impossible to get fish? Our men know where the mine fields are; we have a big fleet of fishing vessels; the newsreels show us German fishermen going out to sea to enlarge the food supply, but where are the fish?"

Enough for One Meal.

About every three weeks every German family gets enough fish for one meal. Many Berliners did not get fresh fish the last time. They received "rolmops," which are half herrings rolled around pickles. That was the fish ration for three weeks.

BRITISH EXPECT WAR TO GROW IN SPEED, FEROCITY

Talk of Air Raids Against London Heard Again.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Europe's war is going to get "hot." This is the belief of the British public today after reading and hearing stirring accounts of the naval battle between the German pocket battleship raider, the Admiral Graf Spee, and English cruisers off the Uruguayan coast.

Air attacks against England and the bombing of London again are subjects of speculation after Air Minister Sir Kingsley Wood's declaration this week that one phase of the air warfare had been closed and that a new chapter was likely to begin. The public is puzzled, however, over what form the new chapter of air warfare predicted by Sir Kingsley may take.

[The air minister told the house of commons that England was ready to withstand mass air attacks by the Germans.]

Bombing of London Seen.

Increasing air activity over the North sea is indicated in recent official reports. Some persons believe that the Germans will open up with a heavy bombardment of London before long. During the Munich crisis reports were spread here that German Air Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering had 1,500 planes earmarked for smashing London.

Others believe the Germans will not waste planes on London now that the antiaircraft artillery defense has shown itself effective. They think the attacks are more likely to be made against the midland towns, with munitions plants as the objective.

Still others believe the Germans will make mass attacks against shipping docked in British ports.

Concentrate on Estuary.

The Germans have announced within the last few days that they have had observation planes over London. This has been denied officially here. The power of defense from air attacks is growing stronger, Capt. Liddel Hart, noted writer on military subjects, said this week.

The air attack possibilities also may have been lessened by the fact that official reports show that the Germans have been concentrating recently on the Thames river estuary with another weapon, the magnetic mine. Presumably if the port of London is well mined it would not be necessary to bomb it.

How well mined it is, however, is a question. The British claimed this week they had found the solution to the magnetic mine menace. They said, however, it had not yet been applied on a large scale.

30,000 Men in Service.

The latest use of the balloon barrage, which is rated an important factor in London's defense against air raids, has been to combat the sowing of mines from the air. More than 30,000 men now are engaged in balloon barrage work.

At the same time the air force patrols are being employed increasingly to guard against mine laying planes. The strategy presumably is to detect German planes leaving their bases with loads of mines and to attack them before they get far in the direction of England.

Air patrols now operating over Heligoland bay, just off the coast of Germany, are responsible for preventing the minelaying planes from leaving their bases, it is claimed here.

Some experts seem to doubt whether planes or submarines are laying the most mines. The air ministry seems to think planes are doing it. The admiralty credits submarines. The theory also is advanced that the minelaying plane with its picturesque parachute technique may be a decoy.

Dutch Economic Mission Leaves for Berlin Parley

CIANO WILL EXPLAIN POLICY OF ITALY ON NAZIS AND REDS TODAY

ROME, Dec. 15.—Italy's foreign policy, and particularly its hostile attitude toward Russia and its friendliness toward Germany, will be described by Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano tomorrow before the chamber of fasces and corporations.

It is expected that his speech will be an exhaustive explanation of the recent brief grand council's communique. The minister will develop, it is thought, what was said in reaffirmation of the Rome-Berlin axis and perhaps partly lift the veil that has hidden what happened in his conversations with Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, and Fuehrer Hitler.

Italy's position in the Balkans is another topic which Ciano is expected to clarify.

BRITISH SEEKING TO BUY LAID-UP AMERICAN SHIPS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—A British mission, it was reported in official quarters today, is negotiating for the purchase of some of the American merchant ships laid up as a result of this country's neutrality law.

Officials here had no information on how many ships the British might purchase, and suggested that this probably would depend on the length of the war and future losses at sea. They said they understood, however, that the British were interested chiefly in vessels of about 7,500 tons.

About 90 vessels were affected by the ban on American ships entering war zones.

RUMANIA TO SIGN NEW TRADE PACT WITH GERMANY

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 15 (AP).—A new German-Rumanian trade agreement providing for increased oil shipments to Germany will be signed here tomorrow. Terms of the pact were closely guarded, but it was learned Rumania would supply Germany about 1,240,000 tons of petroleum annually.

Under this arrangement Germany would get 300 carloads of oil a day, but the question of transportation remained unanswered since Rumania is experiencing a freight car shortage.

The German mark also is to be given an 11 per cent higher valuation in clearing arrangements between the two nations. The value of the mark was raised from 40½ lei to 46 [about 46 cents].

HINT RED envoy BOLTED ROME BECAUSE OF SNUB

ROME, Dec. 15 (AP).—Diplomatic circles heard today that the new Russian ambassador to Italy, Nicolai Gorelchin, returned to Moscow after only 15 days in Rome because the Italian government rejected conditions which he sought to impose for presentation of his credentials.

Well informed sources said the envoy considered he had been snubbed and probably would not return to Rome. They failed to specify the conditions he proposed.

Nation Fixes Tomorrow as Deadline.

was reported en route to join the cordon.

The action of the naval board was announced a few hours before midnight. Foreign Minister Alberto Guani of Uruguay previously had asserted that Germany would be permitted to make the Admiral Graf Spee seaworthy.

After its first inspection of the German warship, the naval board was instructed to look over the pocket battleship again and define how long she might be permitted to remain in port to be made "seaworthy" without simultaneously being made "combat worthy." This definition was made necessary by the British demand that the ship either

It was believed that the board's recommendation was based on the reasoning previously argued by British officials. This was that the Admiral Graf Spee was perfectly seaworthy and now could stay only to repair damage to her fighting equipment—and if she did that she would compromise the strict neutrality of Uruguay.

British Cruiser Overdue.

Before the government presented its ultimatum to the German raider, Guani announced he was consulting with the foreign ministers of other American republics on a joint declaration to warn belligerent warships to do their fighting outside the 300 mile Pan-American "safety belt."

Meanwhile the crippled British cruiser Exeter, last reported heading toward a hastily prepared haven at the Bahia Blanca base of the Argentine navy, was mysteriously overdue Argentine naval officials said they had received no word of her whereabouts.

The Exeter had been expected to unload her wounded and go into dry dock at the base. The Argentine naval ministry posted a fast cruiser outside the Bahia Blanca harbor and sent a plane 120 miles to sea to escort her. plane 120 miles out to sea to escort her.

However, it was possible the Exeter was attempting to reach the British base at the Falkland Islands in the south Atlantic, where originally it was assumed she would go.

Britain's demand to eject or intern the Admiral Graf Spee came as a formal note transmitted by the British minister to Uruguay, Eugene Millington Drake, to the Uruguayan foreign office.

A spokesman at the British legation disclosed that the British government had handed a first demand to Guani on Thursday. This note was described as a blunt demand that the Admiral Graf Spee be interned.

Informed persons said the second British note included a protest that the German warship had been permitted to remain in Montevideo harbor for more than 24 hours without internment, and that she was permitted to take aboard supplies and equipment with which to repair her damage.

Confers with Argentina.

Guani, who since the beginning of the European war has made intensive efforts to keep Uruguay strictly neutral, conferred by telephone with Foreign Minister José Maria Cantilo of Argentina on the problem of the Admiral Graf Spee. This problem strongly affects Uruguay's big neighbor as well as herself, since both nations share jurisdiction over the waters of the River Plate, refuge of the crippled battleship.

While Britain was increasing her diplomatic pressure to make the Admiral Graf Spee fight or tie up for the duration of the war, prospects increased that the sea raider would try to run the gantlet of British and French sea power on guard outside Montevideo harbor.

"National prestige will not permit her internment," said German business leaders here. "She'll have to make a try for it."

The battleship's crew yesterday went busily about the work of filling her fuel tanks with oil and repairing the rents in her steel armor.

While the Admiral Graf Spee was being readied for sea, 330 of her officers and men—a third of her crew—went ashore to bury the 36 men who died aboard her during the battle.

Lower Flag to Half Mast.

The warship's flag was lowered to half mast while the German seamen took ashore the bodies of the victims. A battalion of sailors was assigned as an honor guard by Uruguay.

Swastika flags were draped over the pine caskets of the fallen and they were carried ashore thru a line of German civilians who gave the Nazi salute. A dozen hearses carried the caskets to a cemetery in the suburbs.

There the officers and crew members of the Admiral Graf Spee formed a hollow square about the line of graves. A single platoon fired a blank volley.

About the graves were two truck loads of flowers. Among them were offerings of Adolf Hitler and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

In London the admiralty disclosed the Achilles had four crewmen killed in the fight with the German pocket battleship and three wounded. No other casualties were announced.

STUDIES JAPAN'S CURBS ON YANKEE BUSINESS IN CHINA

U. S. Ambassador Visits Trade Leaders.

TIENTSIN, China, Dec. 15 (AP).—Effects of the Japanese army's restrictions on American business in North China were under review here today following arrival of United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson from Peking.

Johnson, who conferred with officials of the American consulate-general and American Chamber of Commerce, said only that he "came to consult Americans about local conditions."

Those conditions recently were the subject of vigorous representations to the state department in Washington by the local American community, which charged their business is being strangled by the Japanese army, especially by its six month blockade of foreign concessions here.

Further Curbs Feared.

American business men are more pessimistic because Lieut. Gen. Masaharu Homma, commander of Japanese troops at Tientsin, has said Japanese-American relations, already "precarious," would reach an even more serious point Jan. 26, when the American-Japanese trade treaty expires. They feel the Japanese military will continue restricting American business here unless the United States takes countermeasures.

American Mission Bombed.

PEKING, China, Dec. 15 (AP).—The American Hebron mission at Kunshan, Kwangtung province, advised the United States embassy today that a Japanese plane had dropped four bombs on mission property, damaging a building. There were no casualties.

Jap Destroyer Reported Sunk.

SHANGHAI, China, Dec. 16, Saturday (AP).—Chinese nationalist newspapers today reported Chinese artillery sank a Japanese destroyer on the Yangtze river near Kiukiang, about 120 miles southwest of Hankow, last Tuesday with the loss of 100 officers and men.

Chinese Forces Attack.

HONGKONG, Dec. 15 (AP).—Chinese today reported their forces had made simultaneous attacks at scattered points from the south coast as far north as the Yellow river.

Chinese said attacks on the vital Kwangsi province front prevented Japanese from consolidating their hold on Nanning, potentially a base for Japanese operations in the deep south.

In Hunan province the Chinese reported capture of points on the south bank of the Yangtze river and between the Yangtze and Yellow rivers.

British Ambassador Will Visit Chicago for Speech

The English-Speaking union is planning a tea for Lord Lothian, British ambassador to America, on Jan. 4 at the Casino. That night Lord Lothian will be the guest at a dinner meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House. Lord Lothian will speak on the international situation.

U. S. MORAL EMBARGO EXTENDED TO INCLUDE ALL PLANE MATERIAL

Washington, D. C., Dec 15 (AP).—Broadening its "moral embargo" against the shipment of airplanes to countries which bomb civilian populations, the state department called on Americans today to refrain from shipping any materials essential to the manufacturing of planes. The countries against which the embargo is openly in effect are Russia and Japan.

The state department specifically included molybdenum [an essential ingredient for hard steel] and aluminum in its ban. This country had almost a monopoly on molybdenum. Russian imports of this material from the United States have leaped enormously since the European war started, and reports are current here that some of it is being reexported to Germany.

The state department announced it had sent letters to all manufacturers registered as exporters of war materials, and also letters to all producers of molybdenum and alumnium, calling attention to the moral embargo.

REPUBLICS BEGIN PARLEYS ON SEA BATTLE PROTEST

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Concerned because sea warfare has been carried into the western hemisphere's "neutrality belt," American republics have begun consulting to determine what to do about the recent naval action off Uruguay.

This was indicated today by Secretary of State Hull, who said the Uruguayan government would send a complete report of the facts to the president of Panama. The latter has been named spokesman for the American republics on joint neutrality questions. However, Uruguay already has protested to both Great Britain and Germany on the battle.

Secretary Hull was emphatic in stating that this government would undertake to meet the other American republics half way in any joint decision they are inclined to make.

In announcing that Uruguay would send all the facts to the president of Panama, he added that naturally this, on its face, would indicate an occasion for collaboration and conference and concern on the part of the American republics.

PROBE RED RIOT IN JUGO-SLAVIA; 2 DIE OF WOUNDS

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Dec. 15 (AP).—The death of two men today from wounds inflicted in a fight between police and student communist demonstrators caused the Jugo-Slav government to start investigating what was behind the communist agitation.

Among 30 persons wounded in last night's clash were 11 policemen, 1 police commandant, a woman passerby, and a number of students, some of them girls. Sixty-seven demonstrators were arrested and given 30 day jail sentences.

The fight began when students threw stones at police, who said they used pistols and swords in self-defense after shots were fired by the students. One Serbian student and a workman died of bullet wounds. The students were demanding peace and friendship with Russia.

DEFENSE SURVEY UNCOVERS WEAK POINTS OF ARMY

Modern Weapons, Mass Training Needed.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—Immediate action at the next session of congress for strengthening the nation's antiaircraft defenses and modernizing its armaments will be urged by members of the senate and house military affairs and appropriations committees.

A group of senators and representatives, who are members of the four key committees, is completing a 15,000 mile survey of defenses from the Panama Canal Zone to Maine. On Monday they will begin shaping the army's budget for the next fiscal year.

American Equipment Antiquated.

In the inspection tour the members of the group were impressed by the inadequacy of the nation's antiaircraft defenses. They found the air force and the air expansion program adequate, but found the nation is not prepared to ward off an enemy from the air should he gain superiority over the American air forces.

The members of the committees also found that American equipment, particularly light field pieces, need modernization. They found that the American artillery is far behind European weapons in range and mobility.

For months a furious debate has been going on within the army on the same score. An ever increasing number of officers is regarding the 75 mm. field piece as obsolete and urging adoption of the 105 mm. gun. The same officers hold the 3 inch antiaircraft gun should be augmented by a heavier weapon.

Agree on Observations.

It was learned that members of the inspection group are agreed upon the following observations:

FIRST—The development and manufacture of all kinds of army planes is progressing at a rapid rate and the program seems to be satisfactory.

SECOND—The defense against air attack is being neglected.

THIRD—The development of infantry, field artillery, cavalry, coast artillery, and signal corps units is lagging behind in aviation units.

FOURTH—Small, rundown, neglected, and out of the way army posts should be abandoned and the army personnel should be concentrated in larger numbers where all arms of the army can be trained in large units.

Concentration of Training.

FIFTH—The approved army posts and air training centers should have ample land on which to train. This recommendation, if adopted, will make necessary a land acquisition program; and the group seems to think this program should be carried out at once while the land may be secured at reasonable prices. Should this program be approved, major army activities will be centered at points strategically located with regard to population and climate.

SIXTH—The government should give more active support to large municipal airfields. These should be developed by the municipalities, but aided and assisted by the government in order to provide additional facilities for our army and navy air units.

SEVENTH—The large amount of theoretical training necessary in the service schools the group has visited will be materially reduced by the large scale concentrations and maneuvers now planned.

Plan Specific Recommendations.

On the basis of these observations the members of the group plan to make the following recommendations to their committees:

1. That the approved airports be expanded or new airports secured so as to accommodate the large planes now being manufactured.

2. That large tracts of land be secured for the training of large groups of soldiers, including army corps with all of the related troops.

3. That the production of semi-automatic rifles be speeded up so that the infantry and cavalry may be provided with the best gun possible to produce.

4. That our light artillery field weapons be modernized to provide for greater range and more mobility.

5. That special and immediate attention should be given to defensive measures against possible enemy air attack.

The inspection group is headed by Senator Elmer Thomas [D., Okla.], chairman of the senate subcommittee on war department appropriations.

MEXICAN PRESS HITS U. S. WARSHIP'S ACTION ON NEUTRALITY GUARD

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Dec. 15 (AP).—A meeting on the high seas between a United States destroyer and a Mexican tanker was widely published today in the Mexican press. One newspaper gave it more space and prominence than the German-British naval battle of Uruguay under the large red headline, "Yankee Intervention in Mexico." The government, however, regarded the incident as the proper act of an American warship on neutrality patrol. It said the destroyer merely had signalled the tanker Pelicano to identify herself outside Mexican territorial waters and immediately permitted her to proceed.

LIQUOR DEALER BATTLES BANDIT TRIO; CAPTURES 1

Harry Rosenberg, a south side liquor store owner, single handed battled three strongarm bandits early today in the vestibule of his home at 6443 Sangamon street, and captured one after routing the two others.

His prisoner, Edwin Meyer, 18 years old, 6213 Green street, named his companions as William Riebel, 23, of 6923 South Ashland avenue, on parole from Pontiac prison, and William Bailey, 19, of 6127 South Racine avenue.

Lieut. Bart Moran and a squad from the Englewood station seized Riebel and Bailey. Rosenberg, who was robbed of $35 during the holdup, identified them. Police said that Riebel admitted a recent stoplight robbery of a motorist, and said Bailey was his accomplice. Bailey denied the accusation.

BANDITS LEAP ON TRUCK; TAKE $42.

Two bandits leaped into Samuel Angelo's truck yesterday at Augusta boulevard and Ashland avenue. They forced Angelo, who lives at 1929 Evergreen avenue, to drive them almost to Joliet. Then they robbed him of $42 and left the truck.

REVEAL NLRB AID TO MINORITY CIO UNION IN STRIKE

Board Member's Favors Told at Inquiry.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15. — The house committee investigating the National Labor Relations board received evidence today showing that the board encouraged a C. I. O. union to file charges against the largest hosiery manufacturers in the world at a time when the union did not claim a majority of the employés and said there was no basis for an unfair labor complaint.

Edwin S. Smith. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

At the same time, the files of the labor board disclosed, Edwin S. Smith, a member of the board, suggested that Filene's large department store in Boston participate in a boycott against the hosiery company by refusing to handle its products.

This activity on Smith's part, it transpired later, violated a rule which the board itself had adopted forbidding its regional directors from engaging in boycott activities.

Also Sits in Judgment.

Despite his interest and activity in the hosiery company case long before the union was induced to file a complaint, Smith participated in the final decision holding the company guilty on all charges.

The company involved was the Berkshire Knitting mills of Reading, Pa., and the union was the American Federation of Hosiery Workers. During a strike called by the union in the fall of 1936, Smith and other officials of the board engaged in frequent correspondence with Maj. Stanley W. Root, NLRB regional director at Philadelphia.

In a memorandum to Smith on Oct. 22, 1936, Root reported that very few of the Berkshire employés were on strike, and the Hosiery Workers' union did not claim to have a majority of the workers signed up. The following Dec. 10 Benedict Wolf, then secretary of the labor board, wrote to Root saying the board wished to learn whether there was any possible basis for a charge of unfair labor practices at the Berkshire mills.

Union's Doubts Revealed.

On Dec. 31 Root replied that he had consulted union officials and they did not believe there were any unfair practices involved on which to base a charge of labor act violation.

After further conferences between board officials and union representatives, charges were filed against the company early in 1937.

Further correspondence from the board's files revealed that officials of the union had serious doubts in the course of the hearing that a case could be established. The evidence also disclosed that when the hearing was completed the board took it out of the trial examiner's hands on Feb. 3, 1938, and did not permit him to file an intermediary report.

Questioned by Committee Counsel Edmund M. Toland, Smith, who was on the stand, denied this was done because the board feared the trial examiner might recommend that the charges be dismissed. The board's final decision in the case was not given until Nov. 3, 1939.

Boycott Plea Disclosed.

Earlier in the day Toland introduced correspondents between Smith and Louis Kirstein, vice president of Filene's department store in Boston, concerning the attempted boycott of the Berkshire company's products. On Oct. 26 Smith wrote to Kirstein that he felt that "any stand which you might adopt would be listened to with the greatest respect by the Berkshire company."

Smith enclosed in this letter various union circulars which, he testified, union officials had asked him to forward. One of the pamphlets said: "Don't buy hosiery made by Berkshire. Ask the storekeeper or merchant where the hosiery he wishes to sell you, no matter what its brand, was made."

After an exchange of letters, Smith wrote to John W. Edelman, an official of the hosiery union, that it appeared difficult to tell from his correspondence what action, if any, Kirstein would take.

Accuses Husband

JEANNE JORDAN.

New York, Dec. 15 [Special].—Jeanne Jordan, 25, former showgirl and now a dancer at a night club, has brought an assault charge against her husband, Frederick Steelman Bain of Philadelphia, charging that he punched her face, tore out some hair, and pummeled her generally—right on the night club dance floor where she is working to support a 6 year old daughter by a former marriage.

PRESIDENT HOME FOR A REST, AND HE WON'T TALK

Hyde Park, N. Y., Dec. 15 [Special].—President Roosevelt, here for his last week-end before the Christmas holidays, today declined to comment on any domestic or international questions.

He told reporters at his trainside conference that he has come to Hyde Park for a complete rest and would see only members of his immediate family.

Asked specifically whether he indorsed the recent statement of a cabinet officer that "liberals" would not support the candidacy of Paul V. McNutt, the President reiterated he was "too old to fall for the game of giving views" on various candidates because it was obviously unwise to do so.

Justice Norman L. Jones Leaves Court for Hospital

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 15 (AP).—The condition of Justice Norman L. Jones of the Illinois Supreme court, who is in St. John's hospital, was described as not serious tonight. The jurist's son, Norman P. Jones, said he probably would remain in the hospital until early next week, however. Justice Jones, 69 years old, became ill with a stomach ailment prior to today's court session and was taken to the hospital from the Supreme court building.

Campbell in Capital to See Murphy on Vote Fraud Quiz

Attorney General Frank Murphy said yesterday in Washington he had conferred with District Attorney William J. Campbell concerning a vote fraud inquiry in Chicago. Murphy said he planned to discuss the situation further with Campbell today. A week ago Murphy said his department planned a vote fraud inquiry here.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS HORNER ON VETO PERIOD

Gets 10 Days from Time He Receives Bill.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 15 [Special].—The Illinois Supreme court, in an important decision delivered today, sustained Gov. Horner's veto of several bills which he acted upon more than ten days following adjournment of the legislature last June 30.

The validity of these vetoes has been attacked on the ground that the law gave the governor only ten days after adjournment, Sundays excepted, in which to take action. Under this construction July 12 would have been the final day. Mr. Horner vetoed bills through July and the early part of August—but always within a ten day period after they had reached his desk, correctly enrolled and engrossed and signed by the presiding officers of both houses.

Calls Procedure Valid.

The Supreme court held this procedure to be in keeping with the constitution of 1870. The court said:

"The constitutional provision granting the governor ten days in which to approve or disapprove a bill and file the same must . . . be the ten days following presentment to him."

Lawyers immediately speculated on the effect of the decision. Attorney George Drach, counsel for optometrists who challenged the veto of a bill regulating their profession, and which the governor acted upon on July 26, said he would ask for a rehearing because "the decision opens the door too wide."

"The legislature," Drach declared, "could hold a bill six months or a year."

Assistant Attorney General Montgomery S. Winning admitted this possibility but pointed out that whoever was holding a bill or bills would be subject to mandamus action.

The Supreme court pointed out today that of 474 bills passed at the 1939 session, 232 were finally enacted on the closing day, June 30. A total of 309 bills reached Mr. Horner after adjournment.

These Bills Vetoed.

Directly involved in the decision was the optometrists bill and a measure appropriating $1,900,000 for sales tax refunds. Other measures which were vetoed after July 12 included the Vacco bills to establish a lottery for slum clearance, and the measure to increas maximum old age pensions from $30 to $40 monthly.

Justice Loren E. Murphy of Monmouth, who was elected to the court on June 5, wrote today's opinion and there were no dissents.

When his veto power was challenged, Gov. Horner issued a statement defending his position, backed by an opinion from Attorney General John E. Cassidy which held he had 10 days following presentment in which to act.

BRICKER DENOUNCES U. S. INTERFERENCE IN AFFAIRS OF OHIO

New York, Dec. 15 (AP).—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio struck back today at criticism of relief methods in his state and fired a few volleys of his own against federal "encroachment" upon state powers.

"There is no basis for the claim that Ohio is not coöperating in every respect in taking care of her local problems," the governor said in an interview prior to a speech before the convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

The Ohio Republican—whom Democrats have asserted promoted a state economy program to further his presidential aspirations—said he would be a candidate for governor in 1940 and that Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio would have the support of the state delegation for the presidential nomination at next year's Republican convention. He said he had "given no consideration to the political effect" of the Ohio relief situation on his political career and urged divorcement of politics and relief.

The governor told the insurance executives that "the federal government by arbitrary exercise of the authority to distribute relief had created a situation in Ohio that it determined 'critical'."

AFFIRM VOIDING OF RIVER FOREST PRESIDENT'S PAY

The office of village president of River Forest, by a decision in the Illinois Supreme court yesterday, is again a job that pays no salary.

John L. Brink has been village president since 1935. There was no compensation for the office until Aug. 2, 1937, when the village trustees passed an ordinance providing an annual salary of $2,000. Last summer Charles F. Baumrucker, 750 Forest avenue, River Forest, a former village president, acting as a taxpayer, challenged the ordinance.

On June 19 Judge John Prystalski held the ordinance void and issued an injunction preventing Brink from collecting the salary. Judge Prystalski ruled that the trustees had violated the provision of the state constitution that prohibits an increase in the salary of a municipal officer during his term of office. This finding was upheld by the Supreme court.

President Awards Medal of Honor to Illinois Man

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—President Roosevelt has awarded a medal of honor to O. P. Scharf, Anna, Ill., an employé of the Railway Express agency, for dragging A. H. Rendleman, 71 years old, from the path of an Illinois Central train at Anna on May 3, 1939. The Interstate Commerce commission, in announcing the award today, said Scharf was the 46th person to receive the medal since enactment of the medals of honor act in 1905.

NEW DEAL LIKE MR. MICAWBER, DECLARES WEIR

Business Periled by Debt, Union League Told.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Ernest T. Weir, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, said yesterday that business men should roll up their sleeves and start working for the return of good government.

Ernest T. Weir.

He said that with the 1940 elections approaching the fight is not only to preserve profits but also to preserve the jobs and wages of workers in an economic structure now depressed by government.

He addressed the Union League club at a luncheon marking the 60th anniversary of its founding. Col. George T. Buckingham, former president of the club, gave the commemorative speech.

Weir, who also is chairman of the National Steel corporation, said that his company owns a tract of land in the Chicago region and is awaiting the return of proper conditions to build a steel plant here.

New Deal Like Mr. Micawber.

He likened the New Deal attitude toward the mounting national debt to that of Mr. Micawber, a character in Dickens' "David Copperfield."

"It is estimated," he said, "that at the end of the fiscal year the federal debt will be 44 billion dollars—just one billion short of the legal debt maximum.

"Yet we hear no mention of any plan to increase taxes to match spending, and of course we hear no mention of any plan to reduce spending to match income. All we hear is the calm announcement that there will be another huge deficit next year, coupled with the bland explanation that everything is going to be all right if we just have a 90 billion dollar income—just a mere 10 billion more than we had in the most prosperous year in our history.

Cites Dickens Character.

"If you recall your Dickens, you will remember that Mr. Micawber always is sure 'something will turn up,' but Mr. Micawber never pays his debts. On the curbstone or in the White House, Micawber always is Micawber.

"There is one difference, however. The curbstone Micawber crosses the street to avoid his creditors. The White House Micawber leaves it to the American public to cross the street."

We said that too many business men have done all their talking among themselves and have refrained from criticism of the New Deal because of fear.

"In 1940 the American electorate will make its decision," he said. "Are we to have more government at the hands of spenders, theorists, and business haters, who will keep the economic machinery stalled at depression levels? Or will we have a fair-minded, practical government which will unify this nation—which will coöperate with all elements of our people to bring genuine, lasting prosperity?

Debt Held Business Curb.

"Business men know the latter kind of government is essential to the safety of our country. They know our economic system is near the practical limit of its ability to bear additional burdens of governmental taxes, debt, and regimentation."

Weir said collective bargaining is here to stay, but that the Wagner labor law must be revised to give justice to all. He said the New Deal has resorted to methods of collectivism.

"It has built its power at the expense of individual freedom," he said. "Make no mistake about it—Fascism, communism, Nazism, and New Dealism all come out of the same box."

2% SLUSH FUND COLLECTION HIT BY CLUBWOMAN

Activities of the Illinoisans—Gov. Horner's fund raising agency—in collecting 2 per cent a month salary assessments from state employés were termed shameful yesterday by Mrs. E. C. Dow, a Chicago clubwoman. Mrs. Dow is president of the Chicago Humane Education society and humane education chairman of the Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's clubs.

In a letter to A. K. Stiles, chairman of the Republican state central committee, Mrs. Dow wrote: "Chicago clubwomen wish to thank and commend you for your action in repudiating the shameless collection of a contribution from public employés for political purposes."

7th Circuit U. S. Judges Open Two Day Conference

Federal district judges of the 7th Circuit of Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana opened their annual two day meeting here yesterday with judges of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge Evan A. Evans, senior member of the appeals court, said the conference discussed administrative problems, methods of speeding trials, and other matters pertaining to the federal bench.

STREAMLINED MERCHANDISING

By CALEB

WERE the young man from Massachusetts, who launched his mercantile career in Chicago back in 1856, to visit the store which bears his name in these 1939 Holidays—one wonders if he would not feel himself astray in Fairyland, rather than in a modern business establishment.

Think what magic wands of change have been at work in the field of retailing, since retailing first became the lifework of Marshall Field! From his own local and primitive sources of merchandise, selective range has widened to national, and then international, dimensions. The wares he would behold today are literally the wares of the world!

Similarly has inventive evolution created both utilities and luxuries whose very names, let alone uses, would be mystifying to him. Designing ingenuity, versatile research and machinecraft, have so transformed the pattern, appeal and appearance of things that in his merchant mind they would only rouse bewilderment. Fabrics, metals, techniques, finishes, quantity production, serviceability, value-for-investment — have all reached levels with which the young Marshall Field was not only unacquainted, but which, if described to him, he would have declared commercial impossibles.

Yet all these have come to pass. Merchandising miracles, viewed from the perspective of a half century ago—commonplaces to the sophisticated shopper of now. And such is today's accelerative pace, in bold laboratory inquiry and experiment, that the modern imagination is ready to expect any impossibility to emerge from the forges, looms, presses, crucibles and test-tubes of tomorrow! . . . .

What, we sometimes ask, is the imperative impulse behind all this ceaseless originating, innovating and elaborating, that forever moves forward to fresh miracles—so that our merchandise and customer facilities are constantly undergoing improvement, alteration and rearrangement?

Always we get the answer that such fast-footed progress is the modern shopper's delight! She likes these finer, better, swifter, gayer attributes, newer products, that science and invention bring to the things she seeks. In short, modern merchandising is keyed to constructive Change, and more Change; and no store which is to move forward in public esteem can ever lose sight of this fact.

THE YELLOW KID IS IN JAIL AGAIN, DAPPER AS EVER

Argues Government Into Cutting His Bond.

Joseph [The Yellow Kid] Weil, who was seized in Chicago early yesterday by postal inspectors, is getting along in years, but he can still talk. That was evident yesterday afternoon when he appeared before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and was held for removal to New York City to face an old confidence game charge.

In his most suave and beguiling manner, he got the government's demand for a $25,000 bond reduced to $18,500.

The Kid, now 63 years old, is an internationally known confidence man. His record, which includes several prison terms, goes back to 1905.

Pink Whiskers Are Gone.

Time was when he cut quite a figure around the Green Mill Gardens with his long pink whiskers and his famous yellow gloves, which won him his sobriquet. But his whiskers are gone now; he is getting bald and stoop shouldered, and his red walrus mustache has faded to tawny chestnut.

He has been wanted in New York since 1935 for a $4,000 swindle. It is charged that he and two accomplices induced Warren Edmunds, an advertising man, to invest the money in worthless oil securities. Then there is the matter of a $15,000 bond in the Criminal court here which he jumped back in 1934.

The Kid, immaculately dressed, appeared before the commissioner yesterday without a lawyer. Across the table sat two assistant United States attorneys. On all sides federal building employés goggled at him.

Argues for a Reduction.

This argument followed:

THE KID—Bail of $25,000 is excessive. There's only $4,000 involved in the case.

JOHN LOOBY [government counsel]—But the government has been looking all around for this man for five years and couldn't find him.

THE KID—Is it my fault they couldn't find me?

LOOBY—He has jumped bail several times.

THE KID—There were always extenuating circumstances. I remember back in 1926 when I was arrested for a $2,000,000 swindle. My bond was only $5,000. I didn't try to run away.

COMMISSIONER WALKER—How about $15,000?

The Government Compromises.

After a study of the prisoner's record, the commissioner set the figure at $18,500. The hearing then was adjourned until next Thursday.

The Kid was seized by government agents and police led by Jack Stahl of the Chicago postal inspector's office in an apartment at 6229 Ellis avenue, where he was living with his daughter. The agents had to drag him out of a clothes closet.

Lately, it was learned, he has been posing as a physician. But apparently things haven't been going so well. Once known to have dealt in six figures, The Kid was found to be $600 in arrears in his rent and had only $7 in his pocket when he was checked in at the detective bureau.

Tricycle Thieves Put Crimp in Some of Santa's Plans

If boys and girls who have been promised tricycles for Chistmas have to wait, this is why: Burglars took a dozen tricycles early yesterday from Otto Haak's shop at 2522 Lincoln avenue. All had been sold and were being held for Christmas delivery.

OTHER WOMAN NAMED AS 'A. B.' IN DIVORCE SUIT

A mysterious divorce suit which attorneys refused to discuss was filed in Superior court yesterday by Mrs. Deborah Reich Bank, 30 years old, against Harry W. Bank, a tax consultant at 33 North La Salle street.

Mrs. Bank charged that her husband left her and their two children on Dec. 14 last year and went to Jacksonville, Fla., where he obtained a divorce. On June 3, her bill said, he married one Jane Doe in Jacksonville. On July 11, Mrs. Bank asserted, Judge Rudolph Desort held the Florida divorce void and awarded Mrs. Bank $200 a week permanent separate maintenance. On July 17, according to the bill, Jane Doe came to Chicago, where she obtained an annulment of her marriage.

Mrs. Bank asked the decree yesterday on grounds of desertion and misconduct with a woman identified only as "A. B." The bill said the Banks were married in New York in 1926.

4 Park Police Lieutenants to Be Retired Next Month

Four police lieutenants of the Park district will be retired next month under the compulsory retirement law. They are James Gibbons, 8324 Morgan street; John Grant, 9976 Winston avenue; Joseph Gordon, 943 West 54th street, and Walter Kinney, 5301 Ellis avenue. To take their places and fill another vacancy, five sergeants will be named acting lieutenants. They are: James Flavin, 8934 Normal avenue; Joseph Granata, 771 Arthington street; Peter Annen, 3650 Magnolia avenue; George Otlewis, 2234 Garfield boulevard, and Joseph Hermanek, 2709 Washington boulevard.

Supreme Court Upholds Sentence in Fake Will Case

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday upheld a one year sentence to the county jail for contempt of court imposed on John J. Bagdonas, a former undertaker, by Probate Judge John F. O'Connell in 1935. Bagdonas and five others were found to have forged the will of James T. Kelly, a flophouse miser who left $100,000. Bagdonas is now serving a prison sentence of 1 to 5 years for an attempt to bribe a juror in a conspiracy trial, and must go to jail when he leaves prison.

Affirm Sentence of Actor for Theft Plot with Girl

Patrick J. Billings, dapper one time movie extra, must pay a $1,000 fine and serve 1 to 5 years in prison, the Illinois Supreme court ruled yesterday. Billings was sentenced for conspiracy in the theft of $6,200 from the Securities Service corporation. Miss Rose Marie Gennarelli confessed she took the money from her employers and gave it to Billings to further his movie ambitions. She served a year in the county jail.

DIES ON HOLIDAY VISIT WITH SON.

Mrs. Mary Barr, 69 years old, of Waukegan, died of a heart attack yesterday while on a holiday visit in the home of her son, Ronald Barr, at 2742 North Artesian avenue.

A PHONE GIRL'S QUICK WITS FOIL TWO BURGLARS

Two young burglars, one an escaped convict, were in custody yesterday because of the alertness of Miss Helen Costello, telephone operator at Central police headquarters, 11th and State streets. The prisoners are Tony Gianatano, 20, years old, 718 Blackhawk street, and Michad Zito, 23, of 765 Schiller street.

Miss Costello received a telephone call that a burglary was being committed on Armitage avenue, but the caller hung up without giving the address. A report of an attempted burglary of a tavern at 1758 Clybourn avenue had been received earlier, so on a hunch Miss Costello caused Hudson avenue police to be sent to the neighborhood of Clybourn and Armitage avenues. Police quickly spotted the burglary in a tavern at 1170 Armitage avenue, and there seized Gianatano and Zito with three cases of whisky and other merchandise ready to be carried out.

Gianatano said he escaped from the state prison at Menard last August while serving a two year sentence for carrying concealed weapons. Zito was placed on probation for six months for stealing an automobile in 1937.

Gunmen with Halloween Mask, Goggles Seize $500

One of the robbers who held up the Northwestern Notions and Tobacco company, 1910 North avenue, yesterday wore welder's goggles. The second robber wore white slacks. The third had on a Halloween mask. They menaced six employés with guns and escaped with $500.

MOVE TO DISMISS BERWYN CHARGES BALKED BY COURT

Judge William J. Lindsay in Criminal court yesterday overruled a motion to dismiss an indictment charging Ernest W. Mau, city treasurer of Berwyn, and Matthew A. Berg, former treasurer, with embezzling $3,726 from the suburb's special assessment funds. Argument on the motion has been in progress for a week.

In previous hearings the state disclosed that Mau is an ex-convict who served two terms in Minnesota prisons on charges of forgeries. On the basis of this revelation counsel for Berg yesterday moved for a severance. Judge Lindsay set Jan. 22 for hearing on this motion and indicated that the case will go to trial soon after that date.

1 OUT OF 4 SENT TO PRISON FROM COUNTY UNDER 21

Every fourth prisoner sent from the county jail to state penitentiaries during 1939 was under 21 years of age, according to a county jail report issued yesterday by Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien. A total of 1,181 prisoners was taken from jail to prisons, the record showed. More than half of them were under 25 and 65.2 per cent were under 31.

The jail handled 8,996 prisoners during the year, 683 of them women. Because of the large number of young inmates, seven trade and educational classes have been established for their benefit. Accredited teachers, loaned by the board of education, conduct the classes.

HAMMOND STORE OWNER INDICTED IN RELIEF FRAUD

Collection of $975 Fake Bill Is Charged.

Frank Shneider, owner of one of the largest department stores in Hammond, Ind., was indicted on fraud charges yesterday by the Lake county, Indiana, grand jury which for eight months has been investigating the relief scandal in Lake county.

The jury is investigating relief activities of 200 Lake county politicians and business men. The inquiry concerns Calumet, North, and Hobart townships, where $3,500,000 was spent for relief in 1938.

The relief situation came to light when business men complained that their claims for relief goods they had sold were delayed three and four months despite the large amount of money that was being spent. It was charged there was a tieup between Lake county relief and the Democratic state political machine in Indiana.

Third Accused of Fraud.

Shneider, the third person indicted in the investigation, is accused of receiving $975 in payment for cloth to be used for relief clothing but failing to deliver the cloth.

The claim was approved by John J. Mehan, township trustee of North township, who was mentioned as the official who approved a payment in the case of Hyman Goodman, an East Chicago grocer, who was indicted last week on relief fraud charges. Mehan continues to hold office and approve relief payments.

According to the county auditor's records, which were studied by the grand jury, Shneider, during 1938, received from the county a total of $161,000 for various sales of goods.

Speedy Payment Shown.

Records showed that while some merchants were complaining of delay in payment for their goods, Shneider, who has a department store at 433 State street, Hammond, presented a claim for $1,761 on Feb. 1, 1938, and his claim was paid the same day.

In the claim was a bill for $975 for yard goods to be used for relief clothing. It was reported that the jury found no record of the delivery of such goods. It was said that in addition to having been approved by Mehan, Shneider's claim also was approved by Joseph Finerty, Lake county auditor, who still is in office. Shneider is a Democrat and is said to belong to the Democratic faction in Lake county politics of which Mehan and Finerty are members.

The other person under indictment is Nick Roknich, proprietor of a clothing store in Gary.

100 ARE ORDERED QUIZZED IN UNION DEATH MYSTERY

The special squad assigned by Lieut. Kyran Phelan of the detective bureau to investigate the murder of Paul Peters, a member of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union, has ordered 100 persons who might have knowledge of the case to appear for questioning, Lieut. Phelan revealed yesterday. New information permitting the police to make further progress in the reconstruction of the case has been obtained, it was said.

The police are satisfied that they know the identity of the killers. The careful investigation is directed toward piling up evidence which can be used against them. Peters was shot to death in front of his home at 3505 North Oak Park avenue on Oct. 31. He had been active in a minority group of the union which had demanded an accounting of funds. Police said most of the witnesses questioned thus far believe the slaying was the result of factional troubles in the union.

Miss Mary Jo Miller, Oak Park teacher who charges E. Ross Wyatt, former principal of Texas school in which she taught, tried to kill her with dynamite. His testimony yesterday conflicted with hers on many points.

JUDGES CANCEL $1,500 JUDGMENT IN BOND FORFEIT

A default judgment for $1,500 against Harold Gendon, a novelty salesman, in connection with a bond to guarantee appearance of a robbery defendant was dismissed yesterday by Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby and Judge Francis Borelli, sitting jointly in Municipal court. The dismissal followed testimony that Gendon's signature had been forged. Sam Brin, a west side tavern keeper, is waiting trial on the forgery charge.

The bond, approved by Judge Eugene L. McGarry, was secured by a Bellwood lot appraised for tax purposes at $97. It was in connection with the posting of this lot that McGarry was indicted on charges of malfeasance in office and conspiracy to accept false acknowledgment in bond matters. The indictment later was dismissed. Both McGarry and Judge Eugene J. Holland have been relieved of duty pending an investigation. Holland was a partner in real estate deals of the slain Edward J. O'Hare, front man for the Capone syndicate.

PRINCIPAL TELLS OF AFFAIR WITH YOUNG TEACHER

Avers She Took Initiative in Their Relations.

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 15 (AP).—E. Ross Wyatt testified today that while he was a small town school principal he went to tourist camps numerous times with a pretty teacher and, unknown to his wife, took the young woman on a 10 day trip to Florida.

E. ROSS WYATT. [A. P. wirephoto.]

He denied, however, the charge on which he is being tried, that he tried to kill the teacher, Mary Jo Miller, 26 years old, by shoving a dynamite loaded suitcase into her room after failing to win her affections. Testimony in the trial ended today and the case is expected to go to the jury tomorrow.

Miss Miller, a physical education teacher in an Oak Park, Ill., school, was here on a visit at the time of the bombing, July 16, 1938. She formerly was a teacher in the Brookeland, Tex., school where Wyatt was principal.

Wyatt, 36, who since has been divorced by his wife, said Miss Miller took the initiative in suggesting improper relations and that the Florida trip was made at her invitation.

Describes Auto Ride.

He described an automobile ride he said the two took out of Brookeland the night before Mary Jo decided to leave Texas.

"We drove out a highway toward Lufkin," he testified. "Off a side road on a previous drive we had left some pillows and I drove back there to see if they were still there. I left her in the coupe and went to look for the pillows. I found them."

Wyatt said they stayed there about two hours and that Miss Miller then asked if he was going to marry her. He said he told her no.

He said he hugged and kissed the teacher the first week she was at the Brookeland school. Before the end of the week, he added, he was taking her out. Three weeks later, he said, the improper relations began.

Called Attentions Unwelcome.

In previous testimony Miss Miller explained she left Texas to escape Wyatt's unwelcome attentions, saying she had endured them for three years to keep her job. She implied that love letters she wrote him were the results of coercion.

In rebuttal the state called a surprise witness, Mrs. Esther McCowan, a drug store operator. She identified Wyatt as the man who came to her store the evening before the explosion and, by using the telephone, learned the address of the home of J. H. Miller, Miss Miller's brother, where she was visiting and where the bombing occurred. "Next day," said Mrs. McCowan, "I read about the Miller home being dynamited. Later I saw Wyatt's picture in the newspapers and recognized him as the man who was in the store."

SEARCH FOR ATTACKER OF WOMAN JUROR WHO VOTED DEATH PENALTY

A search was being pushed last night for a well dressed man about 45 years old who seized and threatened Mrs. Violet Deubel, 5421 South Talman avenue, in the Criminal court building yesterday. Mrs. Deubel was one of eight women who served on a jury which convicted three murderers last Saturday and recommended a death penalty.

Mrs. Violet Deubel.

The man was quoted as saying to the juror, "You'll be sorry for what you did Saturday." Mrs. Deubel and two women companions screamed and the man fled. The incident was reported to Judge John F. Bolton, who heard the murder case. He notified the state's attorney's office. Squads of police were assigned immediately to look for the man.

Those convicted by the jury are Victor Nukowski, 24; Frank Michalowski, 25, and Henry Drewek, 22. They shot and killed Viggo Peter Peterson Oct. 13 during a robbery of a tavern at 1859 North Washtenaw avenue.

Fear Waukegan Sewer Blast from Inflammable Liquid

Waukegan city employés were looking yesterday for the source of inflammable gasoline or naphtha which is being dumped into Waukegan sewers. City Engineer Henry Bleck said there is a constant peril of explosion which might cost lives and damage the $750,000 sewage treatment plant of the north shore sanitary district. Gas fumes forced employés to leave the plant yesterday between 1 and 3 a. m. Bleck said a spark might cause a blast.

Negro Gunman Is Indicted in Holdup Killing of Grocer

Oscar Bragg, 35 years old, colored, was reported to have been named by the grand jury yesterday in a true bill charging him with the murder of Vito Addante, 46 years old. Addante was slain Nov. 17 in a robbery of his grocery at 369 East 54th street. Bragg was arrested Nov. 23 in a room at 18 East 60th street, where he was recovering from four bullet wounds inflicted by Pasquale Addante, 13 years old, son of the slain man.

KIND CITY TAKES LONESOME ANDY INTO ITS ARMS

Andy Klyn was lonesome early yesterday when he called on the George Reeses in the liquor store at 7859 Cottage Grove avenue. But he'll have dozens of visitors soon.

Andy Klyn.

Klyn carried a revolver into the liquor store and told Reese and his wife, Katherine, "This is a stickup." Between them they gave him $4.15. Then Klyn asked, "How about a drink?" Reese poured one, another, and a third. Soon it was 2:30 a. m. Then all three went to the Reese home at 7866 Maryland avenue. There Klyn suggested another drink. But Reese had no liquor. Back they went to the liquor store. As they passed a pedestrian Reese whispered for aid. They reached the store just as three gentlemen drove up. They took Klyn to the Grand Crossing police station. At the station Andy again grew lonesome. He talked about his work. Before he got thru he had confessed more than 50 robberies. That's why he's expecting visitors—some gentlemen with pointing fingers.

PAROLE BOARD TO HEAR PLEAS OF 72 MONDAY

A subcommittee of the parole board will hear the parole pleas of 72 prisoners in the Illinois state prison at Menard Monday. Among those seeking freedom is Edward Jacobson, 30 years old, who was arrested for robbery here in 1936 while on parole on a holdup sentence.

Jacobson was first arrested in 1927 for stealing an automobile and was placed on probation. The next year he was arrested for a score of robberies. He was paroled in June, 1935, and six months later was arrested for robbing a hotel. He was identified in four other holdups and sentenced to 1 to 20 years.

Ex-Convict Loses Fight to Escape Extradition

Joseph Chevlin, a former convict, who was arrested here last New Year's eve, yesterday lost his court fight to avoid extradition to Buffalo, N. Y., on charges of theft and forgery of $34,400 in checks from a petroleum company there in 1933. The Illinois Supreme court upheld a ruling of Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court in which he ordered Chevlin delivered to New York authorities.

WINNIE RUTH JUDD CAPTURED AGAIN; GUARDED IN CELL

Gives Details of Trunk Slayings for First Time.

Yuma, Ariz., Dec. 15 (AP).—Winnie Ruth Judd was seized in a Main street drug store today after trudging nearly 200 miles across the desert from Phoenix in her second flight from the state hospital for the insane.

Barefoot, tattered, and tired, the trunk slayer of two women gave her captors notes demanding a new trial and "shock" treatments to cure her insanity. She was taken back to the asylum at Phoenix tonight and was placed in a closely guarded cell.

On her way back to Phoenix Mrs. Judd told for the first time details of the slaying of her two best friends in 1931. She said she killed Miss Agnes Ann LeRoi and Miss Hedvig Samuelson as the culmination of a quarrel in which the two women threatened to tell her husband that she had been unfaithful to him.

Tells of an Accomplice.

She also revealed that she had an accomplice who helped her dispose of the bodies, which were shipped in trunks to Los Angeles, but she did not name this accomplice.

Mrs. Judd, a fugitive for 12 days, was captured here when a policeman, Henry Stahl, recognized her and took her quietly to the county jail. There, nervous and weeping, she admitted her identity to Sheriff T. H. Newman.

Mrs. Judd said she walked barefooted all the way from Phoenix except for a 20 mile ride, and that she had not eaten for three days.

Mrs. Judd's appearance in Yuma marked her return to a place familiar in her past life. Her husband, Dr. W. C. Judd, now a patient in a veterans' hospital at Sawtelle, Cal., practiced here several years ago.

First Escape in October.

After six years of comparative obscurity at the hospital, Mrs. Judd first escaped Oct. 24. She complained she was being persecuted because she was not permitted to visit her elderly, ailing father.

She was gone six days the first time, hiding in citrus groves and a vacant house in Phoenix while police searched for her thruout the west. Shortly after leaving the hospital she visited her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. H. J. McKinnell, and later called at the home of a clergyman friend at nearby Tempe, Ariz. Exhausted, half-starved, and hysterical, she was caught on the hospital grounds.

Captured in California following the slayings, Mrs. Judd was returned to Phoenix and convicted of slaying Miss LeRoi. She was sentenced to be hanged, but at an 11th hour sanity hearing she was adjudged insane and committed to the asylum.

SUPREME COURT VOIDS PART OF MARRIAGE LAW

The Illinois Supreme court held section 18 of the 1923 state marriage law unconstitutional yesterday in denying the appeal of Mrs. Laura Farthing Brainard of River Forest in an estate case.

In 1938 Mrs. Brainard sued to obtain for her two daughters a share of the $100,000 estate of Charles H. Brainard, construction engineer, who was killed in a mine accident in 1937. She said she was married to Brainard in 1929 and lived with him for five years before she discovered he had another wife, Gertrude, whom he married in 1900.

Judge John Sbarbaro, then a master in chancery, held Mrs. Laura Brainard had not proved she was ever married to the engineer. Sbarbaro's finding was approved in Circuit court and the appeal followed.

The section of the marriage law voided by the Supreme court provided that whenever persons attempt to be joined in marriage, and some form of ceremony is performed, and the persons then live together and have children, the children are legitimate and may take the name of the father, tho the attempted marriage later be declared void. The court decided this section conflicted with other sections of the marriage law.

GLENCOE ZONING LAW BEATEN IN SUPREME COURT

Clarence J. Taylor, 319 Scott avenue, Glencoe, a marine contractor, was upheld by the Illinois Supreme court yesterday in his suit attacking the village's zoning ordinance.

Taylor has a vacant lot at Linden and Scott avenues, at the southern limits of Glencoe, which is zoned class C, for single family residences. He sought to have the lot zoned for any business purpose permitted in Glencoe, except a theater. Taylor said there was a lumber yard and ice plant to the east of the lot, and a filling station nearby, and that he could sell his property only if it were zoned for business.

The Supreme court reversed a Circuit court decision which dismissed Taylor's request for an injunction against the village and zoning board. The high court held that "the zoning ordinance as applied to this particular piece of property is arbitrary and unreasonable."

MURPHY DENIES OFFER OF JOB ON SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Attorney General Frank Murphy said today that he had not been offered a place on the Supreme court and that he did not believe it should be offered to him.

Murphy's remark was in response to a question at a press conference as to his feeling about a prediction that the Democratic ticket in 1940 would be "Roosevelt and Murphy."

Murphy merely laughed at this, but when another reporter remarked: "You wouldn't want to step down from the bench to run for President, would you?" the attorney general said: "None of these offers has been made to me and none should be."

He then remarked that he believed that there should be a rule that an attorney general should not be a candidate for office for at least two years after he has left the justice department.

Hundreds of cash contributions to the Good Fellow fund were received yesterday, while a continued enthusiastic response was reported from persons requesting names of needy families to whom they can deliver Christmas baskets in person. The shrinkage in the supply of Good Fellow buttons, to which each contributor is entitled, was the best barometer of Chicago's yuletide spirit.

COURT APPROVES FLIPPING OF COIN IN ELECTION TIE

The eagle never screamed when Judge Glen L. Cowing of the Will County court decided an election contest by the flip of a half dollar. And the Illinois Supreme court never screamed either. It solemnly gave its approval yesterday to the decision. The office was that of Channahon township supervisor. Michael McDonald, Democratic incumbent, was declared the winner by two votes in the April election. Stewart Dirst, Republican candidate, demanded a recount. It showed that both men had received the same number of votes. Judge Cowing, sitting in Joliet, ordered the coin flipped. Dirst won. McDonald asked the Supreme court to see whether it could make head or tail of the situation.

NEW DEAL TRADE AND CROP POLICY HIT BY FARMERS

G.O.P. Congressmen Hear Illinois Growers.

During the late afternoon the congressmen were given the results of a seven state survey of the AAA, made by J. M. Donnell, who manages 12,000 acres and farms 590 in central and southern Illinois. Specifically, he recommended that the AAA be replaced by a program that will omit all penalties, omit crop acreage histories, allow farmers to grow the crops they choose, membership in which will be voluntary and uniform.

From Decatur, the nation's largest soy bean processing center, came the plea that greater tariff restrictions be placed upon refined products of the bean. A. E. Staley Jr. of the Staley Manufacturing company there, stated that while the present tariff of $1.20 a bushel on the beans themselves is adequate, there is not enough protection on soy bean oil and meal.

"Agriculture is the foundation of all wealth," said Milton Jones of Williamsville, Ill. "When you strike at that you strike at the nation. When you lower our tariff you put us in competition with cheap labor abroad and you lower our living standards."

Lake Villa Farmer Testifies.

William Marks, manager of farms near Lake Villa, in Lake county, assailed the AAA as being too complicated and costing too much.

Replying to questions by Representative Ralph Church of Evanston, Marks declared the reciprocal tariff agreements should be ratified by the senate.

Bert J. Gallagher, also of Lake county, assailed the AAA as being too narrow in scope to benefit all agriculture.

The Agricultural Adjustment administration and Secretary of State Hull's trade treaties were linked as twin evils by most of the witnesses. The AAA, they charged, brought about artificial scarcity and raised prices, permitting cheap foreign products to pour in over the shattered tariff wall to usurp the American farmers' market.

Tariff to Protect Prices.

"There must be a price policy to assure the farmer his rightful return, but there also must be a tariff to protect that price," said State Representative Edward E. Kennedy of Kankakee. He owns and works farm lands in three states. "The government has no right to take millions of acres of ground out of cultivation and then move in cheap foreign products in lieu of the farmers' own," he continued.

In answer to a question by Congressman Noah Mason of Oglesby, Representative Kennedy declared it is his belief that the government is setting up artificial problems to soive in the AAA. If, thru a fixed tariff and a price policy, prices could be brought up, the crop control program would automatically become obsolete, he said.

The hearings will continue thruout tomorrow.

FINDS STOVE IS GOOD RADIO RECEIVER, BUT IT WON'T SHUT OFF

No dials to twirl. No tubes to fail. Nothing to get out of order. You'd think Bernard Pakenham would have been glad his gas stove was also a radio receiving set. He wasn't, tho. When he wanted to sleep he could still hear his neighbor, Donald Duncan, broadcasting that amateur station W9J11 wanted to hear from anybody.

Pakenham answered the call early yesterday. He rang Duncan's doorbell and asked him to come over to the Pakenham home at 948 North Lewis avenue, Waukegan. Duncan came over and said that, if Pakenham would shut the oven door, which seemed to be acting as a sound chamber for the waves a loose connection was picking up, he could get some sleep. Pakenham did and dropped off to sleep before Sheep No. 3 got over the fence.

GIVE BACK WIFE'S BLOOMERS, JUDGE WARNS HUSBAND

Judge Rudolph Desort ordered Arnold Langhof again yesterday to return Mrs. Alma Langhof's bloomers. And this time the judge indicated he means "Positively!" The order is for Langhof to be back in 10 days with $75 or the bloomers and other clothing his wife says he is withholding.

Mrs. Langhof is 33 years old. She lives at 1553 North Clark street. Langhof is 41. He was a baker at 5513 Belmont avenue when his divorce troubles began, but he sold his shop. Mrs. Langhof, who once accused her husband of pelting her with 48 fresh sugar-butter biscuits, has been promised a divorce on grounds of cruelty. But her attorney, Frank J. Link, asked the judge to withhold the decree until Langhof does something about the bloomers. Langhof was first ordered to give the bloomers back six weeks ago.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

Committee to Make New Economy Survey.

The city council finance committee last night completed its first step in preparing the 1940 city budget. It sent to the printer, to be ready for the council next Tuesday, a tentative balanced budget, with corporate [operating] expenditures estimated at $58,200,000. The budget is expected to be brought up for final passage on Jan. 5.

But the committee was told by its chairman, Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], that its real work has just begun. Arvey said all city departments are to be surveyed, with a view of reorganizing and consolidating to eliminate waste. He intimated the work may also include a plan to place all unionized employés on their regular daily union wages instead of paying them on a monthly or annual basis.

Confer with Mayor Kelly.

This suggestion was discussed yesterday in a three hour conference between a subcommittee of the finance committee and Mayor Kelly. Proponents of the suggestion assert it would reduce city costs by paying the unionists only for the days they work, as they are paid in private industry.

The finance committee included in the budget $15,000 for an audit and for studies of city wages. This survey already is under way, Mayor Kelly said.

Economies must be made, the committee was told, if the council is to include in the budget an additional appropriation of $435,000 to the street and alley bureau.

Plan for Cleaner Alleys.

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, has told the committee that he will provide alley refuse collections every eight and a half days next year and keep street and alley laborers working five days a week if he is granted the additional $435,000, which includes $235,000 for incineration or disposal of refuse and $200,000 for snow removal.

Earlier in the day Mayor Kelly and Hewitt inspected a new $6,000 garbage collection and hauling truck loaned Chicago by the New York City sanitation department. The truck, completely inclosed, has a low hopper at the rear into which refuse from cans is dumped. The refuse is carried up into the truck on a conveyor belt. The truck has a capacity of 21 cubic yards, compared with the seven yard capacity of Chicago refuse trailers.

Hewitt said a time and cost study will be made of the New York truck as compared with the open, high sided trailers used here.

Tournament Queen

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 15 [Special].—Margaret Huntley is majoring in speech in Pasadena Junior college, but for a moment today she was caught without a word to say. It was when she was informed that she had been selected as queen of the Tournament of Roses, the climax of which will be the Rose Bowl football game of the University of Southern California against the University of Tennessee on New Year's day. Miss Huntley, 18 years old, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Huntley. She is a brunette, 5 feet 6 inches tall, and weighs 118 pounds.

DEFENSE SOCIETY PRESENTS MEDAL TO GEN. H. A. DRUM

New York, Dec. 15 [Special].—The American Defense society medal was awarded tonight to Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commander of the second corps area, at the society's medal award dinner. He received the society's medal in recognition of his services in bolstering national defense. The society's cup was presented to Capt. A. C. Stott, representing the officers and men of the U. S. S. Tennessee, for proficiency at short range target practice last summer.

In an address in which he thanked the society, Gen. Drum outlined the course of America's military preparations since the close of the world war.

"In 20 years since the world war," Gen. Drum said, "the fine men trained have become too old and much of our organization antiquated. Our reserve supplies were used up or deteriorated as funds were not available to replace or renovate them. As in the past, we are now rushing to overcome these deficiencies."

Gen. Drum added that with the funds now available, little of the modern equipment contemplated for the army will be available for a year, and much will not be available for two years.

VOTE $4,000 SALARY FOR JOB THAT TAKES THREE HOURS A DAY

Dr. Francis A. Dulak has been a member of the board of health since 1934. Since last December he has been its secretary. Yesterday Ald. Joseph P. Rostenkowski [32d] told the city council finance committee that Dr. Dulak, whose offices are at 1608 Milwaukee avenue, in Rostenkowski's ward, spends three hours a day signing rules and records for the board.

"I think he ought to get paid for that work," Ald. Rostenkowski said. "It's worth at least $4,000 a year, as a part time proposition."

"That's a pretty good salary for three hours a day," Ald. James F. Kovarik [15th] commented.

Then Rostenkowski moved that the committee, studying the city's 1940 budget, recommend the salary to the council. The motion passed with only one dissenting vote, from Ald. Dorsey Crowe [42d].

FOUND DEAD, BIBLE IN HIS HAND.

A shabbily dressed man about 60 years old was found dead at Madison and Halsted streets early yesterday, evidently of a heart attack. In his hand was a Bible. In his pockets was 7 cents.

JEROME CLIMBS ON A COLD PLATE FOR ALL TO SEE

"Put me on a cold plate," he invited, "and look me over. I'm an A-1 sap and showoff."

Silvers, who is 26 years old and says his real name is Julius Boruck, told this story:

Last June, for no reason, he sold his west side wholesale egg business. Then he deposited $10 cash and $400 in worthless checks in a bank. Next day, before the bad checks could clear, he bought a car with a bogus check on his bogus bank account. Then he drove to New York to see his girl friend, Rosalind, and sold the car for $475.

From there he went to Miami, Fla., opened a bank account with $675 in bad checks, and bought another car. He drove to Columbia, S. C., abandoned the car, but opened another bogus checking account and purchased a third automobile. This he sold in Washington, D. C., for $525. Then he came to Chicago.

"I sure was a sap," Silvers concluded.

Detectives, who caught up with him in the Y. M. C. A. hotel at 826 South Wabash avenue, agreed.

WIDOW OF A MANTENO TYPHOID VICTIM ASKS $3,550 COMPENSATION

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 15 (AP).—The first financial claim against the state arising from the recent typhoid fever epidemic at the Manteno State hospital was filed today with the Court of Claims.

Mrs. Mary Ade of Shelbyville claimed $3,550.25 compensation for the death of her husband, Lester Ade, a Manteno hospital attendant who died Aug. 29. The petition said he contracted typhoid during the epidemic in which 53 persons died.

C. & E. I. Engineer Retires After 42 Years' Service

Truman C. Sherwood, a railroad man for 42 of his 69 years, piloted the Dixie Limited of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois road out of the Dearborn street station on his final run yesterday before retiring. Sherwood, who lives within sight of the tracks in Danville, said he intends to spend much of his time from now on watching the trains go by.

SUBURB POLICE GET BUSY AGAIN ON SPEED LAWS

Many Complaints Received from Motorists.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Chicago Motor club warned yesterday that speed cops are busy again in several communities of the metropolitan area.

Chief Wigglesworth.

The constabulary of Melrose Park, 12 miles west of the loop on the Lake street [U. S. 20] highway, has received more than its share of condemnation in letters received by the club and by the Voice of Traffic in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. For 10 years this suburb has had a reputation as a speed trap.

An unusually large number of arrests are, also being made on the Skokie road in Niles Center, and on the Northwest highway in Arlington Heights, according to the motor club. The police also have become active on Ogden avenue in La Grange, on 159th street in Markham, and on Cicero avenue in Midlothian.

Melrose Park Explanation.

In Melrose Park, Village President Andy H. Franzel, Chief of Police Robert Wigglesworth, and Police Magistrate George Bosco explained why so many complaints are made by motorists arrested in Lake street by this village's police.

"You see," said Col. Wigglesworth, who was chief of a A Century of Progress police, "this broad pavement is deceptive. It isn't as safe as it looks. There's heavy trucking from these nearby industries. There are pedestrians who have to cross to catch a bus. But because it looks like open country, many drivers ignore the 40 miles an hour signs."

"Another thing," added Mayor Franzel, "a large number of these motorists don't believe in signs. In Chicago they do 45 miles an hour in the Outer drive where signs read 35. They're not accustomed to enforcement."

Speed Limit Criticized.

These Outer drive 35 m. p. h. signs have been subjects of recent complaints. To obey the signs during the rush hours exposes a driver to a rear end collision; A motorist can observe that he's supposed to go faster than the 35 m. p. h. signs, but he doesn't know how much faster he can go without being arrested.

In nearby Indiana there is a similar situation. On U. S 41 south of Hammond, on a 40 foot road bordered by corn fields, there are signs reading 20 miles per hour, much slower than any one travels.

BRIEFS ORDERED IN TEST OF THRU HIGHWAY NOTES

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday directed Attorney General John E. Cassidy to file briefs today in the test case to determine the validity of the $60,000,000 in gas tax notes authorized by the legislature for superhighways in Chicago. The suit is a petition for a writ to compel State Auditor Edward J. Barrett to register $10,000 worth of the notes for sale.

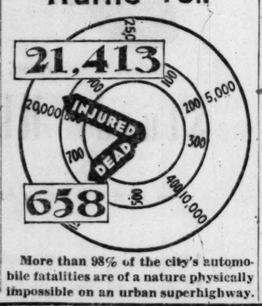
Freak Accident Fatal

(Story in adjoining column)

When a truck stopped on spot marked by cross in foreground a 400 pound wheel flew off, sailed thru the air, and killed a man waiting on curb at place indicated by cross in background.

THE MASSACRE Chicago's 1939 Traffic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an urban superhighway.

400 POUND WHEEL FLIES OFF TRUCK, KILLS 1; INJURES 2

City's Auto Toll for November Is 68.

One man was killed and two other persons were injured in a freak accident yesterday when a heavy wheel flew off the rear axle of a transfer truck and plowed into a group of pedestrians at 47th street and Western avenue.

William Raginis.

The man killed was William Raginis, 51 years old, 6808 South Campbell avenue. He was standing with a dozen others on the northeast corner waiting for the traffic lights to change when the truck, owned by the Werner Transfer company, 2101 Throop street, and driven by Adolph Van Shark, 867 North La Salle street, approached from the south. Suddenly the right rear wheel, weighing about 400 pounds, came off. It sailed thru the air for 80 feet, witnesses said.

The impact knocked Raginis against Mrs. Julia Laurin, 41, of 4737 South Maplewood avenue, and John Jurovian, 61, of 5325 South Francisco avenue. They suffered minor injuries.

Month's Auto Toll 68.

Fifty-four of the 68 persons killed by automobiles in Chicago last month were pedestrians, George G. Traver, manager of the Greater Chicago Safety council, reported yesterday. The massacre total for November was three greater than for the same month last year. There were 1,546 motor vehicle accidents in the city during the month, and 1,900 persons injured, 771 of them pedestrians.

Henry Skoien, 63, 503 Landau avenue, Joliet, was injured fatally when he ran into the side of an automobile in Jackson street near Garnsey avenue, Joliet. The driver was Henry Sahler, 717 Buell avenue, Joliet.

Ruben Costello, 35, a Mexican, was killed last night by one of two automobiles at 43d street and Ashland avenue. Raymond Phillip, 5328 South Ashland avenue, told the police another motorist, who did not stop, struck Costello before his car hit him.

Priest Seriously Injured.

The Rev. Bartholomew Feltmann, 75 years old, pastor of St. Augustine Catholic church, 5045 South Laflin street, was seriously injured last night when he was struck by an automobile at Ashland avenue and 50th street. August Leckner, 5024 South Marshfield avenue, tried to push the priest out of the way, but was unable to do so in time. In Southtown hospital it was said the priest suffered a possible skull fracture.

The driver was Ray Bowen, 38, of 5510 Harper avenue, a gasoline station employé. He has only one hand. Police said that his driving license required that he have a spinner knob on his steering wheel, but that the wheel was not so equipped. Nor did Bowen's car have a safety sticker, police said. They charged him with reckless driving.

Fred Laddka, 46 years old, 2341 Jackson boulevard, was seriously injured last evening when he was struck at Monroe street and Western avenue by an automobile driven by Joseph Capelety, 736 South Claremont avenue. Capelety was held after a witness, Howard Winchell, 148 South Western avenue, reported that the motorist had offered him $50 to say that Leidka had been drinking. Capelety denied the offer.

A man killed by an automobile at Cicero and Wellington avenues Sunday morning was identified yesterday as William Eli Hilliard, 48, of Streator, La Salle county. The driver was Joseph W. Seemuth, 5736 Midway park.

John Deffendaffer, 72 years old, colored, of 3969 Vernon avenue, died last night in the county hospital of injuries suffered last Sunday when he was run down by a machine at 39th street and Calumet avenue. The driver was George Hall, colored, 3846 South Park way.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 855 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 658 were killed in Chicago, where 21,413 were injured in the same period.

ROBBED OF TROUSERS AND CASH.

Two young bandits held up Samuel Italia, 2256 North Meade avenue, at Grand and Meade avenues last night and robbed him of his trousers. This was bad enough, Italia reported to police, but worse yet, he had $28 in the trousers.

FLEEING SEAMAN WALKS INTO CAR'S PATH TO END LIFE

Varon Samuel Woods, an apprentice seaman at Great Lakes Naval Training station, was killed instantly by an automobile yesterday while running away from the station. A coroner's jury found he had committed suicide after hearing witnesses testify that he walked into the car's path and then dived against its radiator when the driver swerved. Naval officials could offer no explanation.

Woods was 23 years old. He enlisted Dec. 5, giving his home as a farm near Webster, Wis. As is customary with newcomers, he had been in quarantine during physical tests and inoculations. Authorities said he evidently fled over a fence early yesterday. He was killed 10 miles from the station on U. S. route 41, six miles northwest of Waukegan. The car that killed him was driven by Carl H. Mueller of Pewaukee, Wis. Mueller was cleared at the inquest, conducted by Coroner John L. Taylor of Lake county.

HIT-RUN DRIVER GETS 6 MONTHS AND A $100 FINE

One of the heaviest sentences in the record of the Safety court was imposed by Judge Frank Donoghue yesterday on Tony Sylvester, 3708 Nottingham avenue, a WPA worker. Sylvester was sentenced to 90 days in the Bridewell for reckless driving, and to six months for leaving the scene of an accident, the sentences to run concurrently. He also was fined $100 and ordered to serve out the fine at the rate of $1.50 a day if he is unable to pay.

Sylvester was arrested Oct. 10 after his automobile struck and injured three persons waiting for a street car at Chicago and Grand avenues. Sylvester sped west in Grand avenue, but was captured when his car overturned at Sacramento avenue. He admitted in court that he had been drinking wine. Judge Donoghue ordered his state driver's license impounded for six months after he leaves jail.

Sunbeam Starts $25,000 Fire in Aircraft Factory

Santa Monica, Cal., Dec. 15 (AP).—A shaft of sunlight, concentrated by an electric light globe, ignited a piece of wing fabric and thereby started a $25,000 fire at the Douglas Aircraft plant today. Two wing sections for a United States army observation plane were badly damaged.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Do you think the legislature should restore the tax levy for the Art institute, Field museum and Shedd aquarium?

Where Answered.

In Michigan avenue.

The Answers.

Mrs. Paul Iannotti, 7135 Clark street, housewife—By all means. The restoration of the tax levy for these institutions should be taken up at the special session. These institutions are the important depositories of our culture, and to curtail their services would be deplorable.

Dr. Philip H. Feigen, 4226 Hazel street—I do, emphatically. For what greater good could the people's money be used? Music, beautiful paintings — these things can enrich the poorest man's life. Not only should states contribute, but I favor generous support from the federal government.

Mrs. Theodore B. Young, 6344 North Talman avenue, housewife—Why not? Our taxes won't be any less, anyway. We might as well have something worthwhile for our money. For the school children alone the institute and museums are invaluable adjuncts in education.

A. E. Gaulke, 327 Webster avenue, accountant—These institutions should be maintained, but I think we're overtaxed already. I don't favor increased taxation if that is what operating them at present capacity would demand. Maybe more judicious budgeting would help. legislative

Mrs. Christian Koch, Rock Island, Ill., housewife—It is not Chicago alone that benefits from these museums. They are here for all the state to enjoy. The legislature should give careful consideration to their requirements. It would be a pity, indeed, to curtail their services.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."—From the Farewell Address.

THE SEA ACTION OFF URUGUAY.

The sea fighters off the coast of Argentina and Uruguay didn't pay much attention to the declaration of Panama by which the American countries endeavored to extend a zone of neutral waters 300 miles from their coast. It wasn't to be expected that the belligerents would respect the safety zone if their ships came into contact within it. Secretary of State Hull says that after a full report has been received on the engagement the 21 American republics will probably consult and present formal protests.

Ships of the warring powers are engaged in trade with American ports, north and south. Merchant vessels of all three nations have been lying in the harbors. German merchantmen have recently gone out of Mexican ports in attempts to evade British and French cruisers. Warships are off the coasts. The new theory of the American countries that they can throw out a protective belt so distant from their shores is a novelty in neutrality practices and, lacking the consent of the belligerents, it has little to sustain it except the hope of the neutrals that violations wouldn't occur. A protest which couldn't show any damage done to the protesting countries would seem fairly futile when addressed to nations engaged in such a doubtful conflict as the present one, involving, as they may have reason to discover, their future position in the world.

Of the battle itself between the new type German warship, the Graf Spee, and the three British cruisers, there will be a great curiosity which won't be satisfied until official reports and expert opinions have been obtained. The weight of metal was in favor of the German ship. The British cruisers had greater speed and smaller guns. Apparently the German was not badly shot up. Its casualties are given as 36 dead and 60 wounded. Superficially, the hits did not seem damaging. Nevertheless, having put the larger of the British cruisers out of action, the German seems to have continued in intermittent battle with the remaining two light cruisers for 10 hours and then, for reasons yet to be made clear, ran into the harbor of Montevideo, risking internment for the rest of the war. Only the Exeter gives evidence that there had been a hard fight.

The battle does not appear, from what is now known, to have been fought with much determination. The two British light cruisers may have done all that could be expected of them when they were left to carry on by themselves and drove the German to cover. The Graf Spee type of ship has been studied by naval experts seeking to determine its worth. The type was forced on Germany by treaty limitations, since, of course, rejected, but until the test was made in battle the naval designers could not have a basis for conclusions.

We could not imagine a Farragut, a Dewey, or a Sampson engaging an enemy for 14 hours with all ships afloat when the firing ceased. That raises the question of the spirit of the commanders, which will have a bearing on the worth of the types of ships engaged. Until more is known of the sea fight, what credit there is seems to belong to the two light British cruisers which chased their heavier opponent into the protection of the neutral port. We may be quite certain that in the days of sail the American Constitution, with Hull in command, would have sunk both the British frigate equivalents of those two light cruisers.

RELIEF FOR MIDDLE WEST.

The United States maritime commission has recently rendered a decision which, in normal times, will be of great benefit to shippers using direct overseas service from the Great Lakes. But the blockades occasioned by War II., if continued, will greatly minimize the benefit. The North Atlantic shipping conference, which includes all important Atlantic steamship lines, has insisted that shippers, in order to get low rates, must send all of their exports and imports on conference ships thru Atlantic seacoast ports. About a year ago the attorneys general of Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio and Indiana filed a complaint with the commission asking for the removal of such restrictive clauses from shipping contracts on the grounds that they were "artificial and illegal." In rendering its decision the commission ordered the removal of the restrictions and said that, unless the modifications were made within 20 days, it would consider an order disapproving the conference agreement among American and foreign steamship lines. The difference between the contract and noncontract rates averages about 20 per cent. The order will permit shippers to use the cheap direct service from lake ports in the summer season of navigation and service at conference rates from Atlantic ports during the remainder of the year.

The fourth section of the transportation act has effectively handicapped the middle west in its attempt to trade with the Pacific coast and Asiatic markets in competition with the Atlantic seaboard, which has available cheap water transportation thru the Panama canal. It is heartening to learn that the maritime commission has recognized our land locked situation in another direction and has done something about it.

THE LEWIS WAR CHEST.

John P. Frey, head of the metal trades division of the American Federation of Labor, appeared before the congressional committee investigating the work of the National Labor Relations board and said that a majority of its members and its employés were wholly incompetent and entirely unqualified to administer the labor act. He repeated the charges often made by the officers of the A. F. of L. that the board was a prejudiced partisan of the C. I. O., and was in truth a government agency to promote Mr. Lewis' labor supremacy.

Mr. Frey discussed the political activities of Lewis and his organizers and said that the use of money by the C. I. O. in political action should be made illegal. Lewis contributed $600,000 to the Democratic campaign fund in 1936, and later made it plain enough that, having bought his way into the Roosevelt administration, he intended to get what he had paid for. Frey referred to the announcement that the C. I. O. will raise a larger sum next year for another national campaign and will have at least $800,000 collected from Mr. Lewis' miners and from other C. I. O. organizations. This will be used again to put politicians under obligation, and if the C. I. O. supported candidates win Lewis will make new demands. He will say that he wants what he paid for.

It was made illegal for corporations to contribute to political campaign funds. The theory of that prohibition was that if a corporation made a large investment in the fortunes of a political party it might be expected later to present its bill to an administration thus aided and in compensation ask for legislation or administrative acts which might be contrary to public policy and against public good. The New Deal tried to make a distinction between a contribution to a campaign fund and a contribution to wipe out a debt. Some corporation heads were unfortunate enough to yield to this solicitation to buy a de luxe autographed campaign book offered to their organizations in quantities, with the suggestion that it would be advisable to buy. Later these corporation heads took the money out of their own pockets, being advised that they might have been persuaded or coerced into a violation of law.

Mr. Lewis' assessments of his unions give him a large war chest which he can use as he pleases without accounting. It is his idea that he can buy into the government and, that having bought in, he can dictate to the persons he has purchased. This is contrary to all principles of honesty in elections and equity in law making and administration. No privileged class basing its control upon money spent in elections can be tolerated by law. The corrupt practices act should apply.

THE TOUCH FROM NEW YORK.

Chicagoans and other midwesterners who receive letters from New York soliciting gifts for the private philanthropies of that city must have occasion to rub their eyes. Each year the number of New York charities which try to get contributions from other communities increases. The appeal for money for children, the infirm, the underprivileged, and the unfortunate is made as if it could be consistently lodged upon the generosity, conscience and public spirit of far distant persons.

These assumptions are very strange. New York is the wealthiest city in the country. If its private resources are not sufficient for its private charities then the other cities to which it appeals are in worse plight. They have their own needs. Their charities can use all the money they can raise. They have no surplus.

In the distribution of federal relief New York has never been forgotten. When it tries to pass the hat in other cities it is a sturdy mendicant and should be sent back home.

IT'S JUST A LAW.

Everybody in Illinois except its prosecutors and, in particular, Mr. James E. Burke, state's attorney of Will county, seems to know that the state law against shaking down civil service employés has been violated. The jackpot is being collected by Horner lieutenants for the Horner campaign fund.

Maybe Mr. Burke does know the facts. He ought to. He saw the collector and talked to him. Reliable witnesses told Mr. Burke they saw the money on the table and talked with the victims of the shakedown. Maybe Mr. Burke can't believe the evidence brought to him by his eyes and ears, but that defense would not get him very far in a trial for wilful neglect of his sworn duty.

Perhaps the trouble with Mr. Burke is that he's afraid to do his duty. That isn't much of a defense, either.

Mr. Burke, it might be added, is not unique among the state's attorneys. The shakedown of the employés of the Joliet penitentiary has been duplicated in other state institutions. Perhaps somewhere in this state there is a prosecutor possessed of enough courage and initiative to put a stop to the racket.

GENTLE REMINDERS.

[Beloit Daily News.]

Akron has eliminated street signs and posters in public places which are emblazoned with "don'ts" and "By Order of the Police Department." Instead, Akron taxpayers are likely to run into something like this: "Bill—I would like to come back next year and find the park as it is today. Let's leave the ferns and flowers where they are." This new note of kindness and appeal to neighborliness is already having its effect, Akron authorities report.

Most teachers know it's better to tell a child, "Let's not run across the street," than to say, "Don't you dare run across the street." There's an implication that teacher isn't to do it either, so everybody's in the same boat. Other cities might profitably experiment with human nature by tacking up a few gentle signs. There's no telling what good might come of it.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

MAYBE YOU HAVEN'T HEARD.

We asked an artist why the eye of Gentileschi's Madonna, among the Italian paintings at the Art Institute, reminded us of Myrna Loy's, and he said:

* * *

The skeptics who thought we were jesting when we said that the old Italians kept their colors bright thru the ages by mixing pigments in egg yolk will also scoff at this: They got their blues by grinding up lapis lazuli, now regarded as a semiprecious stone.

* * *

Did you know that there is a form of musical composition that is played backward as well as forward? It's called a "mirror fugue." See the works of Johann Sebastian Bach.

* * *

A recent concert by the University of Chicago's Symphony orchestra was devoted to Bach's "Art of Fugue" [first time here]. It contained a "mirror fugue."

Have you heard that "scallops," much favored by fish eaters, are often not what they seem? The genuine "scallops" are the shell closing muscles of certain mollusks, but the demand is larger than the supply. Hence the synthetic "scallops"—chunks out of the tails of small sharks and the fins of skates. These pieces, simulating "scallops," are scooped out of the fish with a tool like a cooky cutter. The flavor is similar. . . . Anyway, this is the tale that has been whispered around the fish markets for 20 years.

* * *

True or false, we are fond of "scallops." But they should be eaten with temperance, for they are none too digestible.

IN MEMORY OF SCHUMANN-HEINK.

So short a time till Christmas Day
And Schumann-Heink has gone away!
Will Christmas Day be quite the same?
Our tears will dim the candles' flame.
Will snows that fall be soft and white?—
Heink won't be singing "Silent Night."

Dear lady of the golden voice
That cheered and made our hearts rejoice!
Her years were fruitful years and long,
She freely gave herself, her song
On earth. Perhaps God called her higher
To sing in His celestial choir.
Hark! From a distant starry height

Beauty Queens of Opera Stage.

I have heard practically all of the famous opera singers who have appeared in the Auditorium, from Patti down to date. Lillian Grenville, to whom you accord the honor of having been the most beautiful woman ever seen there, on the authority of Guy Hardy, had a wonderful profile and a wonderful style, but as a singer she left much to be desired. Aino Ackté, your personal nomination, was a very lovely person, of the rather icy, northern genre. She might have posed for the marble Galatea without makeup.

To me the most beautiful of them all was Emma Eames, the great American soprano. As the Countess in "Marriage of Figaro" she looked like one of Van Dyck's court beauties stepped out of its frame. As Pamina in "The Magic Flute" she was equally exquisite in an immensely different way. Again as Aïda, with bronzed skin [she was the first Aïda to make herself up], she was as strikingly beautiful in still a different guise.

State Street Santa, Where Are You?

I have been wondering what has become of Santa Claus.

He used to stand on every downtown corner at this time of year. His beard was white and his nose was red, and he was a jolly fellow.

Now he has vanished from State street. In his place are pallid young women in red capes; or, worse still, ultra jovial young men who call to the crowds such pleasantries as "Merry Christmas to you, everybody," or "If you can't say Merry Christmas, you can just smile." They even dance a little.

I wish Santa Claus, the real one, could be resurrected from the missions, in which he may have sought shelter. Benjamin H. Vanderveld.

FOR CHILDREN OVERSEAS.

O London Town's a sad town,
The children are not there,
No merry ringing laughter
Chimes in the Yuletide air,
The mothers finish their day's tasks
Unhampered—time to spare.

Oh London Town's a dark town,
The lights are dim and low,
Golden lights and silver lights
Have lost their guiding glow,
And men are groping blindly
Uncertain how to go.

The "Three Great Kings" of long ago
That Holy Christmas Night
Held gifts, not swords within their hands,
And followed one bright light
To that dim stable where He lay,
A peaceful blessed sight.

O London Town's a dark town,
But God of Love, take care
Of little children, lest they miss
Of joy, their tiny share.
On Christmas Eve, let His star shine
On childhood everywhere.

Have You Seen the Line Museum?

I window-shopped at the Line Museum in the Tribune Tower today, and was duly impressed by the exhibit, especially by the authentic [albeit much blue penciled] Quizzicussiana in the display of Line "copy." Altho prepared to seem modestly indifferent while hearing the populace exclaim over my masterpieces, I did not succeed—no one stopped! Quizzicuss.

The Tribune Editorial All-American football team [Dec. 5] has received its emblems, in the form of a brass ball pierced by a screw; to be worn in the buttonhole. The boys are as pleased as Punch, and now want to pose for a picture. CHARLES COLLINS.

"AND MY BONES ARE VERY BRITTLE."

NOW and then we learn of a young person, usually a child, whose parents complain that he has very fragile bones. Fractures are common and some of these boys and girls may be tied up in splints a month or so every year. Strangely enough, these accidents seem to occur without adequate cause. Perhaps this is the condition that Robert Louis Stevenson had in mind in his "A Child's Garden of Verses":

"I am very, very little,
And my bones are very brittle."

A slight fall, a twist of the body, or even kneeling may be sufficient to produce a catastrophe. The bones of the forearms and the legs are most frequently involved and—curiously enough—there may be slight if any pain. Furthermore, there is but minor damage to the surrounding tissues—muscles, blood vessels, and nerves.

Another characteristic of these addicts is that the white part of the eyes [the sclera] usually assumes a bluish tinge varying from a pale porcelain blue to a dark navy. Occasionally it will be exhibited only in spots. The color is generally present at birth, and may fade slightly as the individual grows older.

If one will study carefully the history of these patients some evidence may be uncovered that the tendency is a family affair. In other words, heredity plays a rôle altho all the members of the household may not be affected. Transmission may be via the father or the mother—not like the bleeding disease [hemophilia] which is handed down only thru the female side.

Still another accompaniment may be an inclination to deafness, which will rarely be noted until the age of 20. This is thought to coincide with the hardening of the skeleton which begins in early adult life—becoming firmer with the years. Rarely will these childhood mishaps persist into maturity.

Just what causes the episodes is not clear. It is thought that there may be some trouble with the parathyroids which intensifies their performance. In consequence, lime is extracted from the solid parts of the body and some physicians have advocated removal of part of these glands.

Little need be done other than to protect the child from falls. From the age of 2 or 3 until well past puberty, or between 3 and 17, the youngster should be wrapped figuratively in cotton. But repression with its countless "don'ts" may so limit activities that health may suffer and many medical men feel that a fracture or two should be risked. If caution can be taught it may not be advisable to restrict outdoor play. At any rate, it should not be necessary to purchase football regalia for them. As they begin to get about, these tots can learn to shield themselves and to avoid adventures in dangerous situations. Once growth has been attained they can sustain casualties and come out unscathed where most of us would experience severe injuries. This is due to the added hardness which develops later.

Along with exaggerated brittleness we must recognize that there is also a greater likelihood of sprains, all of which indicates that the structures around the joints are weaker, just as the bones are more fragile. When these victims reach manhood or womanhood they may be as husky as any one, altho they are not tall, but of medium height. Not long ago a well built, muscular truck driver exhibited in one of our clinics arms and legs which—under X-ray examination—disclosed ten healed breaks. The propensity had disappeared entirely. In fact, shadow pictures of his frame indicated exceedingly hard, firm bone.

The purpose of this discussion is to call the attention of parents to the essential safeguards which their children may require should the whites of the eyes appear decidedly blue. It must be recalled, however, that there are other causes for pigmented sclera—azure or other shades.

PROBABLY NOT THE CAUSE.

M. R. writes: Why does iron—either in pill or liquid form—cause my feet and arms to become numb, my eyes red, and my whole system groggy? I must take this substance as a tonic.

REPLY.

You are probably an air swallower. Eat iron. A diet rich in iron-containing foods may be of some value.

A TUBERCULIN TEST.

E. T. writes: What is the Mantoux test?

REPLY.

One of the tuberculin tests. A positive does not mean necessarily that tuberculosis is present. It indicates that at some time the individual has come in contact with the tubercle bacillus.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

[From Tribune Files.]

Dec. 16, 1914.

[141st day of world war; 107th day of present war.]

PARIS.—The French army is reported to have made significant gains near Ypres and the British-French forces are advancing on a wide front, particularly in Flanders, the Argonne, the Woevre, and Alsace.

LONDON.—King Albert's book, to be published tomorrow in behalf of the Belgian refugees' fund, contains messages and contributions from many prominent statesmen, diplomats, scientists, artists, and men of letters—including Rudyard Kipling and Joseph H. Choate, former British ambassador from the United States.

ROME.—Relations between Italy and Turkey have reached an acute stage and only an immediate public apology by the Turkish government can avoid a further breach. The Italian consul at Hodeida, where Turkish troops recently stormed the consulate premises, has taken refuge on board a warship.

BERLIN.—Reports from Constantinople say that a Mohammedan uprising has occurred in the Caucasus and that 50,000 armed Russian Moslems went over to fight against the Russians.

BERLIN.—High sources here admitted the failure of Germany's northern advance against Warsaw and the retreat of Germans into East Prussia.

ORGANIZE FOR TAX FIGHT!

Chicago, Dec. 13.—I indorse the sentiments expressed by Daniel E. Carroll in regard to organizing real estate owners. I am sure every one of the 186,000 will be willing to contribute whatever is necessary to fight for a reduction in taxes. I suggest that Mr. Carroll start at once so as to be ready before the next election takes place.

Those candidates who are not in favor of lower taxes should be defeated.

A letter or protest from property owners to the mayor and city council will help defeat "fixed levies" and budgets which exceed the present collectible taxes. We are all with Mr. Carroll.

A TAXPAYER.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—In reply to the article by Daniel E. Carroll entitled "Taxpayers Organize," I want to subscribe 100 per cent. JAMES J. NOLAN.

THE LOW LICENSE NUMBERS.

Dolton, Ill., Dec. 13.—THE TRIBUNE'S story ribbing Edward J. Hughes because he assigned No. 1 automobile license for 1940 to himself and the continued criticism of "I Gotta Drag" assignments of low numbers really annoys me.

Why all the criticism about the "I Gotta Drag" plates? One thing is sure and that is that they are on the cars in compliance with the law by being on Jan. 1.

Most of the chronic "kickers" [I said most—not all] about the low numbers come from the same people who do not bother even to apply for their license until about March and then only after several police warnings.

I am a Republican and my number was assigned to me several years ago by William J. Stratton. Since Mr. Hughes has been in office he has continued to reassign my number to me for which I am appreciative. Why shouldn't he assign No. 1 to himself? You and I and all the rest of us would do the same thing if in our power. My hat is off to a good secretary of state and few can deny it. No. 9196.

FINDS THE GOSPEL A HELP.

Springfield, O., Dec. 11.—Some time before his death O. O. McIntyre published in his column a letter from one of his readers who said, in part, that he had accustomed himself to repeat regularly verses 22 to 34 of the Gospel according to St. Luke, and that he had benefited so far as his needs demanded.

I have made it a point to repeat the verses daily from that time on. I am advanced in years, incapacitated for work, without income, yet I have been comfortably sheltered, abundantly fed, and respectably clothed without having appealed to any one for aid.

So magical have been the results of the practice that I am moved by gratitude to spread the good word as widely as I am able. GEORGE HORTON.

DUMB AIR MAIL SERVICE.

Oxford, Ind., Dec. 12.—I wish to protest the incompetency of postal clerks sorting air mail, or their deliberate misrouting of same. Since relatives arrived in Hollywood, Fla., a few weeks ago I have been using air mail for my correspondence. To date all of them, four or five, have been sent to Hollywood, Cal., and then to destination. The same was usually the case last year. At first I thought it an oversight and wrote the state name in capitals, but it did no good. Then I used a lettering pen and printed "FLORIDA" in letters half an inch tall across the envelope, but it did no good. I think letters are deliberately missent to California. READER.

MUCH IN A NUTSHELL.

Mendota, Ill., Nov. 28.—There is much discussion of the extraordinary burdens of cities, counties and states trying to meet relief demands of people out of work, but not much is heard of the cause of unemployment, which plainly stated is that people are not allowed to work, that they are driven from their ordinary vocations by laws, acts and conspiracies in restraint of trade and liberty, by labor unions and organized minority groups supporting demagogs and politicians with their labor relations boards, their wage and hour acts, their unemployment assurance strike payments, their farmer regimentation, not to mention executive orders and swarms of alphabetical bureaus ready to trap any one who attempts to do any business that might prove profitable or afford employment to the unorganized masses.

These conspirators fatten on the suffering of the poor whom they are forcing to rely upon the government by destroying opportunity, self-reliance and morale.

Swarms of union trappers and political scouts are around every corner; if one is caught doing a painting job he is arrested for lack of license; if caught hair cutting without a license he is fined or confined; if one seeks a regular job he is told to see the union boss, told to join some union in restraint of trade, to pay monthly dues, levies, etc.

A state constitutional amendment restoring liberty to work freely, viz: "All acts, laws or conspiracies to restrain competition or fix prices for commodities or services are invalid and prohibited," would solve 90 per cent of the relief problem. GEO. WESTON.

SELECTING JUDGES.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Your editorial today on the Municipal court was perfect. Yet it is only what every decent lawyer has known for the last six years.

The Bar association works diligently to improve the caliber of the bench by recommendations and by condemning unfit judges and aspirants, but where was the newspaper help in the 1938 election? Where was the Crime commission?

The Bar association will be criticized on its decision pertaining to the two judges now being investigated, but convicting evidence has not been presented to it. The association stated at the last election that one judge should not hold judicial office. While the Crime commission and newspapers sat idly by, the citizens voted candidates not recommended by the Bar association into the positions they now hold. LAWYER.

A UNIQUE RADIO STATION.

Urbana, Ill., Dec. 14.—May I suggest to J. J. E., who is "fed up on radio" as expressed in his letter of Dec. 8, that there is one station in the area that carries not a word of advertising all day long, and presents many hours of good music. He can hear it in Chicago, too. It is WILL, University of Illinois, 580 kilocycles. Programs are available upon request. U. P. D.

WHAT LIES AHEAD?

Chicago, Dec. 12.—Small, peace-loving nations today are threatened with physical, moral, and national extinction everywhere upon the European continent. National ideals of culture, private ownership of property, and the blessings of peaceful pursuits may become but memories of a civilization slaughtered by the ruthless banditry of bloodthirsty tyrants.

The latest victims of unprovoked barbaric assault are the peace-loving people of Finland. Now the challenge must be met at whatever cost and I am convinced it can be met by means short of war because an outraged public thruout the world can sever all relations with nations under brigand control, and by so doing teach the savages a lesson that must be taught. SAMUEL PETERSEN.

CRUISING TAXIS.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—To Santa Claus: Please find some place to put all the extra taxicabs that have been cruising in the loop in the last few weeks.

Could you give each newsboy a phone [the phone company has a lot of phones back from the bookies] and let them call a cab from a garage or parking lot in the loop?

Dear Santa, please give back the streets of Chicago to the motorist and the pedestrian. L. R. P.

P. S.: Maybe the cab company has a Santa of its own.

LEGALITY OF WILL.

Chicago, Dec. 7 [Legal Friend of the People].—Please send information regarding this kind of case. Mother died, left a will leaving all properties and money except $100 to the home-daughters. Another daughter [dead] left three children which the home-daughter raised. They have filed suit about the will. The out-of-town daughter received a letter from the three contestants' lawyers asking if she too wanted her name joined in protest with the rest. We want to know.

1. Would the out-of-town daughter gain any advantage in joining with the others in protest? If so, what? If not, why not?

2. The $100 was willed to the out-of-town daughter.

3. What steps should she take in this matter? S. D.

1. You state that they are cut off by the will. In absence of the will they would be heirs. It is so obvious that they would gain by setting aside the will that we are not sure that we correctly understand your question.

2. This is your first statement that they received anything under the will. The question whether they would take more as heirs depends on the size of the estate, on which you have given us no information.

3. Depends on facts that are not before us. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 26 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

2. What was the sea about which most of the fighting in the Crimean war took place?

3. In which city is Washington and Lee university?

4. Who wrote "The Last Days of Pompeii"?

Elaborate Ball Will Be Given for Helen Dick

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE ball the Albert Blake Dicks will give next Saturday night at the Blackstone hotel for their debutante, Helen, will be one of the most elaborate of several seasons. All debut balls nowadays have excellent music, which means an expensive orchestra or orchestras [the Dicks have engaged two], all have about the same kind of refreshments, but not all have the elaborate decorations that the Dicks are planning.

A New York architect is doing the actual planning and it is predicted that the ballroom of the hotel will be as changed for that night as it used to be in those heydays of a decade ago when every debut ball at the Blackstone hotel cost a small fortune. Really elaborate decorations cost at least $3,000.

Fifteen hundred invitations have been issued for the ball. Hostesses count on about half of those invited to a ball accepting, however, so there won't be too much of a crush. The pretty young debutante, who made her formal bow at a tea at the Dick home in Lake Forest in the early autumn, came home from the Finch school in New York before the Christmas vacation started because of ill health. She is all right now, tho, and will be able to take part in the holiday festivities and to return to her studies after the New Year. Her uncle and aunt, Judge and Mrs. Thomas Swan of New York, are coming west for the ball and to spend Christmas with Mrs. Albert B. Dick Sr.

Racquet Club Holds Opening Ball Tonight.

There will be no formal receiving line at the Racquet club's opening ball tonight, altho the governors and their wives and the members of the women's advisory committee and their husbands all will be at the party early to see that any new members are made to feel at home.

These hosts and hostesses, about 50 in all, are the only ones who are dining at the club before the ball, for no other reservations were accepted for tonight.

The ball is scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock, altho if it is like most formal parties it probably will not start until much later than that. Supper—turkey, pigs' heads, and other seasonal viands—will be served, buffet style, from midnight on. Mrs. Philip Maher will spend most of today supervising the installation of the Christmas decorations which she has planned.

Only members may attend the ball, at which there will be about 250 guests. Mrs. Clive Runnells, as chairman of the women's committee, and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, vice chairman, have been active in arrangements.

Wayne Hunt to Hold Dinner-Dance Tonight.

Members of the Wayne hunt and their friends will gather at the Dunham Woods Riding club tonight for dinner, followed by dancing in the adjacent former coach house. The coach house has been decorated for the occasion by caricatures of hunt members on their horses going over jumps. Their faces are enlarged photographs; their cardboard mounts are brightly hued. A stuffed fox will look on from over the mantelpiece.

The Monroe Cockrells are giving a small egg-nog party this afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn Bliss Snyder. Mr. Snyder is president of Northwestern university. The Cockrells' daughter, Miss Nancy Steele Cockrell, is returning on the 23d after a visit in Dallas, Tex., where she made her debut last year.

The South Shore Country club, which was founded in 1906 with Lawrence Heyworth as one of the founders, will be the setting for a dinner Mr. and Mrs. Heyworth are giving tonight to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

Breakfast Tomorrow for Jeanne McCartan.

Miss Nancy O'Neil and Miss Carolin Floto are entertaining at breakfast in the Pump room of the Ambassador hotel tomorrow for Miss Jeanne McCartan and John T. Connery II., who are to be married on Dec. 27.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Johnson and their son and daughter-in-law, the Norman B. Johnsons, are having a tea tomorrow afternoon for the William M. Pearces, who came in October from their home in Manila.

Mrs. Pearce, the former Helen Johnson, and her husband have been in the east for six weeks. They plan to spend the holidays with her parents and to return home toward the end of January.

Prof. and Mrs. Robert Harvey Gault, who had planned to be at home to their friends tomorrow afternoon, have postponed the affair because Dr. Gault is in the Evanston hospital as the result of an automobile accident.

On the House

Where you have a painted kitchen floor and would like to give it a coating which would keep footsteps from showing, try the "marbleized" way. Marks of all kinds aren't so easy to detect with this type of covering. After the ground coat has dried apply a second coat of a lighter tint. Before this is dry wad a piece of wrapping paper into a long roll and roll it over and over so that you disturb your painted surface and remove irregular patches from the second coat. This reveals the ground color. You apply the second coat to a small section of the floor at a time.

Opera Tea Gay as Fund Total Hits $105,000

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

Tea is a minor item at the teas given for the women's committee of the Opera Foundation fund. Every one who goes to them is so busy reporting the amount she has raised, and hearing what others have raised, she hasn't much time for the delicious refreshments that every hostess has provided.

Those who rushed away yesterday from Mrs. Walter R. Kirk's apartment without tasting the eggnog the hostess had prepared herself missed something especially good. She related her husband said it wasn't perfect, for she had mixed the egg whites in with the yolks, cream, sugar, and spirits, instead of just whipping them in on top, but every one who tasted it pronounced it the best she ever had had.

There was more than eggnog to raise one's spirits, however, for the amount announced delighted every one. The total is $105,000 now. The goal of $200,000 must be reached by Feb. 1 to insure opera for Chicago. An additional $20,000 has been given conditionally. Mrs. Richard T. Crane has invited the women to meet at her home on Friday, Dec. 29.

It was announced yesterday that gifts of $1,000 each had been made by Edgar Uihlein, Mrs. Charles S. Davis, Mrs. George B. Dryden, Mrs. Charles H. Morse, Mr. Morse, and one anonymous donor secured by Mrs. Charles H. Swift. Mrs. Benjamin Rosenthal gave $500.

The following have become foundation members by contributing $200 each: Mrs. Charles Renshaw, Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde, Mrs. Marvin Pool, Mrs. George A. Ranney, Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, Mrs. Leslie Cooke, Mrs. Thomas Heed, Marion Claire [Mrs. Henry Weber], Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. Wentworth G. Field, Mrs. John S. Coonley, Mrs. Howard C. Phillips, Arthur Heun.

Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Mrs. Charles Edward Brown, Mrs. Townsend McKeever, Mrs. Orville Taylor, Mrs. Stanley McCormick, Mrs. Samuel Ettelson, Mrs. Louis Eckstein, Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr., Baroness Beck, Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, Mrs. Arch Shaw, Mrs. Louis E. Yager, and Mrs. Robert E. Wood. Mrs. Allen Clement gave $50.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

For the engaged girl on your Christmas gift list: A set of six exquisite white flower perfumes in a white and gold simulated leather box with a tiny wax lily and fern spray on its cover. It looks for all the world like those beautiful little white and gold prayer books picturesque brides so often carry.

On the theory that the white flowers, denied color, are endowed with a deeper, richer scent than their brilliant sisters in the fields, the maker of this unusual presentation confines her efforts to capturing the scents of white lilac, the white carnation, white camellia, Russian white violet, bridal wreath, and white heliotrope. And we might tell you that she's done an admirable job of transiating those lush fragrances into a perfume.

And, speaking of perfumes, we'd like to remind you of another of quite different type. It's boxed in a case of warm red satin, shaped like a violin case, and the bottle is utterly beautiful. The perfume itself is a rare blend, with the curious, intriguing charm of gypsy music.

You'll decide that it has one easily identified note; next minute you'll decide it's entirely different and even more enchanting. It's got subtlety, lilt, and richness—and is the kind of a scent that appeals to the distinguished taste.

It's a remarkably lasting perfume.

Happy Atlanta Cheers First Film Premiere

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 15 (AP).—Happy, hoarse Atlanta found out what the shouting was all about tonight when a cross-section of its citizenry ran the flash bulb gantlet for the first public showing of "Gone with the Wind."

Under the play of gigantic spotlights, 2,031 persons walked between towering white pillars into Loew's Grand theater to see the picture that Hollywood hopes 200,000,000 are waiting to see.

Their entrance and that of the film's players brought here for Atlanta's first world premiere were made with a fanfare and flourish that provided an appropriate climax to two dizzy days that left the visiting firemen and the homefolks about equally gratified.

Highspot in the parade of "names" before the microphone set up in front of the false-fronted theater was the only public appearance of Margaret Mitchell during the three-day celebration which her phenomenal book brought to town.

With the Atlanta community fund in charge of the public sale of tickets, an effort was made to get a representative cross-section of the townspeople into the small theater, while Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer saw to it that the movies, business, the press and politics were properly represented.

U. of C. Christmas Pageant Will Benefit Settlement

Proceeds will benefit the children of the University Settlement house. Members of the audience have been asked to bring gifts of food, clothing, toys, and books.

Music Patrons Have Full Day of 2 Operas

BY CECIL SMITH.

Two operas full of comedy, sentiment, and folk melodies occupied the Chicago City Opera company yesterday, as tho the company wished to prepare by contrast for the white hot theatrical tragedies that bring the season to a close today.

A capacity audience, including hundreds of children, applauded the season's only performance of Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel" yesterday afternoon. A smaller, but no less pleased, gathering attended the evening's repetition of Smetana's Czech folk opera, "The Bartered Bride."

There is no gainsaying the perennial charm of "Hansel and Gretel," with its beloved fairy story and its exquisitely simple melodies cushioned upon an orchestration of Wagnerian richness. Kurt Herbert Adler, former conductor in German and Czech opera houses, and this season a strong addition to the Chicago City Opera company's roster of assistant conductors, directed the performance. The fact that he had not had an opportunity to conduct earlier in the season proved to be definitely our loss, for his debut assignment revealed both technical assurance and highly cultivated musical taste.

Elizabeth Brown, by now extremely stagewise after her experience in many character parts, found just the right swagger and bounce to make Hansel a wholly convincing boy. Miss Hoe, slender and pretty, was a demurely lovely Gretel, singing with keen appreciation for the exquisite melodies that kept falling her way.

Sonia Sharnova, as a triumphantly horrid witch, and Mark Love, as a rich voiced father, gave notable support in rôles too short to be entirely worthy of their ability. A well prepared cast was completed by May Barron, Janis Porter, and Helen Margolyne. The performance caught the holiday spirit and sent its listeners, young and old, away happy.

The presence of Mario Chamlee in the cast of "The Bartered Bride" [why was this his only appearance of the season?] brought new tone and style to the evening performance. Mr. Chamlee has a fetching way about him in light parts, and his English diction is about the best to be heard anywhere.

The English text was improved by the removal of several vulgarisms that damaged the first performance severely. The circus scene, with Robert Ringling as circusmaster and the Littlefield ballet in carefree spirits, was a splendid romp. Hilda Burke, Anthony Marlowe, and Douglas Beattie again appeared as Marie, Wenzel, and Kezal, and Henry Weber conducted.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Hoss Trading in Hollywood.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 15.—You can tell easily enough when the major studios are pulling their belts a notch more tightly, and dealing closer to the chest; the proof is manifest in the number of star loanout deals. . . . To clarify that for those who may be unfamiliar with the practice, it should be pointed out that studios contract their top stars on a basis of 40 working weeks.

By renting out or loaning out a star to another studio, the contract holder can relieve himself of a heavy weekly salary obligation during those slack periods when the star otherwise would be loafing on studio time.

Within recent weeks, we have had M-G-M's Jimmy Stewart working at Universal, Paramount's Dorothy Lamour working at 20th Century-Fox, M-G-M's Rosalind Russell working at Columbia, Warner's Ann Sheridan working at United Artists, etcetera.

Curiously enough, these loanout deals work out brilliantly for the players in a majority of instances. . . . Robert Taylor was on loan to Universal when he scored his first sock triumph in "Magnificent Obsession," the John Stahl success. . . . You have heard too many times about Gable and Claudette Colbert, both on loan to Columbia, winning academy awards for "It Happened One Night." . . . Ann Sheridan was "discovered" by her own studio, Warner's, when she appeared in a Universal picture.

Hedy Lamarr might still be just another foreign importation at Metro if she hadn't been loaned out to Walter Wanger who established her internationally in "Algiers." . . . "Stanley and Livingstone" didn't injure Spencer Tracy, loaned to Zanuck by M-G-M. . . . "Bachelor Mother" at R-K-O feathered the cap of David Niven, on loan from Goldwyn.

The case of Jimmy Stewart is the most remarkable instance of all. . . . Stewart, on successive loanouts, scored in Selznick's "Made for Each Other"; Capra's "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" and Pasternak's "Destry Rides Again." . . . In other words, M-G-M's young Mister Stewart was loaned out to three different studios—Selznick International, Columbia, and Universal—and in each instance was given extraordinarily effective rôles in scripts that I doubt his own studio could have created for him.

Twentieth Century-Fox, in "The Rains Came" did just as handsomely for visitors Myrna Loy and George Brent, and here the loanout situation was complicated to an unusual degree because even Director Clarence Brown, who made the picture, was on a lend-and-spend basis from M-G-M. . . . This deal undoubtedly was compensation for Zanuck's earlier loan of Tyrone Power to M-G-M in "Marie Antoinette," and was connected with an earlier hoss-swapping between these two studios, which found Metro's William Powell working over at the Zanuck assembly line in "Baroness and the Butler."

Occasionally a loan of a star results in a financial coup for the contract-holder. . . . Such a case was that in which Walter Wanger, holding the contract on Charles Boyer, agreed to rent him to Metro for Greta Garbo's picture "Conquest."

Boyer was guaranteed a relatively small weekly salary in his Wanger contract, but M-G-M, needing him badly, was over a barrel when it came to discussing a deal. . . . As a result I believe that Wanger got over $250,000 for the Boyer loanout, because the picture was shot slowly and the weeks kept piling up. . . . Wanger, I assume, gave Boyer a handsome part of the windfall over and above his contract wage.

The split-up of Sam Goldwyn and Joel McCrea resulted from McCrea's unhappiness at being used as the Goldwyn trading block. . . . McCrea, under contract to Sam, rarely worked at his home studio because in the meantime Goldwyn secured first call on the services of Gary Cooper.

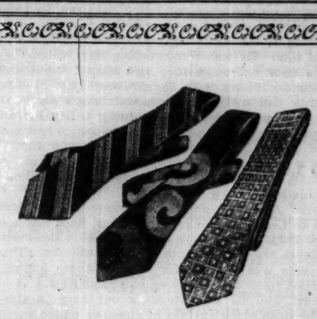
So all of the parts which McCrea could have handled went to Gary, and Joel was forever bobbing up at every studio in town on loanouts. . . . He made more moves than a horse owned by a gypsy, and McCrea finally got his outright release.

Swapping is a practice as old as the hills. . . . Nations have done it for years, and sometimes the results are satisfactory in an international sense, and on other occasions, secret swapping agreements result in such a barter as the Munich agreement.

In its best form, or at least its most harmless shape, swapping goes back to the small town practice of sending junior next door for a cup of sugar, or two eggs. . . . Nobody ever was hurt in those small town sugar loans, because when your mother returned the sugar, she made sure that she sent back a little more than she'd received. . . . If nations and individuals nowadays were that conscientious it would be a nicer place for all of them.

Hollywood swapping deals work out with reasonable fairness, when you consider that the borrower almost always is over a barrel and in no position to quibble over terms. . . . If you have a million dollar picture being held up because you need Joe Doakes to play opposite Heroine Sally Smirk, then it behooves you to get Doakes immediately and to blazes with the price.

The hoss-trading is done on that basis and the values are adjusted over the years. . . . Whether it will be indulged in so freely after the government steps into discourage alleged unfair trade practices is a horse of another color.



WHETHER he likes the boldly printed French foulards that appear in so many photographs of top-flight business men (in FORTUNE, etc.) . . . or whether he always is partial to perennially smart repp stripes . . . or whether he thinks there's nothing in such good taste as small British figures, you can be sure of finding ties here that he'll really welcome and enjoy wearing.

Danger on the Border

INSTALMENT XXX.

IN DANGER.

At the moment Kent recognized Collins as the man who had just plunged his weapon in Dillon's back, Leonard, from his nearby point on the trail, saw the prospector pitch forward into the shadow of the ironwood tree. And knew him for Dillon, the friend he had been seeking. It was that recognition which brought the unuttered cry to his lips. After that, there was a short interval which always remained blank in his memory. When he came back to realization of the things about him, he was standing over the dead body of his friend.

The shadows were as black as ink. The moonlight was a silver pool. The living were invisible upon its shores where the night hung like a thick velvet curtain. There was no evidence of any one here save the dead: crosses of bleached stones surrounding a still form. High overhead the rocks gleamed like pallid ghosts.

Dillon had fallen on his face, and in the final moment when life ebbed from his body, he had flung out his arms. There was a deep pathos in the gesture, as if at last, when he saw the thing for which he had been striving so long, he had reached forth to gather it in and the cessation of the movement left him rigid, a prostrate cross among the crosses which surrounded him.

There is an enormity in violent death which leaves the mind of the onlooker far behind, trying to overtake the event. Leonard stood motionless, unconscious of all other things, gazing at the body of his friend. The single fact which confronted him was so unnatural that it took him some time to grasp it.

Dillon was dead. He had died horribly. The weapon that had killed him was as grotesque as the end that had come to him in the hour when he had attained security.

Ordinarily Leonard's imagination left him untroubled, he was one of those fortunate souls blessed with vigorous strength and quick perceptions, to whom the unexpected is only a challenge, and sudden action—an invitation. But this thing was beyond his capabilities. This confrontation with the friend whom he had not seen for years, whom he had come here seeking, and had found so strangely. It excluded all other things from his mind. He found himself whispering:

" "It is Dillon. It is true." And he found himself standing over the still form, looking down upon it. He did not know how he had gotten there. Those moments while he had been walking among the graves in the moonlight were stricken from his consciousness.

His mind was beginning to go to work now, he was thinking more rationally. He dropped on one knee and lifted the head, he looked into the still face. There was no chance to do anything, death had come. He remained there, gazing at the white features. The rebellion which tragedy brings took hold of him. He was remembering days when they had been boys together, days later on, when they had shared the secrets of those ambitions which youth conceals with the jealousy born of diffidence, still later days when they had met less often, watching each other's varying progress. And he was remembering how unlucky Dillon had always been, it was the ill fortune of the other's physical frailty which had given Leonard his first feeling of protectiveness as a small boy, and that feeling had always endured.

He heard a sound, it was his own dry sobbing. He pulled himself together and rose to his feet.

This was murder. And the man who had done it was somewhere close by. Coolness came to Leonard with rage. He was, once more, alert.

Dillon was past help. There were other things to do, more important than mourning. There was the capture of the murderer. There was the safety of the girl who was waiting for him up there among the rocks. These things depended upon him. And he was in danger.

He was unarmed, and he was standing out here in the moonlight. What lay beyond the deep black curtain of shadows which surrounded this spot, he did not know. Except that the murderer was there, watching him. Death was waiting, hidden. Some one was stalking him, keeping an eye on every move he made, noting every change of expression in his face. And, if the lurker killed him, there would be no one to exact justice, Pat would be left alone, unprotected.

All of this had taken place during a passage of seconds. It was not more than a minute at the outside since Dillon had walked across the patch of moonlight and fallen on his face. And yet it was as if the time were long. For during its passing, death had come, security had gone, and danger had replaced it.

It was silent here, so still that the faint whispering of the wind among the rocks, where the Papago Indians believed the spirits of the dead came out to talk with one another after nightfall, was distinctly audible. Leonard's head was bowed.

"If you look around now," he told himself, "you will see nothing. And he is watching you. Use your ears. And do not move."

And then there was another sound beside the stirring breeze. It came from the direction of the branch canyon where the tanks lay at the head of the masses of broken rock that filled the bed of the gulch. It was a faint sound. It was the scraping of a footstep. He centered all his faculties, striving to catch it when it came again. And so he did not hear the man who was crossing the lighted space behind him until this one was close by. He was turning, when a voice said:

"You will stand still, please."

He had heard the voice before, he remembered it now—the same oily voice that had addressed him from the car when he was standing in the road at San Ilario. Kent stepped out from the shadow of the ironwood tree and stood before him with the automatic in his hand. He looked from Leonard to the dead man.

The blackness of his eyes was as flat as if they were painted spots. His face was a shade whiter than usual. His hair was startling in its contrast, it was as vivid as a blot of India ink upon a sheet of paper. His resemblance to a round bellied spider had never been so marked as it was now.

The footstep which Leonard had heard a moment before, sounded again. He saw Collins coming past the two rows of graves, and Kent said softly:

"It's the man they caught in San Ilario. One of the pay car murderers. He must have escaped."

He bent his opaque eyes on Leonard and his breath came hissing between his teeth. The smoothness left his voice and it grated like a rusty hinge. He pointed at the body with his left hand.

"Why did you kill this man?"

That caught Leonard off his balance, he started as violently as if the other had spat into his face. For an instant he was on the point of leaping upon this little man who suggested an unclean spider. It was not the fear of the weapon in Kent's hand that held him back, it was the thought of Pat waiting up there on the heights. If he were killed, if he were even temporarily disabled, there was no telling what might happen to her with this pair in the canyon. His knuckles tightened and all the muscles of his body hardened with the effort it cost him to restrain himself.

And if an impartial witness were to see him now, that one would believe he was the murderer!

Which of those two had done this? There was a look in Kent's face that infuriated him: a quiet satisfaction, as if the man had discovered something which he had not expected, something far more to his liking than a scapegoat on whom he could pin this accusation. This little creature with the pale face and swollen midsection was feeling very sure of himself just now, as one who finds himself, thru a sudden twist of circumstances, in complete control of a situation.

Leonard shifted his eyes to Collins, and he was surprised at the expression he found in the assayer's face. There was no doubt about it: this one was badly shaken, he was uncertain, sick with fear.

Leonard knew that he was looking at the murderer. But he knew that the other man was the more dangerous.

1. Green tinted pear half on chicory, center filled with pomegranate seeds, honey sweetened French dressing. Or fill the green tinted pear's hollow center with lingonberries or cranberries, cooked and sweetened. Or make it green pear filled with cream cheese and nut ball, with a red tinted mayonnaise-whipped cream dressing. Use cranberry juice, sauce or currant jelly to redden the dressing.

Or leave the pear untinted, if you prefer, place it on watercress, and treat it in one of the aforementioned ways.

2. Cinnamon rose apple. Cored and peeled apples, cooked in sugar sirup which has been colored and flavored with tiny red cinnamon candies, may be served on watercress or other greens, with a fruit salad dressing. They need no stuffing, but may be stuffed, if you wish, with cream cheese and nuts, diced celery, nuts, and dates.

3. Red fruit flavored gelatin ring mold or star mold, large or individual size, on watercress, with fruit salad dressing. Mixed fresh fruit may be used in the gelatin, or may be omitted if the gelatin is made with fruit juices and has a distinctive fruit flavor of its own.

4. Christmas candles. Cook slices of pineapple in mint sirup, which has been tinted with green coloring, until they have taken on the color and mint flavor. Chill and arrange on lettuce or chicory. Stand a section of a slender banana in the hole in each slice to make the candle. Cut a notch in the top of the banana to hold a red cherry, the candle's "wick." Serve mayonnaise or whipped cream dressing separately.

5. Fresh fruit combinations. Alternate slices of avocado and redskinned apple on lettuce. Serve with French dressing.

CHRISTMAS POULTRY OR MEAT GARNISHES: A red and green color scheme may be carried out here, too. But if you are using a red and green salad or dessert, forget about the Christmas colors in garnishing the turkey platter. Too much color scheme cancels its own effectiveness.

1. Whole sugared cranberries or whole berries drained from their juice, placed alternately around the platter with sprigs of parsley.

2. Alternate red and green tinted apple rings or pear halves.

3. Whole pickled pears, tinted red, and parsley.

4. Cranberry sauce in green tinted pear halves or green tinted pineapple slices.

5. Baked Rome Beauty apples, filled with cranberry sauce and placed on parsley or watercress.

Don't overdo the fruit garniture. And don't let the garnish crowd the platter so much that the man of the house finds it a nuisance in carving. If the platter isn't large enough to provide plenty of room for the decoration as well as for the meat, it's better to confine the color accent to one side of the plate and not try to make a border or fancy arrangement.

Sometimes it will be better not to use a garnish at all. The hostess is her own best adviser in this matter.

Knitted Ensemble for Skiing

BY JEAN MACDONALD.

Spanish stocking worsted is used to knit this warm ski set. Large needles are used for the muffler and a set of double pointed needles for the cap. It is a quick and simple knitting job, and less than half a dozen balls of Spanish are required. The ribbing is of the K2, P2, K4, P4 variety for the scarf, and rigging and stockinet stitches are combined for the cap.

For instructions in knitting the muffler and cap, No. X-403, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue New York City.

Gogarty Talks.

Dr. Oliver St. John Gogarty, standing before the great sweep of scarlet that curtains the avenue windows of the Boulevard room at the Stevens, made quips, talked about the literature of Dublin, told Irish tales, quoted a limerick of Joyce's and a poem or two of Yeats to members of the English Speaking Union yesterday. Some quotes from his talk:

"I judge civilization by the length of the week-ends—the longer the week-ends the higher the civilization. (The rest of the week's business in England is done on Wednesday at lunch, he added.)

"We have in Ireland a hangover from the Homeric life."

". . . Dublin, where they say we take life easily and often."

Merchants of Agra.

It may have startled diners at one of Chicago's most conservative and fashionable clubs to see two turbaned Hindus, one wearing a scarlet and one a yellow head dress, in the dining room one evening this week. They were the brothers Loll from Agra, India, and they were brought to the club by members who had been royally entertained by them on a trip to India. Dispensing hospitality to the Hindu visitors was something of a problem, however, for they eat no meat, no eggs, no fowl, and drink no coffee and no alcohol.

* * *

The Lolls, who are jewelers, have with them hundreds of brocaded boxes containing Hindu jewelry; rough-cut precious stones sunk in gold bracelets and necklaces, the backs of which are exquisitely enameled; also unset carved emeralds, Indian sapphires, and rubies.

What Are the Signs of Love? Unmistakable!

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"How can a girl who has the good luck to be popular with several boys know when she is in love with one of them? Are there any cues to guide her? INQUIRER."

There is one very definite cue to the "real thing" in love. When you like one's company more than you like any other's company, you're marked by Daniel Cupid. When you'd rather ride a bus top with one than go limousining with another, the bus top escort is riding high in your heart.

When he tells you that he wishes he had a million to buy you things he would like to endow you with, and you believe he means it and are thrilled at his saying it, you are well into love's tangle.

When you never know a moment of boredom with the young man, when he is sufficient stimulus to bring out the best that's in you, your heart freedom is in grave danger.

When the telephone rings and you run to answer and your voice goes flat when it is not His, he has you going all right.

When you are alone and what he said keeps ringing in your ear, that's a sign of great good will toward the chap.

When you attend functions at which he is not present and you think of him and wish he were there, that's a sign, too.

When you have common interests and they take on a new thrill for you, again that means a heart interest.

If you are just as enthusiastic about him when he is away from you as when he is right along with you, that is another good sign.

When you are with some other man and you find yourself thinking favorably of what John would do under such and such circumstances, John has made the fatal dent, you may be sure.

And so on. There are dozens of signs which indicate plainly enough that out of all the boys who squire you about there is one who has, or will have, top place with you. Even without cues, your heart sends you a wireless explaining all.

Catholic Women.

The Rev. Albert A. Durant will speak on "Religious Trends in the Theater" before the Catholic Woman's league this afternoon at 410 South Michigan avenue. The Rosary College glee club will sing carols.

The Housewife

No home manager ever has enough trays. Therefore they make excellent gifts. We came across some unusually good looking ones that are brand new, well made, and yet moderately priced. They're of tôle [painted tin] in charming colors: a sort of tangerine red, a deep blue, a scarlet, etc. In the center is a hand painted decoration of fruits, and the sides are built up to keep glasses from sliding off. They are a convenient size, too, and lastly—an excellent feature—they are not a bit heavy.

EDITH WEIGLE.

Pastel charmers come in satin, velvet, and fine thin warm wool. These last beauties look like frothy handfuls of whipped cream, but they keep the shivering mystery fans warm and snug even at 3 a. m.

White fur jackets with long comfortable sleeves are equal to the task of keeping even the sissies warm, or the fresh air fiends when they sit up for orange juice on the old outdoor sleeping porch.

New this season are the ensembles of printed silk gown and padded bed jacket, all made of the same floral printed silk. And this same obliging lounging idea comes with the jacket teamed with neat tailored sleeping pajamas.

Feathery heating units, the pastel colored and the bright shades of marabou and ostrich feathers, are unexpectedly warm despite their fragile appearance. Sleeves are long and the necklines high.

Challis prints in the padded jackets are other finds, some of these having contrasting colored linings. For amazingly small sums you can buy the neat chenille ribbed bedjackets and matching muff slippers. These come in pink, blue, white, maroon, and deep blue. It's the same stuff that made all those good looking long robes.

For about the same amount of cash there are the white, pale pink, and pale blue jackets made of trick cotton that looks like fur.

Keep the army of late readers warm and snug, as well as decorative, with any of these festive finds now on display.

A Bed Jacket Solves Many Gift Problems

BY RHEA SEEGER.

There are many who would appreciate bed jackets. They include the thousands who read in bed regularly, the temporary invalids, lucky persons who have their breakfast in bed daily as well as on Sunday, and the few who will have a chance to take a day off and get caught up with some reading during the winter weeks ahead.

The shops and stores are showing grand collections, from the circumspectly tailored affairs in silk, satin, and crêpes, to the superchill chasers made of velvet, exquisitely hand quilted and padded for further coziness.

Civic Choruses.

Children from the Civic Music choruses will sing Christmas carols at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon at the Chicago Woman's club.

According to CULBERTSON

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The following hand, played in a rubber bridge game, contains a neat dummy reversal play which I think is interesting. It required a fortunate lay of the cards, but it was the only chance, and certainly worth a try.

2 spades	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 diamonds	Pass	5 spades	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

"Opening lead, heart queen.

"I felt a trifle sad when I saw such a duplication in the minors [I had hoped for at least one doubleton], but the hand looked interesting. I had a diamond loser and needed two club discards, so my plan was to discard one on the ace of hearts and to try to utilize dummy's last trump for the other one. This would require four entries into dummy, but the heart lead helped and the diamond jack might hold.

"I won the heart lead with the ace, returned a heart, and ruffed with the six. The spade ace followed and then a small diamond to the jack. This lost to the queen so I had to decide now whether to win the club return in my hand and try the trump finesse for the jack, or to try to drop the jack on the next lead. I finally decided to try for the drop, so won the club with dummy's king and trumped the third heart with the seven. The trump nine to the queen brought the jack and the last heart was trumped with my last trump, the king. Now a diamond to the king in dummy and the ten of trump drew West's last, and afforded a parking place for my losing club. Since the diamond suit broke, the hand was made.

C. H., Ohio."

The analysis of this hand is so clear that further description from me would be only superfluous. The hand was well played and stresses the valuable point that dummy's trumps can often be put to better advantage than is made of them by the average player. In this case it will be observed that South, the long trump hand, deliberately reduced himself by ruffing dummy's losing hearts, thereby establishing the North hand, which held only three trumps, as the master trump hand. The crucial point of play in hands such as this is to find out about key finesses very early, so that if they go wrong, salvaging operations will be in order. In this case the immediate lead to the diamond jack was important in that the losing finesse forced declarer to the winning line of play.

Most declarers, I am afraid, would simply take out trumps, then pray about the diamond finesse and break. I highly recommend that readers study this deal as an excellent example of that valuable process of play known as "dummy reversal."

Slump in the Shoulder Area Ruins Figure

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Curves in a woman are all right in their places, but the wrong place to encourage a curve is in the shoulders. Rounded shoulders throw the body completely off balance and spoil the fit of the most perfectly tailored gown. If you want to look like a "droopy chicken," go right ahead slumping over your desk, or relaxing, awkwardly as you dance.

But bear in mind that to hold the shoulders back stiffly is not the way to a graceful, easy carriage. Shake off tenseness when you throw back your shoulders by shrugging them. Here are the exercises:

1. Circle shoulder joints without raising arms. Let movement come from muscles around shoulders, rather than from moving arms. Ten times—forward and backward.

2. Raise arms to shoulder level, elbows bent. Clasp fingers of both hands, one within the other, firmly. While resisting with left arm, try to pull left arm across the body to right. Reverse, trying to pull right arm across body to the left, while resisting with right arm. Then move arms from left to right, trying to pull arms apart. You'll feel a strong pull on the muscles between shoulder blades.

Says Event Has Lost Original Purpose.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 15 [Special].—Owner Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals, who wields a powerful voice in the councils of the National league, today fired the opening shot in a campaign to give baseball's annual interleague All-Star game back to the fans of the nation.

Breadon wants the players who will appear in Sportsman's park in the eighth annual game next summer to be chosen by vote of the fans—the system employed by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE when it originated the series in 1933 as an attraction for the World's Fair throngs. More than 500,000 votes were cast and cash prizes totaling $750 were awarded by THE TRIBUNE to the fans who came closest to naming the teams and the starting batting orders.

Fans' Support Enthusiastic.

When the game was suggested by Arch Ward, Tribune sports editor, it met with strenuous opposition from National league officials, who protested that rearrangement of schedules was an insurmountable obstacle. When this opposition had been overcome and club owners noticed the enthusiasm of the fans, both in the poll and the game itself, officials of both leagues agreed that the game should become an annual feature.

The first game was played on July 6, 1933, before a capacity throng of 49,000 fans in Comiskey park and demands for tickets were many times that total. Fans who had studied the performances of their favorite players thru the years leaped at the chance to have a hand in choosing the teams and buyers of unreserved bleacher seats formed long lines the night before.

Win on Ruth's Homer.

The American league Stars won, 4 to 2, on a home run by Babe Ruth, who, altho he was nearing the end of his spectacular career, justified his choice by slamming the ball out of the park with a mate on base.

When the club owners gathered for their annual meeting the following winter they disregarded the suggestion of THE TRIBUNE that the choice of teams remain in the hands of the patrons and instituted a system whereby the two managers of the pennant winners the previous season should choose the All-Star aggregations. The inevitable result was charges of favoritism and complaints from the fans thruout the country that the lineups chosen were, except in a few instances, duplicates of the ones which had met in the world series the previous October.

A few of the sixteen club owners realized that an error had been made and suggested that the original method of choosing the teams be revived, but the majority insisted that the managers knew more about what the fans wanted than the fans did themselves.

Fans' Interest Lags.

The fans' waning interest was reflected at the gate in succeeding years, as what had been planned by THE TRIBUNE as a gala holiday for the fans—an opportunity for them to see the idols they had placed on the field themselves in action—became merely a struggle for supremacy between the two leagues. The managers, fearing rebellion in their own ranks, loaded the lineups with stars from their rosters and allowed players who had huge fan followings to remain on the bench thruout the afternoon.

The situation reached its climax last summer when Morrie Arnovich of the Phillies, who was leading the National league in batting at the time, was not called upon by Manager Gabby Hartnett even as a pinch batter.

States His Stand.

Breadon's announcement that he would lead a campaign to return the method of player selection to its original status is the first indication that the club owners have seen the light at last. He said he had mentioned the idea to Ford Frick, president of the National league and plans to bring it up at the February meeting of the major leagues.

"I feel that selection of players for the All-Star game should be returned to the fans," Breadon explained. "The contest, as it is, is one of the important sports events of the year, but I think it could become an event of much greater importance and much wider interest if the fans were allowed to exercise their judgment and cast their ballots for the men they feel are best fitted to play the various positions. I know it would make this game mean a great deal more, both to the fans and to baseball."

The boy was confined to St. Joseph hospital for the second day today, but great improvement was noted in his condition.

DUDAS SCORES OVER COMISKEY; LEW JENKINS WINS

Title Bout Set

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP).—Plans for a 15 round world welterweight title bout between Champion Henry Armstrong and Pedro Montanez of Porto Rico were announced tonight by Promoter Mike Jacobs. The bout will be held in Madison Square Garden Jan. 24.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 15.—Steve Dudas, veteran heavyweight trial horse, ended young Patrick Edward Comiskey's string of victories at 25; Lew Jenkins, Sweetwater, Tex., lightweight, knocked out Billy Marquart, and Al Davis dropped Tippy Larkin in the fifth round of a scheduled 10 rounder in a thrill packed program before 17,116 in Madison Square Garden tonight. The gross gate was $43,521.75.

The Dudas-Comiskey bout went the full eight rounds, with one judge and Referee Eddie Joseph voting for the veteran, but the Jenkins-Marquart battle, likewise scheduled for eight rounds, was terminated abruptly in 1:34 of the third. Both results were upsets.

Both Are Booed.

Dudas did little in the first four rounds except duck and flail wildly with both hands. Comiskey did all the fighting, tho he looked sad trying to figure out the best way to get at Steve. Both were booed.

The only knockdown came in the fourth when Pat dropped Steve with a right for an eight count. Comiskey had an edge in the fifth, but Dudas' left had him bleeding freely. Dudas won the sixth, seventh, and final rounds. Comiskey was a 3½-1 favorite.

Marquart, a 9-5 choice, outweighed Jenkins eight pounds. Jenkins had a tough time getting started, but started looping his right over in the second and drove Billy into a neutral corner as the third opened, putting him back on his heels with a right to the mouth. Lew came back with a terrific right to the head. Marquart backed across the ring and was nailed with a roundhouse right on the side of the head that sent him into the ropes and half way thru them.

Comes Up Too Late.

Lew tore in and rained blows on Billy's head. Referee Eddie Joseph pulled Lew off Marquart and the Canadian straightened up, but Lew was on him in a minute slamming away with both hands and Marquart sagged into the ropes, his head rolling drunkenly. Another right and he fell. He leaped up just as the count was completed and wanted to continue, but the referee ruled it was over.

TOM KENNEALLY KNOCKED OUT IN 3D BY ED MURRAY

Tom Kenneally, 1934 C. Y. O. heavyweight champion essaying a comeback following his knockout three months ago by Bob Nestell, suffered another knockout last night when Ed [Tipperary] Murray, Cleveland, O., heavyweight, put him away in 46 seconds of the third round of their scheduled six round bout in the White City arena. Kenneally was down twice in the third round, once for a five count, and again for a two count, before he was counted out. Kenneally weighed 200 pounds to 211 for Murray. The latter had fought twice before in Chicago, beating Selman Martin last Aug. 2 and William Snell on Dec. 1.

In the semi-windup, Billy Seward of Ingamor, Mont., weighing 131½ pounds, punched his way to victory over Tom Parker, 135 pounder from Lexington, Ky. The fight went the full distance of six rounds and Seward was awarded a unanimous decision. The attendance was 858, with receipts of $708.91. Other results:

Laws of Compensation.

There are laws of compensation
Which we're prone to overlook—
When we cannot sink in slumber
We can always read a book.

Sometimes a friend will hurt us,
But another comes along
Who can cheer us when we're worried
And everything seems wrong.

We are shut away by illness—
There is nothing much to fear,
Every bloom a note of cheer.

So let's kill that old self-pity;
Get a smile upon your face—
For the one bad thing that's happened

Old Maid.

Somehow or other, spinster jokes
There's never been anything comic to me
About any one's growing old.
Maybe it's just that I happen to know
An old maid or two on my own—
Happen to know their stories

I've known many a girl who Passed up the chance
To marry and marry well
Because she felt that her duty lay
Toward others; then I could tell
Of quite a few who, yielding their "chance,"
Kept on in an office or store
That a younger brother or sister
Might have just a little bit more.

No, somehow or other I never laugh
At jokes on the so-called "old maid,"
For into my mind come the mem'ries
Of many a girl who weighed
Her happiness 'gainst her duty,
Then found herself on the shelf
Because she couldn't get over
Putting others ahead of herself!

NELSON, KUNES TIE FOR MIAMI LEAD WITH 137s

Harrison and Guldahl Turn In 138s.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 15 (AP). — Gene Kunes of Philadelphia, who earns his winter expenses by operating a Florida driving range, finished after dark with a four under par 66 tonight to tie National Open Champion Byron Nelson at 137 for the 36 hole lead in the $10,000 Miami Open golf tournament.

Nelson had whipped out his second consecutive subpar score, a 69, apparently unscrambling an eight way deadlock for the lead, when Kunes came out of nowhere. It was so dark that the Philadelphian, former Canadian Open champion, took fully five minutes to line up his last putt, a mere two footer.

Kunes, who recently landed a new job at the Holmesburg Country club, Philadelphia, was completely overlooked after shooting a first round 71 yesterday when 22 golfers broke par 70. Playing after a gusty wind had subsided somewhat, he shot a 33 on each nine in a magnificent display of golf.

Guldahl Gets 138.

He missed only one green all day as he got five birdies and one bogey on the seventh, where he three putted.

Kunes won the Canadian Open in 1935 for the only important tournament victory of his career.

Ralph Guldahl, two time National Open king, who had been tied with Nelson and six others with 68 for the opening round, slipped slightly to a 70 for 138, where he was a stroke off the pace with E. J. [Dutch] Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., who carded his second 69.

Dick Metz of Chicago, another of the first round leaders, dropped back a notch to 139 as he scored a 71. Even with him were Johnny Revolta of Chicago, whose 69 kept him in the thick of the fight; Benny Shute, former P. G. A. and British Open champion, and young Ben Hogan of Whitepplains, N. Y. Shute and Hogan scored 70s after opening 69s.

There is a 10 way tie at 140, including Sam Snead, who distinguished himself with a 6 on a par 4 hole; Stanley Horne of Montreal, Jimmy Hines of New York, and Clayton Heafner of Linville, N. C. All of them added 72s to the 68s with which they shared the lead yesterday. Tommy Armour got back in the running with a 69, and others at the 140 spot were Joe Turnesa of Rockville Center, N. Y.; Sam Byrd of Philadelphia, Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Boston, Jimmy McHale of Saranac, N. Y., and Henry Picard, current P. G. A. champion.

Scores of 149 or better were necessary for the 85 low professionals to qualify for the final 36 holes in the greatest exhibition of scoring ever seen in this tournament. Last year the low 60 qualified with 152.

Wilford Wehrle of Chicago, with 69—72—141, continued to lead the amateur brigade, with Earl Christiansen, Miami amateur, second at 145.

C. E. (Tiny) Thornhill, whose ouster was voted last night by the Stanford board of athletic control. Thornhill had expected the action, but refused to resign under pressure.

Vote Ouster of Thornhill at Stanford

Palo Alto, Cal., Dec. 15 (AP).—The Stanford board of athletic control voted tonight to oust C. E. [Tiny] Thornhill as football coach.

The board voted, 7 to 2, to recommend to Stanford's president, Ray Lyman Wilbur, that Thornhill's contract not be renewed when it expires in April. One student representative and one faculty representative took the side of the man who has been connected with the school in a coaching capacity for 18 years, the last seven as head coach. As head coach his teams went to the Rose bowl three times.

The board's recommendation is virtually always carried out. No mention was made of a successor.

Earlier Thornhill had broken a long silence to declare "I am fully aware I am about to be fired." He added he did not intend to resign.

KITTS FIRED BY RICE.

Houston, Tex., Dec. 15 (AP).—Jimmy Kitts, whose teams won Rice institute its only two Southwest conference football championships, lost his job today.

Two miserable seasons, with material which coaches and fans felt should have been versatile enough to win another title, led to his dismissal, which was followed by the resignation of Lou Hertenberger, former St. Edwards university guard who had been Rice's line coach for 10 years.

Reveals No More.

T. J. McCants, athletic chairman, said he was not in a position to say if any more coaching staff changes were forthcoming and that he could not name any possibilities as successor to Kitts.

"We have heard from many persons who are interested, but nothing has been done nor will be done for a while yet."

Some of the names which have been mentioned are those of Dr. Jock Sutherland, former Pittsburgh coach; Raymond Wolf of North Carolina and Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt.

GRINNELL COACH OUT.

Grinnell, Ia., Dec. 15 (AP).—Trustees of Grinnell college announced today they had accepted the resignation of Guy Lookabaugh, head football coach at the school the last four years. No reason was given. Neither the board nor the coach would comment.

Lookabaugh's teams won 10, lost 23, and tied 2. Lookabaugh graduated from Oklahoma A. & M. and served on the coaching staff of Kansas university and as athletic director at Tahlequah, Okla., Teachers' college before coming to Grinnell.

He did not disclose his future plans. No successor has been named.

Nebraska Loses to Hoosiers, 49-39.

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 15 [Special].—Illinois easily defeated Carleton college tonight to win its third victory, 46 to 15. The sharpshooting of the Illini's captain, Bill Hapac, was the feature of the game. He totaled 18 points on eight baskets and two free throws.

Illinois' defense was practically impenetrable thruout, holding Carleton to a single field goal, by Capt. Quint Nelson in the first half. His score came after 15 minutes had elapsed.

Hapac connected on his first three shots of the evening to start the Illini toward a 25 to 5 half time margin. For his 12 minutes of work in the first period, Hapac connected on six out of nine shots from the field and made good two free throw attempts. Lineups:

Capt. Marvin Huffman, star Indiana guard, was banished from the game during the first half on four personal fouls. All the Indiana points were scored by five men, Jay McCreary, Herman Schaefer, Bill Menke, Paul Armstrong, and Dro. Harry Pitcaithley led the Nebraska attack with 11 points. Lineup:

LOYOLA WINS, 43-33

Loyola university's basketball team won its third game of the season last night but was given a scare by Kalamazoo college before emerging with a 43 to 33 victory in the Loyola gymnasium. The Hornets, defending Michigan Intercollegiate conference champions, were behind, 25 to 6, at the half, but came back after the rest period to give Loyola one of its hardest fights in recent years.

Kalamazoo moved up to 40 to 28 with five minutes to play, but Loloya handled the ball without attempting to score, and switched from a zone to a man to man defense to stop Kalamazoo's long shots.

George Wenskus collected three baskets and seven free throws to be high scorer with 13 points. Vinny Graham and Danny Cahill added 10 apiece to Loyola's total, while Bill Drier led the visitors with 11 points. With both teams collecting 16 baskets Loyola's high average at the free throw line was the difference between victory and defeat. Whereas Kalamazoo got but one free throw, Loyola hit 11 out of 16, Wenskus getting seven out of eight. Lineups:

PLAY WESTERN AMATEUR GOLF IN MINNEAPOLIS

Event to Be Held Week of July 9.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The 1940 amateur tournament of the Western Golf association, one of the oldest events in the game, returns to the central states again, according to a decision made last night at the annual meeting and election of officers in the Chicago Athletic association. The tourney will be held at the Minneapolis Golf club the week of July 9. Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., who won this year's championship in Oklahoma City in July, will defend his title.

The junior tournament, which is truly national in scope, has as yet no definite date or site, altho the University of Iowa and Northwestern university are the leading bidders for this show, which brings together the best golfers between the ages of 16 and 20 in the country. Sam Kocsis, younger brother of Chuck and Emerick, won the 1939 crown. The W. G. A.'s plan of holding the junior on university courses has been one of the most forward moves in the history of the association.

The Western open, won by Byron Nelson at Medinah this year in one of the most successful tournaments in the organization records, will be held at the River Oaks club in Houston, Tex., Feb. 16, 17 and 18. It is the first time the tournament, which will carry a purse of $5,000, has been held on the winter circuit.

Practically the entire 1939 ticket was reëlected, the only exception being the election of Bing Crosby of Hollywood as one of the directors. Crosby was unable to attend the meeting.

Reëlected were President Leslie L. Cooke of Bob o' Link; Vice Presidents T. C. Butz and James L. Garard of Indian Hill; John G. Searle of Glen View; Treasurer William T. Woodson of Flossmoor, and General Counsel Carleton Blunt of Glen View. The holdover directors are T. P. Heffelfinger of Minneapolis, J. Harvey Irwin of Atlanta, Ga.; E. B. Roberts of Cleveland, and Ben Ames of Oklahoma City.

Evans Presents Putter.

Chick Evans, eight times winner of the W. G. A. amateur crown, presented to Cooke the putter with which he won his first title. Dean Jim Rollins of Northwestern spoke on the association's Evans scholarship for caddies.

Washington State at Michigan State.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

While Northwestern's basketball stock soared after Thursday night's victory over Washington State, the Wildcats will receive a more complete test this evening in Patten gymnasium from Pittsburgh. The Panthers have met Northwestern 10 times since the series was started in 1927, and the teams are deadlocked. Pittsburgh, however, has won the last two games, trouncing Northwestern, 48 to 37, last year.

Pittsburgh brings four regulars from last year's victorious quintet, the newcomer being Eddie Ziolkowski, 6 foot, left handed sophomore who was leading scorer of the freshman quintet a year ago. The other players are Ed Straloski, forward, who scored 162 points in fifteen games last season; Mel Port, center; Sam Milanovich and George Kocheran, guards.

Lack Distance Marksmen.

Pittsburgh quite probably will have more speed than Washington State, and it is just as certain that Pitt's defense will be better than that of the Cougars. Northwestern had no difficulty winning from Washington State, despite lack of height, because the Wildcats could feint the defense and also block out guards to drive under the backboard. In close, Northwestern ran up its lead. The Wildcats' most glaring weakness in recent seasons has been the lack of consistent marksmen from out in the court. Long distance shooting wasn't needed Thursday. It may be tonight.

Koble carried the brunt of the attack last year, but his peculiar one hand shot was not effective from much farther out than 15 feet. With Koble graduated, this year's team seemingly will depend on Dick Klein, sophomore from Fort Madison, Ia.

Coach Nelson Norgren's Maroon team has won its first two games, beating Chicago Teachers, 42 to 26, and rallying to overcome North Central, 31 to 25. Lineup:

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The St. Michael basketball team overthrew Mount Carmel, defending champion, as the sixth annual St. George invitational tournament opened last night in the St. George gymnasium, Evanston. Reaching high above his struggling opponents, Peter Wegler, 6 foot 7 inch St. Michael center, dropped the ball into the net to give his team a 33 to 30 victory after one minue and forty seconds of a sudden death overtime period.

At the end of the fourth quarter, the score stood 30 to 30. After a few seconds of extra play, Paul Rose flipped in a free throw for St. Michael but, under the rules, two points are required to end it. Then Wegler saw his opportunity and turned it into the winning goal.

Leo then emerged from an equally spectacular game with St. Patrick's. After relinquishing a slim early lead, Leo regained an equally precarious margin in the fourth quarter only to let it go again. In the last 20 seconds of play Jim Farrell, Leo guard, took a rebound, swung under the basket, and rolled in the points that gave his team a 32 to 31 victory.

Hammond Team Wins.

In a preliminary engagement, Catholic Central of Hammond, Ind., qualified for a place in the tournament by defeating Holy Trinity, 36 to 24. Play will continue with afternoon and evening sessions today and tomorrow. The semifinals will be run off Monday evening and the championship will be decided on Tuesday.

Mount Carmel was seeking permanent possession of the tournament trophy, having won it the last two years in succession. From the start, however, the defending champions realized that the going would be tough.

Game Close Thruout.

Tho Mount Carmel forged ahead, they were never able to draw a safe lead, their advantage at the half being 16 to 15 and at the third quarter, 25 to 23.

As the fourth period began, Manus Keane tipped in two points to give Mount Carmel a little more leeway. Then St. Michael's opened a drive that carried them to a 30 to 27 lead, Peter Kuhn and Ed Knuth getting the points. In the last two minutes, Mount Carmel came back to tie it up on a free throw by Ziggy Czarobski and a field goal by Gordy Lomasney. Then came the brief overtime and out went the defending champions.

WALLACE RICE, LECTURER AND AUTHOR, IS DEAD

Succumbs at 80 After 6 Month Illness.

Wallace Rice, author and lecturer and a resident of Chicago since 1861, died last night in the Grant hospital after an illness of six months. The immediate cause of death was uremia. Mr. Rice was 80 years old.

Wallace Rice.

A contemporary of two generations of Chicago authors, writers, and poets, Mr. Rice himself was the author, co-author, editor, or compiler of more than 90 books or pamphlets.

He was born at Hamilton, Ont., the son of John A. Rice, who was owner successively of the old Sherman House, the Grand Pacific hotel, and the historic Tremont hotel, and who was the collector of a notable library of Americana.

Chicago Resident 78 Years.

Mr. Rice was brought to Chicago when he was 2 years old and had made his home here since. He was educated at the grammar school of Racine college and at Harvard, and was admitted to the bar in 1884.

Law, however, did not appeal to Mr. Rice, and a few years later he began his literary career. He started out as a newspaper reporter, eventually becoming drama critic and book critic. He was known for his immaculate dress, which included a silk topper. He worked on virtually all the papers of his time and also did free lance writing.

His first book was published in 1898 and his first play in 1906. He specialized in writing pageants for historical occasions, among them one celebrating Illinois' centennial of statehood. His prolific pen also turned out hymns, songs, and ballads. He wrote special histories of utilities, hotels, and the stock exchange. With the late Clarence Darrow he wrote "Infidels and Heretics."

Heraldry One of His Hobbies.

Flags and heraldry were among Mr. Rice's hobbies. He designed the Chicago Municipal flag and the Illinois Centennial flag.

From 1917 until shortly before his death Mr. Rice was a free lance writer and contributed to hundreds of magazines, newspapers, and other publications. In manner and style he was a sophisticate. In writing he was a purist and a stickler for the finer shadings and phrases.

Mr. Rice was an honorary member of the Tavern club and a charter member of the Cliff Dwellers and of the Society of Midland Authors.

He was a widower, and lived at 2701 Wilton avenue with his sister, Miss Frances V. Rice, who helped him compile numerous books of verse. Miss Rice and his sons, John A. Rice and Benjamin A. Rice, survive.

ICC SUBMITS FINAL PLAN FOR NORTH WESTERN

Wipes Out Equities of All Stocks.

The interstate commerce commission yesterday issued in Washington its final plan for the reorganization of the Chicago and North Western railway. The next step is to get approval of the plan from the United States District court at Chicago, after which it would be submitted to the various security holders for their consent.

R. L. Williams, president of road.

Under the plan the bonded indebtedness of this road, which was once rated as one of America's premier sources of investment, is slashed and the equities of the common and preferred stockholders are wiped out.

The I. C. C. plan provides that the capitalization of the road be reduced from $547,567,847 to $449,974,309 and that fixed interest charges be reduced to $3,382,079 from the road's $16,549,749 fixed charges in 1938. However, provision is made for contingent interest charges of $5,989,529 which would depend upon earnings.

Total Charges 17 Millions.

Total charges would be $17,778,207, but this figure also includes' sinking funds, funds for additions and betterments, and provision for new preferred stock dividends as well as the fixed and contingent interest.

Fixed Interest debt, $117,019,576; contingent interest debt, $105,058,904; preferred stock, $106,996,076; common stock, no par, taken at $ 00 a share, $100,899,773.

Commenting on the decision to wipe out the value of the common and preferred stocks, the commissioners subscribing to the report said "they were deeply sympathetic with an attempt to find some method by which the present stockholders might be lawfully afforded a continuing interest in the property," but in their opinion the equities of both classes of stock had "no value."

Stocks High For Years.

With these words, the value of the common stock which from 1901 to 1916 never sold below $100 a share, was eliminated. In 1902 the high for the common stock was $271 a share. As late as 1929 the high for the stock was $108.50. It was quoted yesterday at 50 cents a share on the New York Stock exchange.

From 1901 to 1930 only once did the preferred stock sell below $100 a share and that was $87.50 in 1923. In 1931, the preferred had a high of $113 a share and a low of $13.50. It was not quoted yesterday but on Thursday there was a quotation of $2 a share.

Once one of the "old faithfuls" among American railroad money makers, the North Western was overwhelmed by its financial difficulties in 1935. On June 28 of that year it filed a petition in the United States District court in Chicago asking permission to reorganize under section 77 of the bankruptcy act.

It laid the blame for its troubles to the "extended depression, unprecedented drouth, great growth of competing forms of transportation, high taxes, restoration of wage cuts, and the increased cost of materials under the operation of NRA codes."

The last year in which the road had a net income was $8,343,191 in 1930. It earned a profit of $15,599,056 in 1929. Since 1930 the road has never been able to earn its fixed charges. Its losses for 1938 and 1937, respectively, were $15,275,983 and $14,811,098.

Last Dividends in 1931.

Last dividend disbursements were $350 on the preferred stock and $2 on the common, both in 1931. From 1878 to 1931 the road had never ceased paying a dividend on its common and preferred.

The North Western has 8,383 miles of main line track in Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, and Wyoming. It was the first road in the country to start super high speed passenger train service with its first "400" that went into operation in January, 1935, between Chicago and St. Paul-Minneapolis.

Fred W. Sargent resigned as president of the road on May 26, 1939, and his place was taken by Rowland L. Williams, formerly with the Chicago and Eastern Illinois road.

MOST TREASURY NOTE HOLDERS TO TAKE NEW ISSUE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—The treasury made a preliminary estimate tonight that holders of $1,300,000,000 of the $1,378,000,000 of treasury notes refunded this week had accepted new securities in lieu of cash. Holders of $1,017,000,000 of the old notes chose new 2¼ per cent 12 to 14 year bonds, and holders of $283,000,000 of the old securities chose new 1 per cent 4½ year notes. Those who accepted neither of the offers will be paid in cash when the old notes mature March 15. The old notes bore 1½ per cent interest.

Urges Revision of Laws Taxing Oil and Estates

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Changes in taxation methods touching oil, utilities, and inheritances were discussed yesterday at the closing sessions of the Illinois Tax forum in the Palmer House.

Taxation of oil, which has grown in three years into a $100,000,000 a year business, in terms of gross output rather than the old property tax method, was recommended by George W. Mitchell of the Illinois tax commission, which sponsored this statewide forum.

Significant oil production is confined to some 15 counties and 50 townships, Mitchell said, yet the value of the 335,000 barrels daily production is equal to the total of property taxes levied for all local government in the state outside of Chicago.

Urges Change in Law.

"Unless legislation amending the present system of taxation of oil properties is enacted," he added, "neither the state nor 98 per cent of the local governments will feel to any appreciable extent the effect of adding over 100 million dollars to the potential property base.

"It seems that both as a matter of practical expedience and of public policy it would be better to tax oil production in terms of the gross output in lieu of the property tax on the market value of the leases.

"In the first place it offers definite, readily available measure of tax liability to both the administrator and the taxpayer. Second, a production tax is far better adapted to the rapidly changing conditions in the oil fields. Third, it would be a tax policy consistent with a conservation policy, in contrast to a property tax which under good administration places a rather heavy premium upon the earliest possible exploitation of resources."

Estate Tax Injustices.

Attorney Franklin S. Edmonds of Philadelphia, past president of the National Tax association, discussed injustice thru inheritance taxation.

"People are worked up over the general tax situation," he said. "This is bringing a new element into American life. It was Benjamin Franklin's thought that it was a hard government that took more than 10 per cent of the national income. In the second Wilson administration we were taking 9 per cent of the national income, and now it is 23 per cent. It would be 30 per cent if we were on a pay as you go policy.

"This is bad for the people because it is destroying the principal of estates, which is needed for the development of inventive ideas. Ours is a changing, dynamic country, and we need risk capital. When the federal government takes 250 millions out of estates and uses it for current expenses it is destroying this resource.

"We can get out of this depression, as we have come out of others, by the combination of ideas and capital which takes up unemployment in a new direction."

Taxation of Utilities.

Ronald B. Welch, research director of the National Association of Addressing Officers, said only four states have a poorer system of public utility taxation than Illinois. He advocated assessment by the state commission.

The forum closed without adoption of a definite program, altho there appeared to be a unanimity of opinion that there should be greater uniformity in tax methods. In the matter of delinquent taxes, it was stated that more effective administration of the present laws would solve that problem. There was no action taken toward organization or another meeting.

MEXICO FACES EMERGENCY AS PESO DECLINES

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 15 [Special].—"A condition of emergency" was declared in effect today by the Mexican government in foreign exchange after the peso fell another 12 centavos. The peso depreciated to a new low of 5.82 to the American dollar.

The peso has dropped from 4.90 to the dollar since Dec. 8. The Bank of Mexico suspended dealings in the unit last Saturday.

The move was interpreted by bankers to mean that the Bank of Mexico and the government would permit the peso to find its own level in a free market. Solution to Mexico's pressing economic problems would probably determine the peso's new level, business men said.

Since the outbreak of the war, Mexico's failure to find outlets for petroleum, her principal export product, has been reported to have strained the national economy. Mexico no longer can sell petroleum products in Europe, formerly her largest market, because of war conditions.

CANADA CHANGES TRADE RULES IN MARKETS ABROAD

The Canadian foreign exchange control board yesterday modified its regulations to permit Canadians to switch holdings of securities in United States markets. The securities acquired as a result of the switch must be of similar character to those sold.

Formerly Canadians could switch holdings bought prior to Sept. 15, 1939, when the control board began operations, but having made a switch and taken the resultant securities into Canada, they could not export them again for another transaction. Now stocks and bonds purchased since Sept. 15 may be exported and sold, under rules to prevent Canada from losing foreign exchange credit by the transaction.

Brokerage circles predicted Canadian trading on United States markets will increase as a result. Most of the increase in trading, they said, will probably be in Canadian government securities.

Chicago Firms Act Favorably on Dividends

Several Chicago companies were included among the many enterprises which declared dividends yesterday on their stocks. Among these were Mandel Brothers, department store; Harris, Hall & Co., investment bankers, and the Chicago Molded Products corporation, manufacturer of plastic products.

Leon Mandel, vice president and general manager of Mandel Brothers, said that because preliminary reports on earnings to date, in the opinion of the management, justify the payment of a Christmas dividend of 25 cents a share, the directors declared such a disbursement, payable Dec. 27 to stock of record Dec. 19.

He added that if final results on 1939 operations justify it, it is the intention of the directors to declare an additional dividend in February or March. The last previous dividend was 45 cents on March 20, 1939.

Harris-Hall Dividends.

Directors of Harris, Hall & Co. declared a dividend of $1.50 on the common stock and an extra dividend of $2 on the preferred, both payable Dec. 27 on stock of record Dec. 21. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 was also declared, payable Jan. 2 on stock of record Dec. 21.

Under the charter provisions of the company in any year that a dividend is paid on the common stock the preferred stock is entitled to $7 a share as against $5 when no dividend is paid on the common. This is the first payment on the common stock since Dec. 20, 1936, when an initial payment of $3 a share was made.

Chicago Molded Products directors declared an initial quarterly dividend of 12½ cents and an interim dividend of 12½ cents, both payable Dec. 27 on stock of record Dec. 20.

Auto Output Will Reach New 1939 Peak This Week

Automobile production this week will reach a new peak for 1939 with output estimated at 117,805 units and will continue along the same level next week, Ward's Automotive Reports said yesterday. Production last week totaled 102,905 units. The Chicago Automobile Trade association reported used car inventories of Cook county dealers rose to a 43 day supply on Dec. 1, against a 35.4 day supply on Nov. 1.

Maj. Macomb Will Head Illinois Engineer Group

CHICAGO INDUSTRIAL DISTRICT SOON WILL GET TWO NEW PLANTS

Two additions to Chicago area industry were announced yesterday by Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce. One development is by the Buda company at Harvey and the other by the Glidden company at 502 West Moffett street.

Lyon said the Buda company, since 1912 a supplier of Diesel engines for the United States government, will go into production at once on Diesel engines for aircraft. War department regulations forbid details. It is expected that additional plant capacity will be required to handle the work. Lyon said business men should hail the building of aircraft Diesels as a long step forward in the association's plan to establish Chicago as an aircraft and allied products manufacturing center.

The Glidden development will consist of an additional million bushel capacity soybean elevator to be located on the company's property on switches of both the Belt and Milwaukee railroads. The elevator will cost about $175,000, to be completed March 1. The Glidden company, which makes paints, varnishes, and other products, operates a soybean crushing and oil plant in the Chicago area.

MANY HOLDERS ACCEPT FIELD'S STOCK OFFER

Marshall Field & Co. announced yesterday that holders of 108,984 shares of its 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock have accepted the exchange offer made in connection with the company's reorganization plan.

The plan provided that each share of 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock would be exchanged for ½ of a 6 per cent cumulative preferred share, second series, and 2¾ common shares. To provide for this the company will issue 54,492 of the second series preferred and 299,706 additional shares of common. After the exchange there will be outstanding 232,732 shares of preferred of both series and 1,943,762 common shares.

The company said the outstanding preferred will be reduced further thru acceptance by certain stockholders of its offer to buy up to 82,732 shares at $83.50 a share after payment of accrued and current dividends amounting to $10.50 a share. The company hopes to reduce the amount of the preferred outstanding by about $5,400,000, which would reduce preferred dividend requirements about $324,000 a year.

DEEP OIL WELL REVIVES CITY'S HOPE OF RICHES

Centralia, Ill., Dec. 15 (AP).—Oil exploration in the city of Centralia pool, dormant for more than a year after a sensational boom which brought riches to this city, was revived today when a well began flowing from the deep-lying Devonian formation.

Until the Lilly and Associates' No. 1 Dave Gum well started producing oil early this morning all the production in the pool's 550 wells had been from the shallow Benoist and gypress sands. The Devonian formation had not been explored. The latter was found productive in the Gum test from 2,902 to 2,906 feet.

No production figures were available on the new well, but an operator connected with the test predicted it would produce 500 barrels daily without acid treatment. It had enough gas pressure to flow naturally.

STEEL INDUSTRY SETS A RECORD IN CONSUMING SCRAP

The nation's steel mills, blast furnaces, and foundries consumed 4,025,000 gross tons of iron and steel scrap last month, the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel reported yesterday. The consumption set a new monthly record for both scrap and steel, according to the institute, and compares with 3,974,000 tons in October, the previous record month, and 2,732,000 in November, 1938.

In the first 11 months of the year, the report disclosed, a total of 31,201,000 tons of scrap was consumed by domestic plants, compared with 19,117,000 tons in the corresponding 1938 period.

Scrap exports totaled 336,775 tons in October, and 3,098,369 tons for the first 10 months of the year.

Cotton Prices Rebound; CEA Scans Trade

Cotton prices yesterday rallied from an early decline to close as much as $1.35 per bale higher following Thursday's slump of $1.60 to $3 per bale. At the same time the Commodity Exchange administration, supervisor of commodity markets, opened an investigation into the recent spectacular rise in cotton prices.

Dr. J. W. T. Duvel.

Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, head of the CEA, was in New York to watch trading developments on the final day of dealings in the December, 1939, delivery. However, the CEA announced that preliminary reports from various markets indicated there had been no irregularity.

Sharp Upturn Causes Inquiry.

It was reported that the CEA's interest was aroused by the upturn of nearly $10 per bale which has occurred since early November. The advance went almost unnoticed outside the trade until this week, when prices shot up as much as $4.50 per bale during the two sessions on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The December contract was closed out quietly at noon yesterday at 10.99 cents per pound. On Nov. 1 the contract closed at 9.05 cents in New York, or $9.70 per bale lower than it closed yesterday.

Traders attributed the sharp advance of the last few weeks to the loss of cargoes at sea, better demand from American cotton mills, and the increased requirements of belligerent nations.

Silk Advances Sharply.

Almost unnoticed in the excitement over the cotton market was silk, which shot up sharply again yesterday. Some contracts advanced the daily permissible limit of 15 cents per pound for the third consecutive day.

Rubber futures, dropping as much as .43 cent a pound, and tin, down as much as 0.35 cent a pound, were outstanding on the losing side of yesterday's commodity trading. Cocoa and wool tops also declined. Santos coffee, hides, and copper were irregular. Cottonseed oil chalked up gains running to 0.18 cent a pound, and sugar futures managed to push ahead.

SEVERAL FIRMS ANNOUNCE BONUS FOR EMPLOYES

Several companies announced bonus payments to employés yesterday.

P. Ballentine & Sons, Newark, N. J., brewers, announced that all salaried employés will be given a 15 per cent bonus. Bausch & Lomb Optical company, Rochester, N. Y., announced it will pay a wage dividend of more than $100,000 to its 4,000 employés.

United States Shoe corporation announced yesterday that it will give the 3,600 workers in its plants at Cincinnati, Chillicothe, and Greenfield, O., a week's vacation with pay beginning Dec. 23. Earlier in the year the company paid a bonus to all employés.

SALES OF PIANOS SING CHEERIEST NOTE IN DECADE

Piano shipments struck the highest and cheeriest note of the last 10 years during November, the National Piano Manufacturers' association reported yesterday.

Shipments of the instruments totaled 14,393 units during the month, an increase of nearly 30 per cent over November, 1938, and the largest monthly volume since 1929. During the first 11 months, 96,423 pianos have been shipped, compared with 77,702 in the corresponding months last year.

WHEAT PRICES CLIMB TO NEW TWO YEAR PEAK

Poor Crop Forecast for Argentina.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$1.01⅛	$ .99½	$ .68⅜
Corn	.57	.56⅝	.51⅛
Oats	.38¾	.38¼	.28⅝
Rye	.70½	.68⅜	.45
Soy beans	1.19	1.16	.81¼

Wheat prices soared yesterday to new high levels for more than two years after a small decline at the opening. The December future advanced about 4 cents from the early low and sold at $1.05 before the urgent buying was satisfied. The May delivery brought $1.02⅝ and the July contract sold at $1 a bushel at one time.

Heavy profit taking caused a reaction from the best prices, but the close on the Chicago Board of Trade was at gains of 1⅞ to 2 cents. Winnipeg wheat futures were about 1⅛ cents higher at the close.

Expectation that an official Argentine crop report to be issued last night would confirm recent pessimistic private guesses on the wheat crop of that country had much to do with the upturn in American markets, brokers said.

Import Quotas Discussed.

Reports that the United States tariff commission has begun an investigation into imports of wheat and wheat products to determine whether import quotas should be set attracted attention. Some brokers construed this as indicating the department of agriculture feared such a small domestic crop in 1940 that Canada might be called upon to make good the deficiency.

Dollar wheat at leading markets is reported to be resulting in larger sales of stored and loan wheat by farmers. Northwestern cash grain handlers expressed the belief that if the price advanced to $1 at country elevators there would be large quantities of wheat for sale.

Soy Beans Advance Sharply.

Soy beans advanced in a sensational manner and closed 3 to 3¼ cents higher, with all deliveries at new high prices for about two and one-half years. There was nothing in the news to account for the upturn, brokers said, other than a decline in country offerings.

About 1,000,000 bushels of American corn were sold for export yesterday and the removal of hedges against the grain had some effect on the market. Futures closed ½ to ⅝ cent higher. Oats gained ⅜ to ½ cent, and rye was 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents higher at the close.

ARGENTINE CROP SHORT

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 15 (AP).—The ministry of agriculture tonight announced the Argentine wheat crop for 1939-'40 would be 56.3 per cent short of the 1938-'39 yield.

The estimated crop, based on the area under cultivation and the probable yield per hectare, was fixed at 4,000,000 metric tons [148,000,000 bushels].

The drop was attributed to extreme weather and the consequent restraint in sowing. The ministry's figures showed 1,700,000 hectares [approximately 3,400,000,000 acres] were not planted.

FIRMS INDICTED FOR COLLUSION ON PWA WORKS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Attorney General Murphy announced today that a federal grand jury in New York had returned indictments charging restraint of trade against 9 corporations and 10 individuals in the electrical lighting fixture business.

Murphy said that the defendants were charged with conspiring since 1935 to defraud the United States in connection with numerous building projects financed largely by PWA.

He said that the defendants had secretly agreed to bid collusively and that as a result they had repeatedly obtained numerous contracts for furnishing lighting fixtures for schools, hospitals and other public buildings at high and inflated figures."

T. W. A. AIR MAIL RIGHT GRANTS RECOMMENDED

An examiner for the Civil Aeronautics authority yesterday recommended the granting of air mail certificates on flights of Transcontinental & Western Air between Chicago and New York and Chicago and Kansas City. Approval of the recommendations would pave the way for improved passenger service between Chicago, New York, and the west, Paul E. Richter, executive vice president of the air line, said.

Direct thru service between Los Angeles, Chicago, Pittsburgh, and New York, unbroken by connections, would follow granting of the mail certificates by the C. A. A., according to Richter.

Treasury Cuts Holdings of Government Loans

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—The treasury reported today that its government investment accounts made net sales of $3,844,350 of government securities during November.

Tell Morgan's Handling of Phone Finance

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—A penciled memorandum agreed to 19 years ago in the private library of J. P. Morgan was offered to the monopoly committee today as evidence that the House of Morgan has controled the underwriting of nearly $2,000,000,000 of bonds issued by the American Telephone and Telegraph system.

George Whitney.

George Whitney, senior partner in J. P. Morgan & Co., identified the memorandum as partly in his handwriting, but insisted it did not establish a lack of competition in the banking field.

"The investment banking business is as competitive as the dickens," he said in answer to whether procedure has been in the public interest.

Split Up Participation.

The memorandum, dated May 6, 1920, provided for the percentages that various investment bankers were to receive in future security issues of the telephone company and its subsidiaries.

Whitney said "the library" conference included J. P. Morgan, present head of the Morgan bank; the late Henry P. Davison, then a Morgan partner, and the late Harry Winsor, then head of the old investment banking house of Kidder, Peabody & Co. of Boston.

Under the agreement, Whitney explained, Winsor's house was to distribute 30 per cent of future telephone issues, in New England, while the Morgan company would handle the remaining 70 per cent in "the rest of the country."

Relationship "Exclusive."

Leon Henderson, securities exchange commissioner, had told the monopoly committee that an "exclusive financial" relationship had existed between Morgan and the American Telephone and Telegraph company since 1906. Morgan financing was credited by Henderson for growth of A. T. & T. from a "relatively small enterprise" in 1906 to an organization that now lists "assets in excess of $5,000,000,000 and almost 16,500,000 telephones."

The securities commissioner said there was a question as to whether "the capital was provided at the lowest cost and in a manner most in the public interest," as there was no competitive bidding.

Banker Control Alleged.

Dr. N. R. Danielian, Harvard university economist associated with the recent federal telephone investigation, testified that bankers' commissions on telephone securities since 1906 amounted to "between 30 and 40 million dollars."

The witness, now director of research for the senate civil liberties committee, testified that prior to 1906 securities of the telephone company were sold "thru competitive bidding."

Then, he continued, an agreement was made with J. P. Morgan & Co. for long time financing without open bidding. Danielian said this soon resulted in "banker control" of the telephone company and its subsidiaries.

Ask Broader Inquiry.

The committee received an appeal to broaden its banking inquiry from a "small group of large houses" to include problems of 6,000 members of the Investment Bankers' association scattered thruout the country. Emmett F. Connely of Detroit, president of the I. B. A., said the inquiry should deal with "the local problems affecting the flow of capital into industry," including financial problems of "the hinterland."

Connely said that "both large and small business men advocated changes in the federal securities act and a chance to testify on this, taxes, and similar problems.

NOVEMBER RAIL REVENUES 14.7% ABOVE YEAR AGO

Operating revenues of 90 Class One railroads in November climbed 14.7 per cent over November, 1938, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

Preliminary reports from the roads, which represent 82.3 per cent of total railroad revenues, showed a gross return of $301,908,421 for the month, against $263,142,760 last year. The same railroads reported revenues of $325,299,256 in November, 1930.

Freight revenues showed a 17.6 per cent increase over last year, while passenger revenues declined approximately 3 per cent. Freight revenues totaled $253,585,768 for the month and passenger gross was $25,020,990, against $215,554,823 and $25,941,017, respectively, in November, 1938.

CHICAGO STORE SALES EXCEED DISTRICT GAIN

Chicago department store sales in the week ended Dec. 9 crept well ahead of the average gain for the 7th federal reserve district, and the district stayed ahead of the average national gain, a report issued yesterday showed.

Department store sales thruout the nation, as reported to the federal reserve board, climbed 4 per cent above the year ago level. The 7th district, including Chicago, with a 6.4 per cent gain, reported a 5 per cent increase.

For the four weeks ended Dec. 9, the national average gained 1 per cent, while the 7th district showed approximately the same increase.

EXPORT TRADE DROPS IN THIRD MONTH OF WAR

Early Rise Reversed During November.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—United States merchandise exports dropped sharply in November, the third month of the European war, after having risen unexpectedly during the first two months of the conflict.

Secretary of Commerce Hopkins announced today that shipments of American goods to foreign countries totaled $287,000,000 last month, compared with $323,168,000 in October.

Effectiveness of the British blockade was demonstrated by the fact that Germany, which took $12,210,000 worth of American goods in November, 1938, got only $2,000 worth last month.

Sell Less Cotton and Grain.

Only preliminary estimates of what happened in November trade are available so far, but Hopkins said that, on a commodity basis, the loss was caused by curtailed exports of cotton, grain, and tobacco. On a geographical basis, he said, it resulted from smaller purchases by England, Canada, and the Scandinavian countries. No figures are available yet on November imports.

Latin America, which the Roosevelt administration hopes will make up any trade losses in Europe, bought more last month, but not enough to overcome the declines elsewhere. Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Venezuela, Cuba, Mexico, and the Netherland West Indies bought $52,749,000 in November, compared with $50,654,000 in October and an average of $35,825,000 a month in the first eight months of the year.

Britain Reduces Purchases.

The United Kingdom, which recently indicated it would cut down on such items as American fruit while it buys American airplanes, dropped its total purchases here last month to $31,026,000, compared with $51,951,000 in October. France's $13,187,000 November purchases in the United States were about $800,000 more than in October.

Compared with October, November purchases were somewhat higher for Belgium, the Netherlands, Russia, Rumania, Spain, and Japan. Lower totals were turned in by Denmark, Finland, Norway, Sweden, Italy, Canada, Australia, Philippine Islands, and South Africa.

Canada, the United States' best customer next to England, curtailed November purchases to $49,018,000

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 15.—The stock market today closed with gains and losses about equally divided. Final prices represented modest improvements over the day's lows as a result of better support in the last hour, based on the strength of commodities. Fractional changes on either side ruled at the close. Volume was 704,480 shares.

A feature of the list was the lively demand for air transportation issues. Several made new highs for the year. Eastern Air Lines stood out with a rise of 1½ points to 28⅛. United Airlines, up ¾, took volume honors. Pan American Airways rose 1¼ points.

Steels closed mixed in a narrow range. United States Steel, Republic, and Crucible gave ground, while Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Bethlehem worked higher. Chrysler stood out in the motors with a gain of nearly a point. General Motors added a minor fraction.

Douglas highlighted the aircraft section with a gain of 1⅝ points. Others closed mixed. Most leading oils made fractional gains. Merchandising issues gave ground. United States Rubber featured its group with a rise of 1⅛ points.

Climax Molybdenum cracked about 7½ points, the result of reports that the state department had decided to extend to molybdenum exports its moral embargo on aggressors who bomb civilians. Climax mines 85 per cent of domestic production, which in turn is 92½ per cent of world production. The ban was said to be aimed at Russia, which has been a big importer, and which, in turn, is believed to be supplying Germany. Molybdenum, hardener of steel, is a vital element in armaments. If the embargo is put into effect, American exports of this metal will be reduced 50 per cent, it is estimated.

Narrow price changes ruled in the rarrier and utility sections, with interest limited.

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—Scandinavian bonds took a fresh turn higher today on news Finland had put out a "feeler" to Russia for peace. Finland 6s, on sale of two bonds, rallied 1¼ to 36½. Gains of one to two points were registered in Norway 4½s and Norway 4s. Several Danish issues moved up fractionally.

Small advances predominated in the domestic corporate list. Minor gains and losses were mingled in the United States treasury division.

Chicago & North Western 4¾s rose a shade in face of the interstate commerce commission's final reorganization report, sharply scaling down fixed charges.

Chicago Stocks.

Prices were irregular yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Turnover totaled only 24,000 shares. Three issues set new highs for the year, altho sales in each were light.

Commonwealth Edison, most active issue, gained ¼ point at 31⅜ on sales of 1,800 shares. Central and South West and Illinois Central advanced fractionally. Wahl, General Finance, Midland United preferred, and Chicago Yellow Cab finished slightly lower.

United Air Lines and Central and South West preferred reached new highs for the year on gains of ½ and 1 point, respectively. Kentucky Utilities junior preferred reached a new peak for 1939 at 45⅛ but receded to close ½ off at 45.

Bank Stocks.

Most issues were steady in bank stock trading yesterday, altho one advanced while another declined. Northern Trust gained two points to close at a bid price of 577, while Harris Trust dropped two points to 310.

REVEALS BIG PAY TO OFFICERS OF FAILED CONCERN

Insurance Chief Testifies at Investigation.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—E. W. Clark of Mason City, former Iowa state insurance commissioner, told a monopoly subcommittee today that a group of principal officers in the defunct Royal Union Life Insurance company received $1,219,649 in salaries, expenses, and commissions between 1927 and 1931. Clark was asked to appear before the committee as a witness in the committee's study of insurance systems, including reinsurance practices and mergers.

He named A. C. Tucker, president of the Des Moines concern which failed in 1933; Charles E. Bowers, and F. L. Tucker, brother of the president, as among the principal recipients.

Terms Management Deplorable.

Clark testified that he learned of these payments in an examination of company affairs shortly after he was appointed commissioner by Gov. Dan Turner in 1931. The examination, he said, disclosed "deplorable" management of the company.

Tucker was paid $55,000 a year as president, Clark related, altho he was "never there" and spent most of his time in California and Texas. He received a total of $299,037 in the 1927-1931 period, the witness said.

F. L. Tucker, his brother, was paid $178,015 in the same period, and Bowers, a "kind of assistant" to the latter, received a total of $302,240, altho his salary was not more than $12,000 in at least two of the year, and less in one of them, Clark said.

Paid as Commissions.

Most of the money paid to Bowers and F. L. Tucker, Clark testified, was paid them as commissions in connection with reinsurance of other companies.

A. C. Tucker, the witness said, on at least one occasion obtained an advance on his salary, purchased bonds of southern municipalities and school districts below par, and resold them to the company at par, using the profit to apply against the advance he had received. He also used this method, Clark said his examination disclosed, to build up the company's surplus position.

The company, operating in 11 states, had assets of $37,000,000 at the time of its failure, committee records showed.

No One Persecuted.

In response to questions Clark said he did not know why previous insurance commissioners had not taken steps to change conditions in the Royal Union. He told the committee two of his predecessors—W. R. C. Kendrick and A. C. Savage—became officers of the Royal Union after they left office and a third—Ray Yenter—subsequently represented A. C. Tucker as counsel in matters pertaining to the company.

Clark related that he put the results of his examination before the county attorney of Polk county, but that no one had been prosecuted in connection with the company's affairs.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Native and Wild Trees.

December 15, 1939.

THERE are 38 different species of native trees growing on the Du Page county farm. Many other kinds have been introduced to the farm and are growing as sturdily as the wild native species. Among these are two species of willows which add much to the charm and beauty of the farm.

Willows aren't as tall and majestic as the oaks, and they don't develop large, beautifully shaped green leaves in the summer like the maples. But they have a drooping, graceful form and colorful leaves and limbs that give them an all-year attractiveness.

Willows Now Distinctive.

At this time of the year the two species of willows are rather distinctive. The white willows which grow around the edges of the farm ponds add a yellow-green tint to the landscape. Their leaves have fallen, leaving the slender stems remain almost the same color as they were in the spring. In another section of the farm there is a row of black willows. They present an almost solid gold tint to the somber winter scene.

The rabbits have been enjoying the mild weather of December. Unless the weather is stormy they stay above ground. They build snug grassy "seats" or hidden loafing places, in rather thick grass or weeds. They crawl inside of the protective vegetation, making a small pocket. There they doze during the daylight hours.

As a rule they build the "seats" where the winter sun will strike them. The cottontails are well insulated by a fairly heavy coat of fur, but they like the sun's warmth.

Little Snow Expected.

If the farm weather prophets are correct there will be very little snow this winter. At this time of the year the flockmaster and his wife issue their weather predictions, which are based on the appearance of duck breastbones! Farm residents who have spent their lifetimes in the country often have their own methods of forecasting the weather, methods which have been handed down for several generations. And even if they aren't always as reliable as the government weather bureau, they are interesting as bits of farm lore. The flockmaster says the secret of duck breastbones as weather indicators was learned from Indians on the Kettle Point reservation in Ontario.

The duck breastbones are hung on the back porch to dry. Then after a few days the bones are held up to the light. If there are many streaks of white it indicates much snow for the approaching winter. If it is a clear gray it indicates little snow. This fall the breastbones are almost a clear gray, so the weather prognosticators say the weather will be mild with very few snowfalls.

GRANT CHAIN.

I would like to know how the various Grant stores are distributed thru the country. Is the company making money?

F. L.

Answer: Of the 493 chain stores operated by W. T. Grant company [Mass.], about 60 per cent are in the smaller industrial and farm communities and the rest in the metropolitan centers. Geographically, the stores are concentrated in New England and the middle Atlantic areas. The chain has outlets in 440 different communities in 38 states.

Most of the merchandise sold by the Grant stores is priced at $1 or less. The variety store chain, therefore, competes with other similar chains in the low price field.

The Grant company started in 1906 with one store in Lynn, Mass. Invested capital at the end of the first fiscal year was $16,000. Growth was slow until 1925, after which it accelerated with general business expansion. Since 1933 the rate of growth has diminished. The capital investment in July of this year was more than 34 million dollars.

The operating company is owned by W. T. Grant company, a holding company incorporated in Delaware in 1937 as a consolidation of three other firms. W. T. Grant company [Mass.] owns all the stock of W. T. Grant Realty corporation. The management has been considering eliminating both subsidiaries, leaving the Delaware company as the operating firm.

The parent company has outstanding 348,857 shares of 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $20 par value, and 1,189,354 shares of $10 par common stock. The realty company has outstanding $2,593,000 in real estate mortgages.

Net profit in the latest fiscal year was at the lowest level since 1935, but almost equaled the $2,828,000 earned in the 1929 fiscal year. Sales, consolidated net income, and earnings per common share in recent fiscal years ending Jan. 31 were:

1936	91,982,000	3,334,000	2.79
1937	94,988,000	4,594,000	3.84
1938	99,060,000	3,402,000	2.79
1939	97,516,000	2,765,000	2.27

Net income in the first half of the current fiscal year rose to $769,934 or 50 cents a common share, compared with $154,890 in the corresponding period of 1938. Sales in the first 11 months this year increased to $84,493,000 from $79,317,000 in the same 1938 period.

Regular dividends are being paid on the preferred stock. During the 1939 calendar year, $1.65 a share was disbursed to common stockholders and 35 cents was declared payable Jan. 2, 1940, to holders of record Dec. 14. In January, the directors will consider payment of a final dividend for the fiscal year ending Jan. 31, 1940.

In 1938 cash dividends on the common stock totaled $1.90; in 1937, $2.40; in 1936, $1.30; in 1935, $1.25, and from 1928 thru 1934, $1 a share.
